Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau
Under current law, subject to certain exceptions, no individual may act as a home inspector, use the title “home inspector,” use any title or description that implies that he or she is a home inspector, or represent himself or herself to be a home inspector unless the individual is registered with the Department of Safety and Professional Services. Similarly, no business entity may provide home inspection services, and no business entity may use the title “home inspectors” to describe the business entity’s services, unless each of the home inspectors employed by the business entity is so registered. In order to become a registered home inspector, an individual must not have a disqualifying criminal record and must pass an examination approved by DSPS. The practice of home inspectors is governed by statutes and by rules promulgated by DSPS. This bill does the following with respect to the law governing home inspectors:

1. Requires home inspectors to be licensed, rather than registered. The bill grandfathers current registrants in as licensees.
2. Requires, in order to be granted a home inspector license, that an individual complete 120 hours of instruction and 40 hours of field training, as well as the requirements under current law for a home inspector registration.
3. Provides for reciprocal licensure of home inspectors licensed in other states who have comparable or more stringent requirements.
4. Adjusts the contents that a report submitted by a home inspector to a client is required to contain, including by adding a number of required elements for the report and requiring defects to be identified as such.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
