Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board (CANPB) is currently required by statute to produce, prepare and disseminate materials related to shaken baby syndrome to hospitals, child care centers, schools, and home visiting programs. This legislation requires the CANPB to do the same except it eliminates child care centers. It currently costs the CANPB approximately $5,000 to meet our statutory requirements for shaken baby syndrome. This cost for the shaken baby syndrome materials is to maintain an inventory of materials. For the co-sleeping materials, staff will be required to develop materials as none currently exist. That will cost $6,600 in staff time and that of a graphic designer. In addition, we estimate about $3,000 in printing costs; $1,000 in storage costs to store the publications at the Department of Administration Document Sales; and approximately $2,500 in mailing costs to distribute the materials. We will also incur charges to our website to incorporate the new materials into our site and a press release to announce the materials. We anticipate this could cost approximately $1,300 in technical time to design and incorporate the materials.
