The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL PREFATORY NOTE: This bill was prepared for the Legislative Council Study Committee on Increasing Offender Employment Opportunities. The bill requires the Department of Corrections (DOC) to contract with at least one nonprofit organization, for-profit entity, or public agency to establish a community reentry center. A community reentry center is a community site offering individuals who are being released from a state correctional institution initial points of contact for each of the following: health services, identification services, financial services, housing services, employment services, education services, and supervision services. The bill creates an appropriation for community reentry centers, but does not appropriate any funds.

To be eligible for a DOC contract, a nonprofit organization, for-profit entity, or public agency must operate the community reentry center in a location easily accessible by public transportation and by the population it serves, and provide initial points of contact for all the services listed above. DOC must also, when awarding contracts, prioritize organizations, entities, and public agencies that: (1) collaborate with organizations providing services at the center, justice-involved individuals, criminal justice coordinating councils, technical colleges, and workforce investment boards, as evidenced by letters of support; and (2) propose to operate a center in counties with the highest numbers of individuals being released from incarceration to those counties.

The organization, entity, or public agency contracting with DOC must oversee, coordinate, and develop memoranda of understanding with other organizations to provide services housed at the center. The organization, entity, or public agency must also develop multidisciplinary teams with the other organizations offering services at the center to review the needs and assessments of individuals receiving services there. DOC staff must be present on-site to provide case management to individuals served at the center, pursuant to an agreement between DOC and the organization, entity, or public agency.

The bill also requires DOC to create a comprehensive report examining the outcomes of services provided at each center. DOC must submit the first report by 2027, and must submit a report every two years thereafter. Under its contract with DOC, the organization, entity, or public agency operating a center must track and compile data for services provided at the center, including the number and type of services provided and reported outcomes.
