Final Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (Summary)

This rule reorganizes and amends the current rules related to local agent agreements. Most of the changes are technical, not substantive. This rule does not make any substantive changes nor increase any fees for retail food establishments.

This rule does not affect retail food establishments or other businesses. It only affects local governmental agents that contract with DATCP to license and inspect retail food establishments. In general, this rule will simplify, clarify and streamline the local agent program.

This rule has no adverse impact on retail food establishments, some of which are considered “small businesses” as defined in s. 227.114(1), Stats. This rule does not impose any additional fees, costs, compliance requirements, recordkeeping requirements, or other requirements on retail food establishments.

This rule streamlines and clarifies the contract relationship between DATCP and local health departments that choose to license and inspect retail food establishments in their jurisdictional areas. This rule does not increase costs or fees, and will have no adverse effect on retail food establishments or other businesses, and will have no adverse effect on small businesses.
