2021 SENATE BILL 306

AN ACT to amend 40.51 (8), 40.51 (8m), 66.0137 (4), 120.13 (2) (g) and 185.983 (1) (intro.); and to create 49.45 (61) (f), 609.713 and 632.872 of the statutes; relating to: coverage of telehealth services.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The bill prohibits a private insurer or a self-insured health plan of the state or a county, city, village, town, or school district from denying coverage or refusing to reimburse a health care provider for a treatment or service provided through telehealth, which includes audio-only telephone, if that treatment or service is covered under the policy or plan when provided in person by a health care provider. Telehealth is a practice of health care delivery, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, or transfer of medically relevant data by means of audio, video, or data communications that are used during either a patient visit or a consultation or are used to transfer medically relevant data about a patient.

2019 Wisconsin Act 56 requires the coverage of and reimbursement for certain telehealth services under the Medical Assistance program. Act 56 excluded from the definition of telehealth audio-only telephone communications unless the Department of Health Services specified by rule that those communications are considered telehealth reimbursable by the Medical Assistance program. The bill specifies that DHS must consider mental health therapy conducted over audio-only telephone communications as interactive telehealth that is eligible for coverage and reimbursement under the Medical Assistance program.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 7. 609.713 of the statutes is created to read:

609.713 Telehealth services. Limited service health organizations, preferred provider plans, and defined network plans are subject to s. 632.872.

SECTION 8. 632.872 of the statutes is created to read:

632.872 Telehealth services. (1) Definitions. In this section:

(a) “Self-insured health plan” has the meaning given in s. 632.85 (1) (c).

(b) “Telehealth” means a practice of health care delivery, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, or transfer of medically relevant data by means of audio, video, or data communications that are used during either a patient visit or a consultation or are used to transfer medically relevant data about a patient.

(2) Telehealth Coverage and Reimbursement. No insurer or self-insured health plan may deny coverage or refuse to reimburse a health care provider for a treatment or service provided through telehealth, including provided over audio-only telephone or interactive video, if that treatment or service is covered and reimbursable by a plan or a policy offered by the plan or insurer when provided in person by the health care provider.

Section 9. Initial applicability.

(1) This act first applies to services provided under health insurance policies, self-insured health plans, or the Medical Assistance program for which the date of service is the effective date of this subsection.
