AN ACT to renumber and amend 12.60 (4); to amend 12.60 (1) (a) and 978.05 (1); and to create 12.15, 12.60 (4) (b) and 165.25 (18) of the statutes; relating to: deceptive election practices and providing a criminal penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill prohibits any person from knowingly providing false election-related information to an individual with the intent to induce an individual to refrain from registering to vote or from voting at an election. The bill defines election-related information as information concerning any of the following: 1) the date, time, place, or manner of conducting an election; and 2) any qualification or restriction on the eligibility of an elector voting at an election, including any criminal penalty associated with voting in an election or a voter's registration status or eligibility. A person who violates this provision is guilty of a Class I felony and may be subject to a fine not to exceed $10,000 or imprisonment not to exceed three years and six months, or both.

Under current law, with certain exceptions, no person may post or distribute any written material that describes the rights or responsibilities of individuals voting or registering to vote at a polling place or absentee voting site during any of the following times: 1) during polling hours at a polling place; 2) while voting is underway at an absentee voting site; or 3) on public property within 100 feet of an entrance to a building containing a polling place or an absentee voting site during polling hours or while absentee voting is underway. A person who violates any of these prohibitions may be required to pay a forfeiture (civil penalty) of not more than...
$100 for each violation. Also under current law, no person may knowingly make or publish or cause to be made or published a false representation pertaining to a candidate or referendum that is intended to affect voting at an election. A person who violates this prohibition may be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than six months, or both.

The bill exempts from liability the owner, publisher, printer, agent, or employee of a newspaper or other publication, including an Internet publication, or of a radio or television station, including an Internet radio or television station, who in good faith and without knowledge of its falsity, publishes false election-related information.

The bill permits a person who believes a violation has occurred to file a verified complaint with the Elections Commission. The commission must review the complaint to determine whether the alleged facts would constitute a violation. If the commission determines that the facts, if true, would constitute a violation, the commission must investigate the complaint and, if appropriate, forward the complaint to the attorney general for prosecution. The commission must also take any action necessary to provide correct election-related information to those persons who might have received false election-related information. In lieu of prosecuting the action, the bill permits the attorney general to forward the prosecution to the district attorney for the county in which the violation is alleged to have occurred.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
