Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

The changes proposed in SB306 do not have any fiscal impact on the Commission's current practices, nor do they add any additional duties that would be fiscally impactful to the Commission.

While the bill eliminates the Commission's authority to grant new waivers, and provides that no new waivers may be considered granted by operation of law, it still allows the Commission -- in response to a complaint or on its own motion -- to investigate whether an incumbent local exchange carrier (ILEC) has complied with the requirements set forth and the Commission may order any remedies needed to meet the requirements.

Long-Range Fiscal Implications
