Description minor golf caddies

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill allows minors who are 12 and 13 years of age to provide caddy services without requiring them to be deemed employees of a golf club or employees of a person, partnership, association or corporation, including the state and any municipal corporation or other political subdivision thereof, operating a golf course.

The bill allows the Department of Workforce Development (DWD) to regulate the provision of caddy services by minors. Regulations may include a waiver or modification of permit requirements for caddies.

If enacted, the department anticipates one-time costs to revise the administrative rule pertinent to this bill. In addition, there would be one-time costs for DWD's Equal Rights Division to revise education materials and publications. These costs are absorbable within the agency's operating budget.
