State of Wisconsin
2013 - 2014 LEGISLATURE

LRB-41127
CMH: [signature]

TODAY please

PRELIMINARY DRAFT - NOT READY FOR INTRODUCTION

1 AN ACT ...; relating to: providing arrest powers to security officers employed by
2 Marquette University under certain circumstances and providing penalties.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill allows officers employed by Marquette University to arrest a person on the campus of Marquette and, as provided in an agreement between the state or a subdivision of the state, in areas adjacent to the campus under certain circumstances. Under this bill, the university officer must be on duty and on official business; the university officer must be responding to an emergency situation or an act that the officer believes is a crime or must be rendering aid to a Wisconsin law enforcement officer in an emergency or at his or her request; the university officer must have met training and certification standards provided by the Law Enforcement Standards Board; the university has written policies on arrests and rendering aid; and the university must maintain liability insurance. Since this bill provides university officers with arrest powers, such statutes as battery to a law enforcement officer would apply to the university officers. This bill also specifically applies to university officers statutes regarding the protection of the officer or regarding interference with the university officer's duties. For instance, this bill prohibits a person from disarming, resisting, obstructing, or impersonating a university officer.

X

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill allows officers employed by Marquette University to arrest a person on the campus of Marquette and, as provided in an agreement between the state or a subdivision of the state, in areas adjacent to the campus under certain circumstances. Under this bill, the university officer must be on duty and on official business; the university officer must be responding to an emergency situation or an act that the officer believes is a crime or must be rendering aid to a Wisconsin law enforcement officer in an emergency or at his or her request; the university officer must have met training and certification standards provided by the Law Enforcement Standards Board; the university has written policies on arrests and rendering aid; and the university must maintain liability insurance. Since this bill provides university officers with arrest powers, such statutes as battery to a law enforcement officer would apply to the university officers. This bill also specifically applies to university officers statutes regarding the protection of the officer or regarding interference with the university officer's duties. For instance, this bill
