2015 SENATE BILL 466

AN ACT to renumber 43.30 (1b) (a); and to create 43.30 (1b) (ae) and 43.30 (6) of the statutes; relating to: authorizing certain libraries to notify collection agencies and law enforcement agencies of delinquent accounts.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under this bill, a library may report to a collection agency or, subject to a condition, a law enforcement agency, information about delinquent accounts of any individual who borrows from the library or who uses the library’s documents, materials, resources, or services, including information about the number and types of overdue materials. A library may report delinquent accounts to a law enforcement agency only if the delinquency is at least $50. Under the bill, the information that may be so disclosed is limited to the individual’s name, contact information, and the amount owed.

Under current law, unless an exception applies, records of a public library that indicate the identity of any person who borrows or uses the library’s documents or other materials, resources, or services may not be disclosed. The exceptions are: 1) records disclosed pursuant to a court order; 2) records disclosed to the library’s staff acting within the scope of their duties; 3) records disclosed by consent of the subject of the records; 4) records disclosed to a custodial parent of the subject of the records; 5) records disclosed to another public library for purposes of borrowing materials for the subject of the record; and 6) records disclosed to law enforcement officers under certain limited circumstances.
For further information see the local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
