Referred to Committee on Labor and Regulatory Reform.

AN ACT to renumber and amend 102.17 (4) and 102.58; to amend 102.04 (2m), 102.13 (2) (a), 102.29 (6m) (a) 3., 102.315 (1) (c), 102.315 (2), 102.42 (1), 102.49 (5) (b), 102.49 (5) (c) and 102.49 (5) (e); and to create 102.04 (2g), 102.17 (9), 102.29 (6m) (a) 1m., 102.315 (2e), 102.315 (2m), 102.315 (2s), 102.42 (1p), 102.44 (7) and 102.49 (5) (cm) of the statutes; relating to: various changes to the worker’s compensation law.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes various changes to the worker’s compensation law, as administered by the Department of Workforce Development and the Division of Hearings and Appeals in the Department of Administration (DHA).

PAYMENT OF BENEFITS; OTHER PAYMENTS

Liability for public safety officers

This bill makes changes to the conditions of liability for worker’s compensation benefits for a law enforcement officer or a fire fighter (public safety officer) who is diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD).

The bill provides that if a public safety officer is diagnosed with PTSD by a licensed psychiatrist or psychologist and the mental injury that resulted in that diagnosis is not accompanied by a physical injury, that public safety officer can bring a claim for worker’s compensation benefits if the conditions of liability are proven by a preponderance of the evidence and the mental injury is not the result of a good-faith employment action by the person’s employer. Under current law, an injured employee who does not have an accompanying physical injury must demonstrate a diagnosis based on unusual stress of greater dimensions than the day-to-day emotional strain and tension experienced by all employees as required under School District No. 1 v. DILHR, 62 Wis. 2d 370, 215 N.W.2d 373 (1974). Under the bill, such an injured public safety employee is not required to demonstrate a diagnosis based on that standard, and instead must demonstrate a diagnosis based on the new standard.

The bill also limits liability for treatment for a mental injury that is compensable under the bill’s provisions to no more than 32 weeks after the injury is first reported. Under the bill, a public safety officer is restricted to compensation for a mental injury that is not accompanied by a physical injury and that results in a diagnosis of PTSD three times in his or her lifetime irrespective of a change of employer or employment.

Payments in cases of injuries resulting in death

Current law provides that, in each case of an injury resulting in death leaving no person dependent for support or leaving one or more persons partially dependent for support, the employer or insurer must pay into the work injury supplemental benefit fund (WISBF) the amount of the death benefit otherwise payable. This bill does the following:

1. Allows such amounts due to be paid in advance of when they would otherwise be due, including as a single, lump-sum payment. If an employer or insurer makes an advance or lump-sum payment, the bill requires DWD to give the employer or the insurer an interest credit, computed as otherwise provided under current law. Current law requires, in the case of a death leaving no dependents, that the payments be made in five equal annual installments.

2. Provides that, in the case of a violation of an employer policy against drug or alcohol use that is causal to an employee’s injury resulting in death who leaves no person dependent for support or leaving one or more persons partially dependent for support, no payment is required to be made to WISBF. Current law provides that, in the case of such a violation, then neither the employee nor the employee’s dependents may receive any compensation under the worker’s compensation law for that injury, other than costs for treating the injury, but does not exempt the employer or insurer from the payment to WISBF.

Furnishing of billing statements

This bill requires a health care provider to furnish to the representative or agent of a worker’s compensation insurer a complete billing statement for treatment of an injury for which an employee claims compensation upon request.

Coverage; liability

Leased employees

Under current law, employee leasing companies are generally liable for injuries to their leased employees under the worker’s compensation law. This bill provides that a client of an employee leasing company may instead assume the liability for leased employees under an employee leasing agreement. The bill also provides that if a client terminates or otherwise does not provide worker’s compensation insurance coverage for the leased employees, the employee leasing company is liable for injuries to those leased employees under the worker’s compensation law.

Statute of limitations

This bill clarifies that for worker’s compensation claims the statute of limitations applies to an individual’s employer, the employer’s insurance company, and any other named party.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
