Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill prohibits a credit reporting agency from charging a fee for any of the following: 1) a request made by a person to place a security freeze on the person's consumer credit report; 2) a request made by an authorized representative to place a security freeze on the consumer credit report of a person who is under the age of 16 or for whom a guardian or conservator has been appointed; 3) an authorization made by a person to release a consumer credit report despite a security freeze; 4) a request made by a person to remove a security freeze from the person's consumer credit report; and 5) a request made by an authorized representative to remove a security freeze from the consumer credit report of a person who is under the age of 16 years or for whom a guardian or conservator has been appointed. Under current law, a security freeze on a person's consumer credit report prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing the consumer credit report for any purpose related to the extension of credit without prior authorization.
Current law generally permits a credit reporting agency to charge a fee of up to $10 for each request to place a security freeze on a consumer credit report, for each authorization to release a consumer credit report despite a security freeze, and for each request to remove a security freeze from a consumer credit report, except that no fee may be charged for requests concerning the consumer credit report of a person who is the victim of alleged unauthorized use of personal identifying information or documents.

“Wisconsin Consumers Have the Right to Obtain a Security Freeze.

You have a right to include a “security freeze” with your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report in connection with a credit transaction without your express authorization.
A security freeze must be requested in writing by certified mail or by any other means provided by a consumer reporting agency, and a consumer reporting agency may not charge a fee for requesting the placement or removal of a security freeze. The security freeze is designed to prevent an extension of credit, such as a loan, from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a loan, credit, mortgage, or Internet credit card transaction, including an extension of credit at point of sale.

When you request a security freeze for your credit report, you will be provided a personal identification number or password to use if you choose to remove the security freeze from your credit report or authorize the release of your credit report for a period of time after the security freeze is in place. To provide that authorization you must contact the consumer reporting agency and provide all of the following:

(1) The personal identification number or password.
(2) Proper identification to verify your identity.
(3) The period of time for which the report shall be made available.
(4) Payment of the appropriate fee.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of a person, with which you have an existing account, that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.
Unless you are a victim of identity theft with a police report to verify the crime, a consumer reporting agency has the right to charge you no more than $10 to include a security freeze with your credit report, no more than $10 to authorize release of a report that includes a security freeze, and no more than $10 to remove a security freeze from your credit report.”

SECTION 11. 100.545 (3) (a) 4. of the statutes is repealed.

SECTION 12. 100.545 (4) (a) 3. of the statutes is repealed.

SECTION 13. 100.545 (5) (title) of the statutes is amended to read:

100.545 (5) (title) FEES Fee prohibited.

SECTION 14. 100.545 (5) (a) of the statutes is renumbered 100.545 (5) and amended to read:

100.545 (5) Except as provided in par. (b), a consumer reporting agency may not charge a fee for any service performed under this section.

SECTION 15. 100.545 (5) (b) of the statutes is repealed.

SECTION 16. 100.545 (5) (c) of the statutes is repealed.
