

Fiscal Estimate Narratives

DA 7/12/2013

LRB Number	13-1065/2	Introduction Number	AB-0387	Estimate Type	Original
Description Age at which a person who is alleged to have violated a criminal law, a civil law, or a municipal ordinance and who is not alleged to have committed certain violent offences or has not previously been convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent is subject to juvenile court jurisdiction

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Under current law, a person aged 17 or older who is alleged to have violated a criminal law is subject to the Criminal Procedure Code and, on conviction, sentencing under the Criminal Code, which may include imprisonment in a prison. A person under age 17 is subject to the Juvenile Justice Code and to an array of dispositions, which may include placement in a juvenile correctional facility. This bill raises from 17 to 18 the age at which a person will be subject to the Criminal Procedure Code and sentencing under the Criminal Code, unless the person was previously convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent. Similarly, a person aged 17 or older who is alleged to have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance is subject to the circuit court or municipal court. A person under age 17 is subject to the Juvenile Justice Code. This bill raises from 17 to 18 the age at which a person will be subject to the circuit court or municipal court, unless the person was previously convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent.

Prosecutors do not anticipate that this bill will have a fiscal effect on their offices.

Long-Range Fiscal Implications

If enacted, prosecutors do not expect this bill to have a long-term fiscal effect on their offices.
