JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL PREFATORY NOTE: This bill was prepared for the Joint Legislative Council's Study Committee on Review of Tax Incremental Financing.
Background

A city or village, and a town or county under certain circumstances, may in general, amend the project plan of a tax incremental district (TID) that is created under s. 66.1105, stats., subject to the review and approval of a joint review board (JRB). There is no limit to the number of project plan amendments that may be made if they are related to the projects included in the original plan. However, only four amendments modifying the TID’s boundaries by either adding or subtracting parcels are allowed. Also, a TID that has been in a decrement situation for two years in a row may, after amending its project plan, adopt a resolution requiring the Department of Revenue (DOR) to redetermine the tax incremental base of the TID, but may do so only once during the life of the TID.

Also under current law, a TID must terminate when the political subdivision has received aggregate tax increments with respect to the TID in an amount equal to pay all of the TID’s project costs, when the political subdivision dissolves the TID by resolution, or when the TID reaches its maximum lifespan, whichever is earlier. A political subdivision may, however, request that the JRB extend the life of the TID if the TID is unable to pay off its project costs within the maximum lifespan of the TID. The maximum lifespan of a TID, and the extension to this lifespan allowed under current law, are as follows:

- For any TID created before October 1, 1995: the maximum lifespan is 27 years and the political subdivision may not request an extension to this lifespan.
- For a TID that was created between October 1, 1995 and September 30, 2004, and is blighted or in need of rehabilitation or conservation: the maximum life is 27 years and the political subdivision may request a four−year extension.
- For a TID that was created between October 1, 1995 and September 30, 2004, and is an industrial district: the maximum life is 23 years and the political subdivision may not request an extension to this lifespan.
- For a TID that was created on or after October 1, 2004, and is blighted or in need of rehabilitation or conservation: the maximum lifespan is 27 years and the political subdivision may request a three−year extension.
- For a TID that was created on or after October 1, 2004, and is an industrial district or mixed−use district: the maximum lifespan is 20 years and the political subdivision may request a three−year extension.

The Bill

This bill allows a political subdivision to make any type of amendment to the project plan of a TID created under s. 66.1105, stats., or to request an additional five−year extension to the TID’s maximum lifespan at any time during the life of the TID, or both, if during the life of a TID, the annual and total amount of tax increments to be generated over the life of the district are adversely impacted by one or more of the following:

- An amendment to the provisions of TIF law found under s. 66.1105, stats.
- A change made by DOR to the equalized valuation method.
- A change made by 2013 Wisconsin Act 145 (2013 Act 145) that increased state aid to technical college districts in order to reduce the total statewide levy of technical college districts.

b. Together with its request for a 5-year extension under this subd. 4. b., the city may provide the joint review board with an independent audit that demonstrates that the district is unable to pay off its project costs within the time specified under subd. 1., 2., or 3., whichever is applicable. The joint review board may deny or approve a request to extend the life of the district for 5 years if the request does not include the independent audit, and the board shall approve a request to extend the life of the district for 5 years if the request includes the audit. Along with its request, the political subdivision may provide the JRB with an independent audit that demonstrates that the TID is unable to pay off its project costs within the TID’s lifespan (27, 20, or 23 years, depending upon the type or creation date of the TID). Consistent with current law, the JRB may deny or approve a request to extend the life of the TID, if the request does not include the independent audit, and the JRB shall approve the extension if the request includes the audit. If the JRB extends the life of the TID, the TID shall terminate at the earlier of the end of the extended period or when the city or village has received enough tax increments to pay off all of the project costs.
