2015 SENATE BILL 341

October 15, 2015 – Introduced by Senator NASS, cosponsored by Representative KNODL. Referred to Committee on Labor and Government Reform.

1 AN ACT to repeal 108.062 (7); to amend 108.062 (6) (a), 108.16 (6) (L), 108.16
2 (6m) (g), 108.16 (10) and 108.22 (8) (b) 1. d.; and to create 108.04 (13) (g) and
3 108.22 (1r) of the statutes; relating to: various changes to the unemployment
4 insurance law.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes various changes in the unemployment insurance (UI) law, which is administered by the Department of Workforce Development (DWD), including all of the following:

Recovery of employer UI debts under Treasury Offset Program

Current state law allows DWD to recoup certain UI benefit overpayments made to claimants by offsetting the amount of an overpayment against a federal tax refund through the federal Treasury Offset Program (TOP), but does not permit DWD to similarly recoup UI debts owed by employers. Under current federal law, however, a state must act to recover through the TOP certain UI-related debts that remain uncollected for one year or more, including those of both employers and claimants. This bill allows DWD to offset a UI debt found to be due to DWD by an employer against a federal tax refund through the TOP.

Work-share programs

Under current law, any employer may create a work-share program, defined as a program approved by DWD under which the hours of work of employees in a work unit are reduced in lieu of the layoffs of two or more employees in the work unit.

SENATE BILL 341

An employee included under a work–share program who otherwise qualifies to receive regular UI benefits must receive a UI benefit payment for each week that the employee is included under the program. The amount of the benefit payment is the employee’s regular UI benefit amount multiplied by the employee’s proportionate reduction in hours for that week under the work–share program (work–share benefits). Current law also provides, however, that an employee included under a work–share program who would otherwise be paid benefits for any week under the UI law’s partial benefits formula (partial benefits) must instead receive a benefit payment for that week in the amount payable to the employee under that formula, if that amount is higher than the work–share benefits amount.

Under this bill, employees included under a work–share program may only be paid work–share benefits, and not partial benefits.

Determinations in combined–wage claims

Under federal law, a state must, as a condition of approval of its UI law by the U.S. Secretary of Labor, participate in arrangements for the payment of UI benefits on the basis of combining an individual’s wages and employment covered under that state’s UI law with wages and employment covered under another state’s UI law (combined–wage claim). Also under federal law, as a condition of employers being able to receive certain tax credits under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, a state may not relieve an employer’s account of certain erroneous charges in certain cases where the employer was at fault.

Under current state law, DWD may, in connection with any issue arising under the UI law as to the status or liability of an employer in this state, issue an appealable determination as to that issue. This bill allows DWD to similarly issue an appealable determination that an out–of–state employer in a combined–wage claim is at fault for the erroneous payment of benefits under a combined–wage claim.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
