1 Relating to: the life and public service of Dick Wheeler.

2 Whereas, Dick Wheeler, the dean of the State Capitol press corps, passed away 3 on November 11, 2011; and

4 Whereas, Dick Wheeler is survived by his daughter Gwyn Guenther, 5 son-in-law Trevor Guenther, granddaughters Camille and Tabitha, and his 6 longtime companion Diane Harmelink; and

7 Whereas, Dick, who was originally from Pennsylvania, previously worked for 8 United Press International and Scripps Howard in Michigan and Ohio, covering 9 stories such as the shootings at Kent State in 1970 and the Hough race riots in 10 Cleveland; and

11 Whereas, in 1972, Dick arrived in Madison, Wisconsin, and began working for 12 the Gongwer News Service; and

13 Whereas, also in 1972, Dick Wheeler created the famous government reporting
14 service for Capitol insiders, government officials, and lobbyists that bore his name, 15 “The Wheeler Report”; and

1 Whereas, The Wheeler Report originally began as a newsletter detailing the 2 activities of the legislature and state government, which was mailed to subscribers 3 daily; and

4 Whereas, The Wheeler Report progressed from a mailed newsletter, to a faxed 5 newsletter, and finally led to the creation of a Web site in 1998; and

6 Whereas, today, the wheelereport.com is a popular Web site that links stories 7 and allows viewers to track the daily actions of the Wisconsin legislature; and

8 Whereas, The Wheeler Report was truly a family business run by Dick, his 9 daughter Gwyn, his son-in-law Trevor, and his longtime companion Diane; and

10 Whereas, Dick will not be forgotten for the role he played in securing a State 11 Capitol room, centrally located between the senate and assembly chambers, 12 designated for use by press covering the workings of the state's elected officials in the 13 1998 budget; and

14 Whereas, Dick was an invaluable resource to his fellow Capitol press reporters
15 and served as the president of the Wisconsin Capitol Correspondents Association 16 before stepping down in 2010; and

17 Whereas, Dick's impressive knowledge of state government and the inner 18 workings of the legislature will be missed by all; and

19 Whereas, Dick, seen frequently arriving at 5:30 a.m., was known for his 20 dedication in covering legislative activity, particularly that of the Joint Finance 21 Committee, well into the night; and

22 Whereas, the Wisconsin Capitol Correspondents Association voted 23 unanimously to request that the press room be named in Dick's honor; and
