applying motor carrier regulations to motor carriers operating in intrastate commerce.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill applies certain provisions governing interstate motor carriers to motor carriers engaged in intrastate commerce.

Under current law, with limited exceptions, a person who transports passengers or property for hire by motor vehicle on the highways is a common motor carrier or a contract motor carrier and a person other than a for−hire motor carrier that transports property or passengers on the highways by commercial motor vehicle is a private motor carrier (collectively motor carrier). Current law includes certain regulation of motor carriers engaged in interstate commerce. With limited exceptions, a common motor carrier or contract motor carrier engaged in interstate commerce must operate under a motor carrier certificate of authority or license and must meet certain insurance requirements. Various other state laws, including laws relating to vehicle equipment and vehicle inspection, govern motor carriers engaged in interstate commerce. Federal laws, including federal motor carrier safety standards, also govern motor carriers engaged in interstate commerce. DOT has authority under state law to promulgate rules regulating the safety of interstate motor carrier operations, including rules implementing federal motor carrier safety standards.
SENATE BILL 321

Under this bill, these provisions of current law relating to interstate motor carriers, including DOT's regulatory authority over interstate motor carriers, also apply to motor carriers engaged in intrastate commerce.
