2 programs.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill imposes certain specific requirement on the regulation of opioid treatment systems. The bill requires the Department of Health Services (DHS) to issue a certification for an eligible opioid treatment system that is in effect for three years and that coincides with the federal government certification period. DHS is required to extend a two-year certification for purposes of coinciding with the date of the federal government certification. The bill requires DHS to allow a narcotic treatment service for opiate addiction to contract for substance abuse counselors, clinical substance abuse counselors, or an agency to provide counseling services in lieu of directly hiring those individuals. DHS is prohibited under the bill from limiting the length of treatment received from a narcotic treatment service for opiate addiction. The bill also prohibits DHS from requiring an individual who seeks admission to a narcotic treatment service for opiate addiction to reside within a certain radius of that treatment service. Currently, DHS regulates opioid treatment systems by administrative rule.
