eliminating certain abortion requirements, prohibiting employment
SENATE BILL 653

retribution and discrimination, actions against a person seeking or providing health care, and providing a criminal penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill creates a right to medically accurate information, creates bodies for researching reproductive health issues, prohibits certain employment retribution and discrimination for health care providers, provides methods for health care providers to assert conscientious beliefs regarding reproductive health care services, makes various changes to abortion laws, specifies prohibited conduct regarding obtaining and providing health care and civil remedies and criminal penalties for committing that conduct, and regulating rates and other aspects of health care liability insurance.

Patient Rights to Medically Accurate Information

This bill creates a right and obligation for a physician to provide medically accurate information to patients to whom the physician provides medical care. The bill also creates a right for a patient to receive medically accurate information from a physician. The bill prohibits interference or other diminishment of the rights and obligations relating to medically accurate information, and further prohibits employment retribution based upon a physician’s exercise of the rights and obligations relating to the provision of medically accurate information.

Under the bill, the state, including any political subdivision or instrumentality of the state, may not do either of the following: 1) require any information that is not medically accurate to be included on a procedure or treatment form; or 2) prohibit a physician from including medically accurate information that or from deleting information that in the physician’s medical judgment is either not medically accurate or not somehow relevant to the patient’s specific request for care or treatment.

The bill creates an Office of Advancement in Medical Knowledge and Care that is required to investigate developments affecting patient rights and to submit an annual report of its findings.

Conscientious Beliefs

The bill requires a hospital that has a department or service offering maternity care services to permit all standard reproductive health care services and all maternity care services if the hospital has the capacity and capability. The hospital must also provide an appropriate medical screening examination to any individual that comes to the hospital and for which a request for examination, treatment, or care for any standard reproductive health care service is made.

Under the bill, if a health care provider is available and it is within his or her training and license to provide or perform care appropriate for a patient’s reproductive health care condition, the hospital must allow that provider to provide standard reproductive health care services, and reasonably accommodate and provide sufficient support for that provider in providing the care. If a health care provider is not available to provide or perform care appropriate for a patient’s reproductive health care condition, and the hospital determines the patient has an emergent or urgent medical condition, the hospital must provide examination and treatment to the extent required to stabilize the patient's condition, counsel the patient on all medically appropriate treatments specific to the patient's reproductive health care condition and circumstances, and offer and provide the patient with a referral for treatment. After fulfilling these requirements, the hospital may transfer the patient to another medical facility when the patient is stable.

The bill allows a reproductive health care provider to provide to a hospital that has a department or service offering maternity care services one of the following: 1) a notice describing in detail the provider's conscientious belief and providing other information regarding that belief; 2) a notice that the provider, within his or her training and professional license, accepts and is ready to provide specific standard reproductive health care services identified in the provider's notice; or 3) a notice that the provider invokes applicable federal or state refusal rights and declines and objects to providing specific standard reproductive health care services identified in the provider's notice. If any of the notices are submitted to a hospital, the bill requires, with certain exceptions, the hospital to honor the provider's stated conscientious beliefs. A hospital may challenge a notice in certain circumstances. If a provider accepts and is ready to provide specified reproductive health services, the hospital must annually prepare, adopt, implement, and make publicly available a written plan designed to estimate and meet the anticipated demand for services. If a provider submits a notice declining and objecting to providing specific standard reproductive health care services and the hospital determines it will lack sufficient personnel to meet the demand for reproductive health care services, the hospital may require applicants for vacant reproductive health care provider positions to provide specific standard reproductive health care services.

The bill prohibits any person from interfering with, penalizing, or punishing a reproductive health care provider for asserting or exercising his or her conscientious beliefs, and provides civil remedies for violations relating to the assertion or exercise of these beliefs.

Abortion

The bill makes various changes to the laws relating to abortion, including:

1. The bill eliminates requirements for voluntary and informed consent before the performance of an abortion. Current law requires that a woman upon whom an abortion is to be performed or induced must give voluntary and informed written consent to an abortion. Except in a medical emergency, a woman's consent to an abortion is considered information only if before the abortion is performed or induced at a time specified in current law, the physician or an assistant has, in person, orally provided the woman with certain information and given to the woman certain written materials.

2. The bill eliminates the requirement, effective February 1, 2016, that except in a medical emergency a physician must determine or rely on another determination of the probable postfertilization age of an unborn child before performing an abortion. The bill also eliminates the prohibition on performing or inducing an abortion if the probable postfertilization age of the unborn child is 20 or more weeks.

3. This bill eliminates the prohibition on giving a woman an abortion-inducing drug unless the physician who provided the drug for the woman performs a physical exam on the woman and is physically present in the room when the drug is given to the woman.

4. The bill eliminates the current law prohibition on requiring a hospital to admit a patient for performing a sterilization or removing a human embryo or fetus.

5. The bill eliminates the liability exemption for hospitals or employees of hospitals who refuse to perform a sterilization or removal of a human embryo or fetus for religious or moral reasons.

6. The bill eliminates the prohibition against discriminating against a certain person because that person refuses to recommend, aid, or perform a sterilization or the removal of a human embryo or fetus for religious or moral reasons.

7. The bill eliminates the prohibition on coverage of abortions by qualified health plans offered through an exchange in this state.

8. The bill eliminates the prohibition on performing abortions by a physician that does not have admitting privileges in a hospital within 30 miles of the location where the abortion is to be performed. Under a federal appellate court ruling, the requirement to have admitting privileges currently may not be enforced.

9. Under current law, any person, other than the mother, who intentionally destroys the life of an unborn child may be fined not more than $10,000, imprisoned for not more than six years, or both. Any person, other than the mother, who intentionally destroys the life of an unborn quick child or causes the mother’s death by an act done with intent to destroy the life of an unborn child may be fined not more than $50,000, imprisoned for not more than 15 years, or both. None of these penalties apply to a therapeutic abortion that is performed by a physician; that is necessary, or advised by two other physicians as necessary, to save the life of the mother; and that is performed, except on an emergency basis, in a licensed maternity hospital. These provisions were cited, along with other provisions not affected by this bill that prohibit performing an abortion generally, in Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113 (1973), as substantially similar to a Texas statute that was held to violate the due process clause of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The bill repeals these provisions. The bill, however, does not affect any other criminal prohibition or limitation on abortion in current law, such as the prohibition on performing an abortion after the fetus or unborn child has reached viability, or any other homicide prohibition. The bill also does not affect a separate provision in current law that prohibits prosecution of and imposing or enforcing a fine or imprisonment against a woman who obtains an abortion or otherwise violates any abortion law with respect to her unborn child or fetus.

Employment Retribution and Discrimination Prohibition

The bill prohibits employment retribution and unfair discrimination against a health care provider based on the provider's involvement in a sterilization procedure, biomedical or behavioral research, or assertion or exercise of a conscientious belief to provide, or not provide, any standard reproductive health care services as described in the bill. The bill also requires a hospital or health care facility to provide notice to an applicant of these prohibitions.

Unless a health care provider provides express consent, the bill prohibits a hospital or health care facility from disclosing information about a health care provider’s procedures, services, or research to the provider’s prospective or potential employers, if the disclosure divulges activities that the hospital or health care provider could not use itself for disciplinary or other prohibited purposes under the prohibition of employment retribution and unfair discrimination.

Implementation Health Care Task Force

This bill requires the Department of Health Services (DHS) to establish an Implementation Health Care Task Force with certain law enforcement and medical professionals that is required to examine and report annually upon the challenges and successes in achieving the implementation of state policies and rights described in the bill.

Prohibited Acts; Criminal and Civil Penalties

The bill prohibits several acts (prohibited acts) against a person seeking, obtaining or helping another person to obtain, or providing health care services (health care patient or provider). The bill prohibits any person (actor) from injuring, intimidating, interfering with, or threatening a health care patient or provider. An actor who does so or who intentionally engages in a pattern of aggressive or harassing conduct against a health care patient or provider, or who intentionally interferes with the property of a medical facility to impede or otherwise interfere with its efficiency, is guilty of a Class I felony.

Under the bill, an actor who intentionally damages property, including data or records kept by a health care provider, or who intentionally files frivolous lawsuits against a health care provider or communicates deprecatory information about a health care provider for the purpose of damaging or interfering with the operations of a health care provider is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor.

An actor who engages in a pattern of targeted and dangerous activity, including an act or threat of murder, kidnapping, arson, robbery, extortion, or other dangerous felonies, toward a health care provider is guilty of a Class E felony, as is an actor who commits any of the other prohibited acts toward a health care patient or provider if the actor knows or should know that his or her action will cause a specific person’s death or injury, or will cause a reasonable person to suffer serious emotional distress or to reasonably fear death or substantial bodily injury to himself or herself or to his or her family member or member of his or her household, and the acts did have one of those effects.

Under the bill, a patient or health care provider who is affected by a prohibited act may file a civil action against the actor. The bill allows a patient or health care provider to seek, in addition to injunctive relief and punitive damages, compensatory damages that reflect his or her actual damages or statutory damages of $20,000 per violation.

Under the bill, a patient or physician may also file a civil action for a violation related to the patient’s right to accurate medical information and his or her right to access to high quality medical care. The bill allows the person to seek, in addition to injunctive relief and punitive damages, compensatory damages that reflect his or her actual damages or statutory damages of $5,000 per violation.

The statutory damages option of $20,000 per violation is also available to a physician or health care provider who files a civil action after experiencing employment discrimination for his or her provision of medical care, after being prevented from providing medically accurate information to a patient, or after being required to provide medically inaccurate information to patient. The same option is available to a patient or a health care provider who is negatively affected by a determination regarding the conscientious beliefs of a reproductive health care provider.

The bill also authorizes the attorney general to commence a civil action if he or she has reasonable cause to believe that a hospital or any person is interfering with another’s right to health care, committing a criminal act against a patient or health care provider, or otherwise violating a patient’s or health care provider’s rights.

Under the bill, a court may award injunctive relief and compensatory damages and an additional assessment of up to $20,000 for the first violation and $40,000 for each subsequent violation. If the court awards relief for a prohibited act, the court may assess an additional amount up to $100,000 for a first violation and $1,000,000 for each subsequent violation.

Insurance Requirements

This bill creates requirements for health care liability insurance policies regarding classification and rates for such insurance, procedures for appealing classification or rates, and health care liability policy mandates. These provisions include the following:

1. The bill requires that an insurer must classify certain procedures and medication regimens related to reproductive health and abortion in the same risk classes as other procedures with similar actuarial risks. The bill also requires medically indicated abortions to be classified in the same risk classes as elective abortions.

2. Under current law, the commissioner of insurance has the authority to promulgate rules for the procedure under which a health care provider may challenge the classification and rates contained in its liability policy. Under this bill, a health care provider is first required to exhaust all remedies contained in its insurance contract for challenging classification and rates. This bill also codifies the procedure promulgated by the commissioner, which permits a health care provider to, after exhausting its remedies under the insurance contract, petition the commissioner for review of the classification and rates. If the health care provider is not satisfied with the result of the petition, the health care provider may then appeal the decision to an administrative law judge.

3. Under current law, an insurer may not provide rates that are unfairly discriminatory. Unfair discrimination occurs when one rate in relation to another does not reflect the differences in expected losses and expenses. Under this bill, rates are also unfairly discriminatory if they consider political, social, ethical, or religious concerns associated with providing insurance for abortion procedures. Rates are also unfairly discriminatory if an insurer charges a higher rate for services when there...

is incomplete actuarial data for assessing the risk. The bill specifies that sound actuarial principles do not include political, social, ethical, and religious considerations, charging higher rates for services of which there is only incomplete data, and using incomplete data to limit liability associated with insuring unknown risks.

4. The bill provides that all health care liability insurance policies must include coverage for certain regimens, methods, and procedures, including contraceptive implant procedures, intrauterine contraception procedures, endometrial biopsies, medically indicated and elective abortions, miscarriages, and other procedures using intrauterine instrumentation for which the health care provider is trained. The policies are also required to include coverage for counseling and follow-up services associated with these regimens, methods, and procedures.

Comprehensive Women's Health Research Council

The bill creates the Comprehensive Women's Health Research Council that is required to identify and assess the needs for research on voluntary termination of pregnancy, prioritize research projects most likely to improve health outcomes for women in Wisconsin, and propose ways and means to fund those projects.

(5) The task force shall meet in person at least twice annually on such dates and times as the members determine. A majority of all the task force members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business, for the performance of any duty, or for the exercise of any action by the task force. The task force may meet in person or by telephone or by using other communication technologies, and may hold meetings to discuss issues even in the absence of quorum. The task force shall attempt to engage, and solicit the input of, a broad and diverse range of groups, organizations, and individuals. In doing so, the task force may use whatever networking and communication technologies will most effectively further its mission and facilitate this outreach.

(6) The chair of the task force will be selected by a majority of the members that constitute the task force.

(7) No member shall serve beyond the time when he or she holds the office, employment, or status by reason of which he or she was initially eligible for appointment.

(8) The task force shall serve without compensation but shall be eligible for reimbursement for necessary and reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties within the limits of funds appropriated or otherwise made available to the department for its purposes.

(9) The task force may draw upon the human resources and expertise of private institutions, including those institutions associated with individuals appointed to the task force to the extent considered appropriate by those institutions. The task

(10) The department shall, as part of its routine functions, designate and provide staffing and support services sufficient to ensure that the task force can complete its work and submit its report each year.

258.20 Comprehensive women’s health research council. (1) In this section:

(a) “Council” means the comprehensive women’s health research council.

(b) “Research” means basic and clinical research in evidence-based care on voluntary termination of pregnancy in the areas of safety and quality, including improvements of medical and surgical techniques, medication and pain management, psychosocial aspects of care, impacts of medical or surgical care restrictions, patient outcomes, and contraception immediately following pregnancy.

(2) The council shall identify and assess the needs for research on voluntary termination of pregnancy, prioritize research projects most likely to improve health outcomes for women in this state, and propose ways and means to fund those projects. To accomplish the duty under this subsection, the council shall review medical and scientific literature and solicit opinions from reproductive health care providers and from medical and scientific researchers on the current status of research on voluntary termination of pregnancy and on improving women’s health outcomes.
(3) The council shall meet at least twice annually on dates and at times as the members determine. The council may meet in person, by telephone, or by using other means of communication.

(4) The council may request human resources and expertise of private institutions, including those institutions associated with individuals appointed to the council. The private institutions may provide those human resources and that expertise as they consider appropriate without compensation and without intent to influence the deliberations of the council to the advantage of the private institution.

(5) The department shall designate and provide staffing and support services sufficient, including a needs assessment, to ensure that the council is able to conduct its work.

(6) Annually, in December, the council shall submit to the governor, to the department for publication on the department’s Internet site, and to the legislature in the manner described under s. 13.172 (2) a report that addresses all of the following:

   (a) An assessment of the current status and any gaps in research on voluntary termination of pregnancy and on improving health outcomes for women.

   (b) An inventory of significant research needed to advance and improve health care outcomes for women.

   (c) A prioritization of the research considered by the council to most likely result in improving the health outcome of women in this state.

   (d) The findings of the council regarding the availability of public and private funding to meet the research needs identified by the council under par. (b).

   (e) An estimate of the funding needed to meet the research needs prioritized by the council under par. (c).
(f) A statement of criteria and standards recommended by the council for awarding grants for the research identified under par. (b) or prioritized under par. (c) when funding is available.

(7) It is the policy of the state to support and attain improved health care outcomes for all women who voluntarily terminate a pregnancy in this state. In recognition of this policy, with awareness that national level research directed towards achieving improved outcomes on voluntary termination of pregnancy remains limited and that continuing advances in safe and effective health care in all medical fields requires ongoing evidence-based research, the department shall engage in activities and pursue strategies to continually advance the science and medicine of voluntary termination of pregnancy.

258.25 Enabling patient care while honoring conscience of reproductive health care providers. (1) DEFINITIONS. In this section:

(a) “Appropriate medical screening examination” means an examination reasonably tailored to identify reproductive health care issues and conditions specific to the patient and is comparable to a hospital’s standard screening examination for other patients presenting symptoms, health care issues, conditions, illnesses, injuries, or diseases.

(b) “Capabilities” means, in the context of a hospital’s provision of services pursuant to sub. (2), the availability of physical space, equipment, supplies, and services that the hospital provides, such as surgery, psychiatry, obstetrics, intensive care, pediatrics, trauma care, and that the level of care that the personnel of the hospital provides is within the training and scope of their professional licenses.

(c) “Capacity” means the physical ability of a hospital to accommodate the individual requesting examination or treatment. Capacity encompasses such things as numbers and availability of qualified staff, beds, and equipment and the hospital’s past practices of accommodating additional patients in excess of its occupancy limits.

(d) “Conscientious belief” means sincerely held religious, moral, or ethical beliefs held by an individual that stands for the central moral core of the individual’s classh and for purposes of this section does not include beliefs that are motivated by or based upon race, color, national origin, ethnicity, sex, creed, or sexual orientation.

(e) “Hospital” has the meaning given in s. 50.33 (2), except that “hospital” as used in this section does not include a critical access hospital or a hospital that does not meet the conditions of participation in any federal health care program as specified in 42 USC 1395x (e) and 1395cc.

(f) “Maternity care services” means maternity support services, prenatal care, ambulatory care maternity services, complications of pregnancy, neonatal care, inpatient institution maternity care, including labor and delivery, and postpartum care.

(g) “Medically necessary care” means health care services or products that a prudent physician would provide to a patient to prevent, diagnose, or treat an illness, injury, disease, condition, or its symptoms in a manner that is all of the following:

1. In accordance with generally accepted standards of medical practice.
2. Clinically appropriate in terms of type, frequency, extent, site, and duration.
3. Not primarily for the economic benefit of the health plans and purchasers or for the convenience of the treating physician or other health care provider.

(h) “Reasonably accommodate” means making existing facilities used by reproductive health care providers readily accessible, job restructuring, part-time or modified work schedules, acquisition or modification of equipment or devices, adjustment or modifications of policies, and the provision of other similar accommodations.

(i) “Reproductive health care provider” means a natural person who is an employee, independent contractor, or consultant of a hospital, or is otherwise affiliated with a hospital, and who provides services as a physician of medicine or osteopathy, a physician’s assistant, a specialist assistant, a nurse, or a nurse practitioner, and is directly involved in providing medical treatment to a patient during a procedure in which the patient receives medical treatment in the hospital for a standard reproductive health care service.

(j) “Stabilizing treatment” means, with respect to an emergent or urgent medical condition covered in sub. (2) (d) of this section, medically appropriate medical measures to ensure that no material deterioration of the condition is likely, within reasonable medical probability, to result from or occur during the transfer of the individual from a hospital if such a transfer were to occur.

(k) “Standard reproductive health care services” means family planning; contraception and birth-spacing services; full-spectrum contraceptive education; counseling for and access to emergency contraception; screening, assessment, and treatment of reproductive tract infections and sexually transmitted infections including HIV/AIDS; screening, assessment, and treatment for gynecologic and breast cancers; routine well-woman and preventive exams; pregnancy testing; infertility services; miscarriage and abortion services; sterilization; obstetric care and services; and menopause and perimenopause services.

(L) “Transfer” means the movement, including the discharge, of an individual outside a hospital at the direction of any person employed by, or affiliated or associated with, directly or indirectly, the hospital, but does not include such a movement of an individual who has been declared dead, or leaves the facility without the permission of any person employed by, or affiliated or associated with, directly or indirectly, the hospital.

(m) “Undue hardship” means, as determined by the examination of the facts, an actual, as opposed to a speculative, hardship that necessarily and significantly either interferes with a hospital’s delivery of safe health care or degrades its provision of medically necessary care to patients.

(2) REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH CARE SERVICES. (a) A hospital that has a department or service offering maternity care services shall permit all standard reproductive health care services and all maternity care services, provided that such services are within the capacity and capabilities of the hospital.

(b) In the case of a hospital that has a department or service that offers maternity care services, if any individual comes to the hospital and a request is made on the individual’s behalf for examination, treatment, or care for any standard reproductive health care service, the hospital shall provide an appropriate medical screening examination within the capabilities of the hospital.

(c) Whenever a health care provider, within the training and scope of his or her professional license, is available to provide or perform care appropriate for a patient’s reproductive health care condition, the hospital must do all of the following:

1. Permit that reproductive health care provider to provide standard reproductive health care services.

2. Reasonably accommodate that provider in providing any standard reproductive health care service, provided that the provider has given notice to the hospital of his or her readiness to provide such care under sub. (3).
3. Provide sufficient support, including ancillary services routinely available for patients with comparable medical needs or circumstances, to ensure the provision of medically necessary care of the patient.

(d) Whenever a health care provider, within the training and scope of his or her professional license, is not available to provide or perform care appropriate for a patient’s reproductive health care condition, and the hospital reasonably determines that the individual who came to the hospital seeking examination, treatment, or care for any standard reproductive health care service has an emergent or urgent medical condition, the hospital shall, within the staff and facilities available at the hospital, do all of the following:

1. Provide for further medical examination and treatment as may be required to stabilize the medical condition.

2. Provide necessary stabilizing treatment for the patient’s presented reproductive health care condition.

3. Counsel the patient on all medically appropriate treatments specific to the patient’s reproductive health care condition and circumstances.

4. Offer and provide referral to health care providers who provide those treatments.

(e) A hospital that has fulfilled the requirements of par. (d) may transfer the individual to another medical facility when the patient is medically stable.

(3) CONSCIENTIOUS BELIEFS. Because the provision of medically necessary care for one or more specific standard reproductive health care services may implicate religious, moral, or ethical conscientious beliefs, a reproductive health care provider may do any of the following:
(a) Give written notice to a hospital that has a department or service offering maternity care services, describing in detail the provider’s conscientious belief, the core values associated with that belief, how he or she came to hold that belief, and how it affects the provider’s readiness to provide specific standard reproductive health care services. If a provider submits a written notice under this paragraph, all of the following apply:

1. A provider’s assertion in a written notice of his or her conscientious belief under this paragraph is prima facie evidence of its validity.

2. A hospital challenging the validity of a conscientious belief has the burden of showing by clear and convincing evidence that the provider’s notice does not describe a conscientious belief. If a hospital determines as a matter of fact that a notice does not describe a conscientious belief, the hospital shall issue findings of fact and explain in writing how the hospital has met the clear and convincing evidentiary standard in making its determination that the provider’s notice did not describe a conscientious belief.

(b) Give written notice to a hospital that has a department or service offering maternity care services that the provider, within his or her training and within the scope of his or her professional license, accepts and is ready to provide specific standard reproductive health care services identified in the notice. If a provider submits a written notice under this paragraph, all of the following apply:

1. The hospital shall honor the provider’s conscientious belief, unless it is determined that the notice submitted by the provider did not describe a conscientious belief, and shall reasonably accommodate the provider’s decisions, including, if specified, a decision to provide certain specific standard reproductive health care services, or for example, a decision to provide abortion services until the limit on the period of gestation under state law or until viability when no gestation limit is set by state law, provided that the hospital may deny an accommodation if it would create an undue hardship.

2. To support, sustain, and accommodate provider decisions to provide specified reproductive health care services, both as a least restrictive means to ensure compliance with this section and as a means to achieve the state interests described in this section, the hospital shall annually prepare, adopt, implement, and make publicly available a written plan designed to estimate and meet the reasonably anticipated demand for all the standard reproductive health care services, and to provide the support and ancillary services as described in sub. (2).

(c) Give written notice to a hospital that has a department or service offering maternity care services that the provider, invoking applicable refusal rights in federal or state law, declines and objects to providing specific standard reproductive health care services identified in the notice. If a provider submits a written notice under this paragraph, all of the following apply:

1. The hospital shall honor the provider’s conscientious belief, unless it determined that the notice submitted by the provider did not identify applicable refusal rights in federal or state law or did not describe a conscientious belief, and shall reasonably accommodate the provider’s decisions, provided that the hospital may deny an accommodation if it would create an undue hardship or precludes, under sub. (2), the provision of an appropriate medical screening examination or the provision of medically necessary care to an individual who has come to the hospital as specified in sub. (2).

2. To support, sustain, and accommodate provider decisions to not provide specified reproductive health care services, both as a least restrictive means to ensure compliance with this section and as a means to achieve the state interests described in this section, the hospital is authorized, whenever the hospital determines that it will lack sufficient personnel to meet the reasonably anticipated demand for the services permitted under sub. (2), to obtain services necessary for both the delivery of safe health care and the provision of medically necessary care by requiring applicants for vacant reproductive health care provider positions to provide specific standard reproductive health care services as may be necessary to meet the reasonably anticipated demand for all services permitted under sub. (2).

(4) INTERFERENCE. No person may interfere with or otherwise penalize or punish a reproductive health care provider for asserting or exercising his or her conscientious belief under this section.

(5) VIOLATIONS. Any person violating this section shall be subject to the civil remedies under s. 258.55.

(6) STATE POLICIES. (a) Discrimination in access to reproductive health care.
Access to health care services and to accurate health care information is a basic and foundational human right. Yet, in the realm of sexual and reproductive health care, in a health care system that is especially challenging to most anyone with a limited education or who lives in poverty or is victimized by family violence, gender-based health care discrimination profoundly limits access to standard reproductive health care services and safe motherhood, and thwarts the state’s policy of promoting improved health care outcomes for all women and in honoring and protecting privacy rights inherent in their reproductive health care decisions. With an awareness that some hospitals with a maternity department or services have the capability of permitting standard reproductive health care services but routinely restrict or deny women access to them, the state declares that failure to permit access to standard reproductive health care services for women and their willing reproductive health care providers is a form of invidious discrimination, and that the state has compelling governmental interests in public health and safety and the well-being of all its residents in ending this form of gender discrimination and in assuring that no one is deprived of privacy rights inherent in reproductive health care decision making. Accordingly, it is the policy of this state that hospitals that offer maternity care services, permit patients with willing reproductive health care providers to have access to all standard reproductive health care services and maternity care services.

(b) Honoring conscientious beliefs. A commitment to providing standard reproductive health care services to patients and a strong objection to providing such services each qualify as sincerely held conscientious beliefs when predicated on a person’s central core beliefs and values. The state’s governmental interest in public health and safety and the well-being of all its residents requires that the provision of medically necessary care be the paramount and constant concern of all health care providers. Accordingly, it is the policy of this state, that hospitals that offer maternity care services, consistent with maintaining systems sufficient to ensure that women and their health care providers can access all standard reproductive health care services, shall honor and reasonably accommodate conscientious beliefs of direct providers of all standard reproductive health care services.

258.50 Patient and health care provider protection. (1) In this section:

(a) “Health care provider” includes an individual who aids an individual to seek or obtain health care services.

(b) “Patient” has the meaning given in s. 258.05 (1).

(2) No person may do any of the following:
(a) Engage in conduct directed at a health care provider or a patient that injures, intimidates, harasses, interferes with, or threatens or attempts to injure, intimidate, harass, interfere with, or threaten the health care provider or patient, by use of force, threat of force, or physical obstruction if the person knows that the conduct will cause the health care provider or patient to suffer serious emotional distress or place him or her in reasonable fear of death or of great bodily harm to himself or herself or a member of his or her family or household, or will cause a reasonable person under the same circumstances to suffer serious emotional distress, or will place a reasonable person under the same circumstances in fear of death or bodily harm to himself or herself or a member of his or her family or household.

(b) Intentionally use, obstruct, manipulate, arrange, or rearrange, or attempt to use, obstruct, manipulate, arrange, or rearrange the property of a medical facility to impede or otherwise interfere with its efficiency, or attempt to engage in any of these actions, or file a lawsuit or administrative complaint against a health care provider that, when considering the action in its entirety, cannot be supported by any rational argument based in fact or law, or publish, distribute, or communicate in any form of deprecatory matter relating to a health care provider.

(c) For the purpose of damaging or interfering with the operations of a health care provider, and in connection with such purpose, doing any of the following:

1. Intentionally damaging or causing the loss of any real or tangible personal property, including records, or data, used by a health care provider or owned or leased by a person having connection to, relationship with, or transactions with a health care provider.
2. Intentionally placing a person in reasonable fear of death or substantial bodily injury or placing a person in reasonable fear of the death of, or of great bodily harm to, a member of the immediate family of that person, or a spouse or intimate partner of that person, by engaging in a pattern of conduct consisting of 2 or more threats or acts of vandalism, property damage, criminal trespass, harassment, or intimidation.

3. Conspiring or attempting to engage in intentionally damaging property as described in subd. 1. or conspiring or attempting to intentionally place a person in reasonable fear of death or serious bodily injury as described in subd. 2.

(d) Engaging in a pattern of targeted and dangerous activity towards a health care provider. For purposes of this paragraph, a pattern of targeted and dangerous activity exists when a person or group of individuals associated in fact commits 2 or more separate acts of targeted and dangerous activity towards a health care provider in which one act occurred after the effective date of this paragraph .... [LRB inserts date], and in which the last targeted and dangerous act occurred within 2 years of the commission of a separate act of targeted and dangerous activity by a different person or group of individuals associated in fact that employed or was employed by or was associated directly or indirectly with the person or group of individuals committing a separate act of targeted and dangerous activity toward the same health care provider.

(3) Any person who aids or abets the commission of conduct proscribed in this section or who commands, induces, or procures conduct proscribed by this section is engaged in conduct in violation of this section.

(4) Evidence of the habit of a person or of the routine practice of an organization, whether corroborated or not and regardless of the presence of an eyewitness, is relevant to prove that the conduct of the person or organization on a particular occasion was in conformity with the habit or routine practice.

(5) (a) Whoever violates this section is subject to penalties provided under s. 258.53 and to the civil remedies under s. 258.55.

(b) Without limitation, the following affirmative defenses are available to a person who is alleged to have violated this section:

1. That the identified specific conduct is protected by the person’s right to engage in expressive conduct protected from legal prohibition by the constitutions of the state and the United States.

2. When the identified specific conduct concerns the filing of a lawsuit or administrative complaint, that the lawsuit or administrative complaint alleged acts against the party filing the lawsuit or against the party’s child that are recognized under state law as constituting domestic violence under s. 813.12 (1) (am), sexual assault including sexual assault under s. 940.225, 948.06, or 948.09, or physical abuse of a child including physical abuse of a child under s. 948.03.

3. When the identified specific conduct concerns the publication, distribution, or communication of deprecatory matter, that all individuals specified in the deprecatory matter consented in writing to the publication, distribution, and communication of the deprecatory matter.

(6) The state hereby establishes, affirms, fosters, and promotes the following 3 fundamental policies and interests necessary for the public interest:

(a) The protection of health care providers in this state from becoming targets, without remedies, of intentional and frightening conduct directed toward them is critical to the state’s significant and substantial governmental interest in health and safety. The public health and welfare of health care patients is preserved and promoted when unlawful and egregious acts directed towards health care providers are subject to state provided protections that minimize injuries sustained from such conduct.

(b) The state legislature, relying on evidence that health care providers have historically and repeatedly been targeted for violence on account of the care they provide, finds that it serves a compelling governmental interest of this state to establish policies and laws that protect health care providers, their families, and their property from violence designed to damage or interfere with their operations, and from targeted and dangerous activities.

(c) The availability and assurance that patients have continuing access to medically accurate and comprehensive health care, including reproductive health care, and to health care providers who are neither impeded in providing those services nor exposed to risk of employment retribution and unfair discrimination in employment is central to the well being of all residents in this state, to the preservation of health care integrity and patient privacy, to the respect for the sanctity of the doctor–patient relationship, and to the freedom from governmental intrusion that is central to the doctor–patient relationship.

258.53 Penalties. (1) Except as provided in sub. (3), a person who violates s. 258.50 (2) (a) or (c) is guilty of a Class I felony.

(2) Except as provided in sub. (3), a person who violates s. 258.50 (2) (b) is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor.

(3) (a) If all of the following apply, a person who violates s. 258.50 (2) is guilty of the violation indicated in par. (b):

1. The person knows that his or her action will cause a specific person's death or injury, or will cause a reasonable person under the same circumstances to suffer serious emotional distress or to reasonably fear death or great bodily harm to himself or herself or to his or her family member or member of his or her household.

2. The person’s action caused a specific person’s death or injury, or caused a person to suffer serious emotional distress or to reasonably fear death or great bodily harm to himself or herself or to his or her family member or member of his or her household.

(b) 1. For a violation of s. 258.50 (2) (a) or (c), a Class G felony

2. For a violation of s. 258.50 (2) (b), a Class H felony.

3. For a violation of s. 258.50 (2) (d), a Class E felony.

258.55 Remedies for health care violations. (1) Actions by the attorney general. (a) If the attorney general has reasonable cause to believe that any person is violating s. 258.05, 258.10, 258.25 (4), or 258.50, or that a hospital is violating s. 258.25 (2), the attorney general has standing to bring and may commence a civil action against any party in the name of the state in any court with appropriate jurisdiction to vindicate the public interest and protect the rights of citizens of the state.

(b) For each violation specified in par. (a), the court may award any appropriate relief, including temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief and compensatory damages. The court, to vindicate the public interest, may assess against a party other than the state or instrumentality of the state an additional amount not to exceed $20,000 for the first violation and $40,000 for each subsequent violation, except that for a violation of s. 258.50 the court may assess an additional amount not to exceed $100,000 for a first violation and $1,000,000 for each subsequent violation.

conscientious belief may commence a civil action for relief under par. (d).

SECTION 19. 448.03 (5) (a) of the statutes is repealed.

SECTION 20. 457.26 (2) (gm) of the statutes is repealed.

SECTION 21. 625.11 (4) of the statutes is amended to read:

625.11 (4) UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION. One rate is unfairly discriminatory in relation to another in the same class if it clearly fails to reflect equitably the differences in expected losses and expenses. Rates are unfairly discriminatory when an insurer assigns a higher rate for services based only on incomplete actuarial data or uses such incomplete data to limit liability associated with insuring an unknown risk. Rates are not unfairly discriminatory because different premiums result for policyholders with like loss exposures but different expense factors, or like expense factors but different loss exposures, so long as the rates reflect the differences with reasonable accuracy. Rates are not unfairly discriminatory if they are averaged broadly among persons insured under a group, franchise or blanket policy.

SECTION 22. 625.22 (1) of the statutes is amended to read:

625.22 (1) ORDER IN EVENT OF VIOLATION. If the commissioner finds after a hearing that a rate is not in compliance with s. 625.11 or 655.92, the commissioner shall order that its use be discontinued for any policy issued or renewed after a date specified in the order.

SECTION 23. 628.34 (3) (b) of the statutes is amended to read:

628.34 (3) (b) No insurer may refuse to insure or refuse to continue to insure, or limit the amount, extent or kind of coverage available to an individual, or charge an individual a different rate for the same coverage because of a mental or physical disability except when the refusal, limitation or rate differential is based on either sound actuarial principles supported by reliable data or actual or reasonably anticipated experience, subject to ss. 632.746 to 632.7495. Sound actuarial principles may not include political or social considerations, ethical or religious considerations, or the charging of higher rates for services when only incomplete actuarial data are available, using such data to limit liability associated with insuring an unknown risk.

SECTION 24. 632.8985 of the statutes is repealed.

SECTION 25. Subchapter VIII (title) of chapter 655 [precedes 655.90] of the statutes is created to read:

CHAPTER 655

SUBCHAPTER VIII

HEALTH CARE LIABILITY

SECTION 26. 655.90 of the statutes is created to read:

655.90 Insurance policy requirements. No health care liability policy or self-insured health care provider may exclude or deny coverage for reproductive health care services, including all of the following:

(1) Contraceptive implant procedures.
(2) Intrauterine contraception procedures.
(3) Endometrial biopsies.
(4) Medically indicated and elective abortions.
(5) Miscarriages.
(6) Any other procedures utilizing intrauterine instrumentation for which the health care provider, as defined in 146.81(1), is trained.
(7) Any treatment regimens or methods attendant to the procedures covered under this section.
(8) Any follow-up treatment regimens or counseling services attendant to the procedures covered under this section.

SECTION 27. 655.92 of the statutes is created to read:

655.92 Rates and classification of procedures. (1) (a) An insurer shall consider medically indicated and elective abortions as having equivalent actuarial risk and shall include medically indicated and elective abortions in the same risk classes or subclasses representing similar actuarial risk.

(b) An insurer shall classify intrauterine contraception procedures, contraceptive implant procedures, and the exclusive and entire method applicable for both abortion and the procedures used after miscarriage under family or general medicine, including outpatient gynecology, and in a class or subclass with comparable actuarial risks established for comparable methods and procedures.

(c) An insurer shall classify the regimen that involves prescribing and using medication only for abortion under family or general medicine, including outpatient gynecology, in a class or subclass with similar actuarial risks that permit prescribing medications with comparable safety and efficacy in the general practice of medicine.
(d) An insurer shall classify endometrial or related biopsies, procedures using intrauterine instrumentation, and miscarriage and abortion procedures, not including the procedures in pars. (b) and (c), performed during or before the 14th week of gestation in a class or subclass limited to procedures with comparable actuarial risks, including miscarriage treatment procedures and excluding surgical procedures with higher risk factors.

(2) Subject to s. 625.11, one rate within a class or subclass for health care liability insurance and liability insurance normally incidental to health care liability insurance is unfairly discriminatory in relation to another rate within the same class or subclass if it fails to reasonably and equitably reflect comparable differences in expected losses and expenses.

(3) (a) Rates for health care liability insurance and liability insurance normally incidental to health care liability insurance are excessive and unfairly discriminatory if they are likely to produce a long-run profit that is unreasonably high in relation to the riskiness of the class of business or if expenses are unreasonably high in relation to the services rendered.

(b) Rates for health care liability insurance and liability insurance normally incidental to health care liability insurance shall be based on sound actuarial evidence and standards of care, and may not take into account unfairly discriminatory factors, including:

1. Political or social concerns associated with providing insurance covering medically indicated and elective abortion procedures.

2. Ethical or religious considerations or opinions about abortion.
3. The assignment of higher rates for services when only incomplete actuarial data are available and using such data to limit the liability associated with insuring an unknown risk.

SECTION 28. 655.94 of the statutes is created to read:

655.94 Petition by health care providers. (1) Prior to filing a petition to the commissioner, a health care provider shall exhaust all remedies for appealing coverage or rates contained in the provider’s health care liability insurance policy or liability insurance normally incidental to health care liability insurance.

(2) A health care provider may petition the commissioner for a review of the final determination of rates under its health care liability policy for a review of classification or rates. The petition shall state the basis for the health care provider’s belief that the classification or rates are incorrect, or that the classification or rates violate ss. 625.11, 625.12, or 655.92. The commissioner shall refer a petition as specified in sub. (3).

(3) (a) The commissioner shall appoint a committee for the review of classification or rates as follows:

1. If the health care provider is a hospital or entity affiliated with a hospital, then consisting of 2 representatives of hospitals, other than the health care provider’s hospital, and one other person who is knowledgeable about insurance classifications and rates and not affiliated with the insurer.

2. If the health care provider is any entity not specified in subd. 1., then consisting of 2 physicians not directly or indirectly affiliated or associated with the health care provider and one other person who is knowledgeable about insurance classifications and rates and not affiliated with the insurer.
(b) The appointed committee shall review the classification and rates and report its decision in writing to the health care provider and the commissioner within 5 days after completing the review.

(c) Any party to the review adversely affected by the decision of the committee may file a written request for a hearing under subch. III of ch. 227.

SECTION 29. 655.96 of the statutes is created to read:

655.96 Cancelation by insurer. Notwithstanding ss. 631.36, 631.37, and 655.24, an insurer may not cancel or refuse to renew a policy of primary health care liability insurance and liability insurance normally incidental to health care liability insurance except for nonpayment of premiums or if the health care provider's license is revoked by the appropriate licensing board.
