AN ACT to renumber and amend 323.10; to amend 323.10 (title); and to create 323.10 (1) (b), 323.10 (1) (c) and 323.10 (2) of the statutes; relating to: emergency declarations.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the governor may issue an executive order declaring a state of emergency for the state or any portion of the state if he or she determines that an emergency exists resulting from a disaster or the imminent threat of a disaster or that a public health emergency exists. An emergency declaration lasts for 60 days unless extended by joint resolution of the legislature. Either the governor or the legislature by joint resolution may revoke an emergency declaration, but only the legislature has the authority to extend an emergency declaration.

This bill makes all of the following changes to the laws relating to the governor’s authority to declare a state of emergency for the state or any portion of the state:

1. The governor may issue an executive order declaring a state of emergency only if the executive order is additionally signed by at least two of the following: the senate majority leader; the senate minority leader; the speaker of the assembly; the assembly minority leader.

2. The governor may not issue successive executive orders declaring a state of emergency based on the same disaster or public health crisis or based on circumstances arising from or closely related to the same disaster or public health crisis.

3. Upon issuing an executive order declaring a state of emergency, the governor must call the legislature into special session for the purpose of considering the executive order and all emergency orders issued pursuant to the executive order. The executive order and each such emergency order terminates on the 30th day after the day the executive order declaring an emergency was issued unless approved in whole or in part by the legislature by joint resolution.

4. The legislature may by joint resolution extend a declaration of emergency one or more times, as provided under current law, but each extension may last no more than 30 days.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. 323.10 (title) of the statutes is amended to read:

323.10 (title) Declaration by governor; legislative approval.

SECTION 2. 323.10 of the statutes is renumbered 323.10 (1) (a) and amended to read:

323.10 (1) (a) The Subject to pars. (b) and (c), the governor may issue an executive order declaring a state of emergency for the state or any portion of the state if he or she determines that an emergency resulting from a disaster or the imminent threat of a disaster exists. If the governor determines that a public health emergency exists, he or she may issue an executive order declaring a state of emergency related to public health for the state or any portion of the state and may designate the department of health services as the lead state agency to respond to that emergency. If the governor determines that the emergency is related to computer or telecommunication systems, he or she may designate the department of administration as the lead agency to respond to that emergency. A state of emergency shall not exceed 60 days, unless the state of emergency is extended one or more times, each of which may not exceed 30 days, by joint resolution of the legislature. A copy of the executive order shall be filed with the secretary of state. The executive order may be revoked at the discretion of either the
