Description Use of wireless telephones while driving and providing a penalty

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill prohibits any person from driving while using a cellular phone. The prohibition does not apply to (1) operators of authorized emergency vehicles, (2) emergency alert devices, (3) GPS devices, (4) amateur radio operators, (5) hands-free operation, or (6) phone use to report an emergency. Violation of the prohibition results in a forfeiture of not less than $20 nor more than $400.

As with any prohibition, it can be assumed there will be some violators. There would be an associated increase in citation revenue, which would be split between the county, where the citation is issued, and the state's common school fund. The amount of citation revenue that would be generated is unknown.

The Department will require no additional computer programming to implement the provisions in the bill.

Long-Range Fiscal Implications
