Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill requires public safety answering points to provide, in appropriate circumstances, telephonic assistance on administering cardiopulmonary resuscitation. The bill also requires the Department of Military Affairs to distribute grants for the purpose of training dispatchers to provide telephonic assistance on administering CPR.

Under the bill, every public safety answering point must either 1) have dispatchers certified in CPR and trained to provide, using an evidence-based protocol, telephonic instruction on administering CPR to a person who has called 911 and provide continuing education on that protocol; or 2) transfer callers to a dedicated telephone line, telephone center, or another public safety answering point that will provide the caller with assistance on administering CPR. If transferring callers, the public safety answering point must use an evidence-based protocol for the identification of a person in need of CPR, provide appropriate training and continuing education, and ensure that any dedicated telephone line, telephone center, or public safety answering point to which calls are transferred uses dispatchers that have the appropriate training to provide telephone assistance on administering CPR. The bill also requires every public safety answering point to conduct ongoing quality assurance of its dispatcher assisted bystander CPR program.

ASSEMBLY BILL 654

Finally, the bill requires DMA to distribute grants to public safety answering points that employ one or more dispatchers that have not completed training as described in the bill. A grant recipient must use grant moneys to provide the required dispatcher training in telephonic assistance on administering CPR. The bill authorizes DMA to request, during the 2017-19 fiscal biennium, supplemental funding from the Joint Committee on Finance and requires DMA to include in its 2019-21 biennial budget request a proposal for additional funding to provide grants under this program.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
