2 relating to: fingerprinting and conducting background
3 investigations of employees in the state civil service or of a political subdivision,
4 and of individuals performing contractual services for the state, who have
5 access to federal tax information.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under the bill, before appointing an individual to a position in the state civil service or with a political subdivision, the duties of which require the individual to have access to federal tax information, the appointing authority for the position must conduct a background check on the individual, which may include fingerprinting. The bill also allows the appointing authority or a political subdivision to conduct additional background checks on an individual who is appointed to such a position. The bill requires the same background checks to be completed for individuals who perform services under a contract with the state if the contract requires the individual to have access to federal tax information.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
