SENATE BILL 280

1 938.355 (4) (b) 2., 948.01 (1) (a), 948.01 (1) (b), 990.01 (3) (a), 990.01 (3) (b),
2 990.01 (20) (a) and 990.01 (20) (b) of the statutes; relating to: the age at which
3 a person who is alleged to have violated a criminal law, a civil law, or a
4 municipal ordinance and who has not been charged with certain violent
5 offenses, and has not, after previously being convicted of a crime or adjudicated
6 delinquent, been charged with a crime or alleged in a complaint or citation to 7 have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance, is subject to juvenile court
8 jurisdiction.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a person 17 years of age or older who is alleged to have violated a criminal law is subject to the procedures specified in the Criminal Procedure Code and, on conviction, is subject to sentencing under the Criminal Code, which may include a sentence of imprisonment in the Wisconsin state prisons. Currently, subject to certain exceptions, a person under 17 years of age who is alleged to have violated a criminal law is subject to the procedures specified in the Juvenile Justice Code and, on being adjudicated delinquent, is subject to an array of dispositions under that code including placement in a juvenile correctional facility. This bill raises from 17 to 18 the age at which a person who is alleged to have violated a criminal law is subject to the procedures specified in the Criminal Procedure Code and, on conviction, to sentencing under the Criminal Code, if the person has not been charged with committing certain violent offenses and has not, after previously being convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent, been charged with a crime. The bill, however, does not affect the age at which a person who has been charged with committing certain violent offenses or who has, after previously being convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent, been charged with a crime is subject to those procedures and that sentencing.

Similarly, under current law, a person 17 years of age or older who is alleged to have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance is subject to the jurisdiction and procedures of the circuit court or, if applicable, the municipal court, while a person under 17 years of age who is alleged to have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance, subject to certain exceptions, is subject to the jurisdiction and procedures of the court assigned to exercise jurisdiction under the Juvenile Justice Code. This bill raises from 17 to 18 the age at which a person who is alleged to have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance is subject to the jurisdiction and procedures of the circuit court or, if applicable, the municipal court, if the person has not been alleged, in a complaint or citation filed with the court, to have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance after previously being convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent. The bill, however, does not affect the age at which a person who has been alleged, in a complaint or citation filed with the court, to have violated a civil law or municipal ordinance, after previously being convicted of a crime or adjudicated delinquent, is subject to that jurisdiction and those procedures.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
