3 Whereas, trees and Wisconsin's sustainable well-managed forests, both 4 private and public, are the backbone supporting Wisconsin's valued way of life and 5 the basis for the social, economic, and ecological well-being of Wisconsinites and the 6 forest products industry; and

7 Whereas, Wisconsin's lumber and wood products industry predates the state 8 and papermaking began in 1848, three months before Wisconsin became a state, and 9 paper manufacturing has been a cornerstone of the state's economy for more than 10 165 years, leading the nation in paper manufacturing for more than 60 years; and

11 Whereas, the logging, papermaking, and printing industries significantly 12 contribute to Wisconsin's economic health and well-being by employing more than 13 ⁶⁰100,000 women and men in family-supporting jobs whose annual income exceeds 14 $0.4 billion; and

1 Whereas, the paper and forest products industries contribute an estimated 2 $238 million in state and local taxes; and

3 Whereas, Wisconsin produces a greater diversity of paper and wood products 4 than any other state in the Union; and

5 Whereas, as 2019 has been declared by Governor Tony Evers as “The Year of 6 Clean Drinking Water” and Speaker Robin Vos has established a “Water Quality
7 Task Force,” Approximately two-thirds of the nation’s freshwater resources 8 originate on forested lands, both public and private. Some 180 million people in over 9 68,000 communities rely on these forested lands to capture and filter their drinking 10 water; and

11 Whereas, thanks to sustainable forestry practices, Wisconsin forests are 12 growing one and a half times more timber than is being harvested each year and 13 there are more trees in forests throughout the United States than there were 100 14 years ago; and

15 Whereas, the paper, pulp, forestry, and printing industries are sustainable, 16 environmentally-conscious and are a major driver of Wisconsin’s economy; and

17 Whereas, Wisconsin’s nearly 17 million acres of forest lands and its millions of 18 urban trees significantly enhance the quality of life in our great state, contribute to 19 water quality, support and enhance soil quality, provide habitat and sustenance for 20 terrestrial and aquatic flora and fauna, and offer four-season recreational and 21 aesthetic opportunities to residents and visitors of all ages; now, therefore, be it
