Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This constitutional amendment, proposed to the 2021 legislature on first consideration, does all of the following:

1. Provides for appointment of the state treasurer and establishment of the Department of Revenue. Currently, the constitution provides for popular election of the state treasurer every four years. Under this constitutional amendment, the governor appoints the state treasurer for a four-year term, subject to the advice and consent of the senate. The proposal also specifies certain events causing a vacancy in office. Currently, the only duty assigned to the state treasurer by the constitution is to serve as a member of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands. All other powers and duties are prescribed by law.
The constitutional amendment further requires the legislature to establish by law the Department of Revenue to administer Wisconsin’s tax laws. Under the amendment, the Department of Revenue is to be under the direction and supervision of the state treasurer.

2. Provides for appointment of the secretary of state. Currently, the constitution provides for popular election of the secretary of state every four years. Under this constitutional amendment, the governor appoints the secretary of state for a four-year term, subject to the advice and consent of the senate. The proposal also specifies certain events causing a vacancy in office. The constitution assigns the following four duties to the secretary of state, with all other powers and duties being prescribed by law:
   a. Serve as governor when there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor and the governor dies, resigns, or is removed from office, or serve as acting governor when there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor and the governor is absent from the state, impeached, or incapable of performing the duties of office.
   b. Keep a fair record of the official acts of the legislature and executive department of the state.
   c. Serve as a member of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands.
   d. Keep the great seal of Wisconsin.

3. Provides for appointment of the state superintendent of public instruction. Currently, the constitution provides for popular election of the state superintendent of public instruction. Under this constitutional amendment, the governor appoints the state superintendent for a four-year term, subject to the advice and consent of the senate. The proposal also specifies certain events causing a vacancy in office. The constitution vests the supervision of public instruction in the state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature directs. The state superintendent’s powers and duties are prescribed by law.

A constitutional amendment requires adoption by two successive legislatures and ratification by the people before it can become effective.
