Statutes Interpreted	ss. 93.06(1m) and (1p), 93.07(10), 93.07(10m), 95.22, 95.45, 95.55, 95.57, 95.68, 95.69, 95.71, 169.01(7) and 169.04(2)(d), Stats.

This rule does all the following:

- Implements Wisconsin's Captive Wildlife Law (2001 Wis. Act 56), which took effect on January 1, 2003.
- Modifies related animal health rules administered by the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP).
- Coordinates animal disease control activities of DATCP and the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Background

The Captive Wildlife Law (2001 Wis. Act 56) strengthens and clarifies DNR regulation of captive wildlife operations. It also harmonizes DNR regulations with general animal health laws administered by DATCP. DNR's authority under the Captive Wildlife Law does not extend to "domestic animals" identified by DATCP rule.

DATCP administers Wisconsin animal health and disease control laws under chs. 93 and 95, Stats. DATCP also administers food safety laws under ch. 97, Stats., including dairy farm license requirements under s. 97.22. DATCP regulates to protect the health of humans, domestic animals and wild animals. DATCP currently does the following things, among others:

- Regulates animal imports and movement. DATCP may regulate animal imports and movement by rule, or by serving quarantine orders on the owners or custodians of affected animals. The Captive Wildlife Law clarifies that DATCP may regulate animal imports and movement to protect the health of humans, domestic animals or wild animals (not just domestic livestock).
- Licenses and inspects animal operations. DATCP licenses animal markets, animal dealers, animal truckers, dairy farms (food safety), fish farms and deer farms. Under the Captive Wildlife Law:

- DATCP now registers all deer farms, including approximately 600 captive white-tail herds previously licensed by DNR. Captive white-tail deer, like other captive deer and elk, are now classified as "farm-raised deer." DATCP is responsible for regulating deer farms. But DNR retains its authority to prescribe and enforce fencing requirements for captive white-tail deer herds.
- DATCP now licenses all animal dealers (not just livestock dealers), all animal markets (not just livestock markets) and all animal truckers (not just livestock truckers). Licensing is required for entities that handle livestock or wild animals.
- DATCP may regulate operators of game-bird farms.
- DATCP may regulate deer hunting preserves. Only deer farms registered by DATCP may operate hunting preserves. Hunting preserves must cover at least 80 acres.
- Performs animal health inspections and tests. DATCP may inspect and test animals, including but not limited to domestic livestock. This authority pre-dates the Captive Wildlife Law, and is not altered by that law.
- Examines animal health documentation. DATCP is Wisconsin's central clearinghouse for all interstate health certificates (certificates of veterinary inspection). DATCP rules require health certificates for animal imports and, in some cases, for movement of animals within Wisconsin. DATCP may require certificates for captive wild animals as well as domestic animals. Veterinarians issuing health certificates must file copies with DATCP. Under the Captive Wildlife Law, DNR may also require health certificates for wild animal imports. But the veterinarians who issue those certificates must file copies with DATCP (not DNR). DATCP then provides copies to DNR.
- Receives disease reports. Veterinarians and diagnostic laboratories that find evidence of certain animal diseases must report those findings to DATCP. DATCP rules currently specify the diseases that are reportable. DNR may ask DATCP to add wildlife diseases to the reportable disease list. Under the Captive Wildlife Law, DATCP will continue to receive all domestic and wild animal disease reports (veterinarians need not file duplicate reports with DNR). But DATCP must notify DNR of disease reports that may affect wild animals. DNR must notify DATCP whenever DNR finds evidence of a reportable disease.
- Condemns diseased animals. DATCP may condemn exposed or infected animals (including captive wild animals, as well as domestic animals) to control the spread of diseases. The Captive Wildlife Law clarifies that DATCP may condemn animals to control diseases that affect domestic animals, wild animals or humans (not just diseases affecting domestic animals). A separate legislative enactment (2001 Act 108) authorizes DATCP to order the killing of farm-raised deer for chronic wasting disease testing, if DATCP has reason to believe that the deer have been exposed to the disease (there is no valid live test at this time).

- Pays indemnities for condemned livestock. DATCP is currently authorized to pay indemnities for condemned livestock. The Captive Wildlife Law does not change this indemnity authority (which is generally limited to livestock or food animals, including farm-raised deer). But by expanding the current definition of “farm-raised deer” to include captive white-tails, it permits indemnity payments for condemned captive white-tails. A separate legislative enactment (2001 Act 108) also authorizes DATCP to pay indemnities for captive deer killed for chronic wasting disease testing.

Rule Contents

Official Individual Identification

Under current rules, certain animals must be identified with official individual identification. Official individual identification is often required for health certificates, disease testing and animal movement. Current rules specify acceptable forms of official individual identification. This rule authorizes the following additional forms:

- A microchip containing a unique individual identification number (the animal custodian must have a microchip reader).
- A livestock premises identification issued by DATCP, provided that the animal also bears a unique individual identification number assigned by the premises owner.

Health Certificates; Identification of Animals

Under current rules, a health certificate (certificate of veterinary inspection) is often required for the import or movement of animals. The veterinarian who issues the health certificate must identify the animals covered by the certificate. If a veterinarian issues a health certificate for bovine animals, swine, equine animals, sheep at least 6 months old, goats, ratites or cervids, the veterinarian must identify the animals by means of their official individual identification numbers (see above).

Under this rule, health certificates for alpacas, llamas and sheep under 6 months old must also include official individual identification numbers. Health certificates for other animals do not require official individual identification, but must identify the shipment source, the shipment destination, and the number and types of animals included in the shipment.

Disease Reporting

DATCP rules currently list a number of serious "reportable" diseases. Under current rules, a veterinarian or diagnostic laboratory that finds evidence of a "reportable" disease must report that disease to DATCP. This rule also requires government agencies and other persons that find evidence of a “reportable” disease in Wisconsin to report to DATCP. Under this rule, DATCP must notify DNR if DATCP finds that a reported disease may threaten wildlife in this state, or may threaten fish in waters of the state.

Domestic Animals

DNR's authority to regulate captive wildlife does not ordinarily extend to "domestic animals" that DATCP identifies by rule. This rule defines "domestic animal" to include all of the following:

- Livestock (farm animals including bovine animals, sheep, goats, swine other than wild hogs, farm-raised deer and equine animals).
- Farm-raised game birds, except birds that have been released to the wild.
- Farm-raised fish, except fish that have been released to waters of the state.
- Foxes, fitch, nutria, marten, fisher, mink, chinchilla, rabbit or caracul that are born, bred and raised in captivity and are not endangered or threatened species.
- Animal species (including pet species) that have been domesticated by humans.
- Pet birds.

Releasing Diseased Wild Animals

Under this rule, if a person knows or has reason to know that a captive wild animal has been infected with or exposed to a "reportable" disease (see above), that person may not release the animal to the wild unless a certified veterinarian finds that the animal is free of the disease at the time of release. The veterinarian must make the finding in a certificate of veterinary inspection filed with DATCP. The Captive Wildlife Law contains comparable requirements.

Poultry and Farm-Raised Game Birds

- Under current DATCP rules, no poultry or poultry eggs may be sold or used for breeding or hatching purposes unless they meet certain requirements (among other things, the flock of origin must be classified as "U.S. pullorum-typhoid clean" under the National Poultry Improvement Plan). This rule applies the same requirements to farm-raised game birds and their eggs.
- Current rules spell out DATCP test procedures for determining the disease status of a poultry flock. This rule applies the same procedures to farm-raised game bird flocks.
- Under current DATCP rules, persons who keep or test poultry must report to DATCP whenever they find evidence of pullorum, fowl typhoid or other serotypes of Salmonella. This rule extends the same reporting requirement to persons who keep or test farm-raised game birds. DATCP may investigate the report.
- Under current rules, DATCP must quarantine every poultry flock that is classified as a reactor flock, infected flock or suspect flock under the National Poultry Improvement Plan. This rule extends the same quarantine requirement to flocks of farm-raised game birds.

- Current DATCP rules restrict the commingling of poultry species. This rule expands the restrictions to include farm-raised game birds.
- Under current DATCP rules, imported poultry and eggs must originate from flocks that are classified as “U.S. pullorum-typhoid clean.” This rule applies the same requirement to farm-raised game birds and their eggs.
- Under current DATCP rules, imported poultry and hatching eggs must originate from flocks that comply with the National Poultry Improvement Plan (there is an exemption for poultry imported directly to slaughter). This rule applies the same requirements to farm-raised game birds and eggs.
- Under current DATCP rules, poultry exhibited at fairs and public exhibitions must originate from flocks that are “U.S. pullorum-typhoid clean,” or must test negative for pullorum-typhoid. This rule applies the same requirements to farm-raised game birds and swap meets.

National Poultry Improvement Plan; Flock Enrollment

This rule establishes standards for enrolling flocks of poultry and farm-raised game birds in the National Poultry Improvement Plan. Enrollment is voluntary, but rules limit the sale and movement of birds from flocks that are not enrolled. Enrollment facilitates sales and movement within the state, and between states.

Under this rule, a flock owner may annually enroll a flock in the National Poultry Improvement Plan. Enrollment expires on June 30 of each year. The flock owner must complete an annual enrollment application that includes all the following:

- Proof that the flock has been tested for salmonella pullorum-typhoid, according to test standards set forth in the National Poultry Improvement Plan. DATCP will request permission from the Attorney General and the Revisor of Statutes to incorporate these test standards by reference in this rule.
- An annual enrollment fee. A flock owner must pay the following applicable fee:
 - Fanciers. $20 if the flock consists solely of specialty breeds other than meat-type or egg-type birds, and are raised primarily for show or exhibition.
 - Non-Breeders; No Game Birds. $20 if the flock owner does not handle farm-raised game birds, does not hatch or collect eggs, and buys all poultry stock from National Poultry Improvement Plan sources.
 - Non-Breeders With Game Birds. $30 if the flock owner handles farm-raised game birds (with or without poultry), does not hatch or collect eggs, and buys all stock from National Poultry Improvement Plan sources.

- Breeders (With or Without Game Birds). The following applicable fee for a breeder flock (poultry or farm-raised game birds):
 - * $40 fee for 1 to 1,000 breeders.
 - * $50 fee for 1,001 to 5,000 breeders.
 - * $100 fee for 5,001 to 10,000 breeders.
 - * $200 fee for more than 10,000 breeders.

Deer Farm Registration Certificate

Under current law, a deer farm operator must hold an annual deer farm registration certificate from DATCP. Under this rule, a deer farm operator must obtain a separate certificate from DATCP to operate a hunting preserve at the registered premises (see below). This rule also clarifies that a registered deer farm operator may not operate as an animal dealer without an animal dealer license.

Deer Farms; Chronic Wasting Disease Testing

This rule clarifies current chronic wasting disease testing requirements for farm-raised deer. Under this rule, a deer farm operator must have a chronic wasting disease test performed on each of the following farm-raised deer that is at least 16 months old:

- A farm-raised deer that dies or is killed while kept by that person.
- A farm-raised deer that the person ships to slaughter.

Under current rules and this rule, the person who collects a test sample for a required chronic wasting disease test must be a certified veterinarian, a DATCP or federal employee, or a person that DATCP pre-approves in writing. The person must also complete training approved by DATCP. The person must collect the sample from the brain of the dead animal, according to standard veterinary procedures, and must submit the sample to a testing laboratory approved by DATCP and the United States department of agriculture (USDA-APHIS).

The person must normally collect the test sample before any part of the farm-raised deer carcass leaves the premises where the farm-raised deer died, or was killed or slaughtered. But a deer farm operator may separate the head from the carcass, and may ship the head to the person who collects the test sample from the brain, if the deer farm operator first identifies both the head and the carcass with official individual identification or a "dead tag" (see below).

Farm-Raised Deer; Carcass Identification

Under this rule, no person may remove any farm-raised deer carcass from a deer farm unless that carcass is identified with official individual identification, or with a "dead tag" issued by DATCP. A registered deer farm operator may purchase "dead tags" from DATCP at cost.

Under this rule, no part of a carcass may leave the premises unless every part of the carcass bears official individual identification or a dead tag, and the farm-raised deer keeper records and correlates all of the official individual identification and dead tag numbers assigned to that animal.

Deer Farm Records

This rule expands current record keeping requirements for deer farm operators. Under this rule:

- A deer farm operator must keep the following records related to each live farm-raised deer that leaves the herd other than for slaughter, or that enters the herd from another herd:
 - The official individual identification of the farm-raised deer.
 - The species, age and sex of the farm-raised deer.
 - The date on which the farm-raised deer entered or left the herd.
 - The name and address of the person from whom the person received, or to whom the person shipped, the farm-raised deer. The record shall also identify the person who had custody of the farm-raised deer during shipment.
 - The address of the herd from which the farm-raised deer originated, or to which it was shipped.
 - A copy of any certificate of veterinary inspection that accompanied the farm-raised deer.
- A deer farm operator must keep the following records related to each farm-raised deer that the operator ships live to slaughter:
 - The official individual identification of the farm-raised deer.
 - The species, age and sex of the farm-raised deer.
 - The date on which the operator shipped the farm-raised deer to slaughter.
 - The name and address of the slaughter facility.
 - The name and address of the person who transported the farm-raised deer to slaughter.
 - A copy of the slaughter movement document required under current rules (form VS-127 or equivalent).
 - Chronic wasting disease test results if required (testing is currently required, unless the animal is less than 16 months old).
- A deer farm operator must keep the following records related to every farm-raised deer that dies, or is killed or slaughtered, on the deer farm premises:
 - The species, age and sex of the farm-raised deer.
 - Any identification attached to the farm-raised deer.
 - The date on which the farm-raised deer died or was killed. If the farm-raised deer was found dead on the premises, the operator must record the date on which the farm-raised deer was found dead.
 - The disposition of the carcass, regardless of whether the carcass leaves the premises. If the carcass leaves the herd premises, the operator must record the official individual identification or "dead tag" number, the disposition date, and the name and address of the carcass recipient.

- Chronic wasting disease test results if testing is required under current rules (testing is currently required, unless the animal is less than 16 months old).
- A deer farm operator must retain these records for at least 5 years, and must make the records available to DATCP for inspection and copying upon request.

Deer Imports and Movement; Tuberculosis Status

Current rules regulate imports of cervids (including farm-raised deer) to this state. This rule modifies current import restrictions related to tuberculosis. Under this rule, imported cervids must originate from "tuberculosis free" or "tuberculosis qualified" herds, or must test negative on 2 pre-import tuberculosis tests (there are limited exemptions). Under current rules and this rule, cervids imported from "tuberculosis modified accredited states" must also be confined for tuberculosis testing following import.

Current rules also regulate the movement of farm-raised deer from deer farms in this state. This rule modifies current rules related to pre-movement tuberculosis testing and status, and exempts movements between locations that are part of the same registered deer farm.

Hunting Preserves; General

Under this rule, a person may not grant or offer to others, for consideration, the opportunity to hunt farm-raised deer on any premises unless all of the following apply:

- The person holds, for those premises, both a deer farm registration certificate (see above) and a hunting preserve certificate (see below) from DATCP.
- Farm-raised deer, when hunted, have unimpeded access to at least 80 acres of land.
- The person complies with applicable requirements under this rule.

Hunting Preserve Certificate

Under this rule, DATCP may issue a hunting preserve certificate for a registered deer farm. A hunting preserve certificate expires 10 years after it is issued (the deer farm registration must be renewed annually). A hunting preserve certificate is not transferable between persons or premises (new owners must obtain new certificates). A hunting preserve certificate is not valid unless the holder also holds a current annual deer farm registration certificate.

A person must apply for a hunting preserve certificate on a form provided by DATCP. The application must include all of the following:

- The applicant's name, address, and deer farm registration number.
- The address of the deer farm premises for which the applicant seeks a hunting preserve certificate.
- Documentation showing that farm-raised deer hunted on the premises will have unimpeded access to at least 80 acres of land.
- A nonrefundable fee of $150.

DATCP must grant or deny an application within 90 business days after DATCP receives a complete application. DATCP must inspect the premises before issuing a hunting preserve certificate, and may inspect relevant records as necessary.

Hunting Preserves; Chronic Wasting Disease Testing

Under this rule, a hunting preserve operator must have a chronic wasting disease test performed on every farm-raised deer at least 16 months old that is killed on the hunting preserve (see deer farm testing requirements above). The hunting preserve operator must inform the hunter of the test results.

Hunting Preserves; Animal Identification

Hunting preserves, like other deer farms, must comply with animal identification requirements (see above). This rule prohibits any person from removing, altering or tampering with an animal's official individual identification. Under this rule, no portion of a farm-raised deer carcass may leave a hunting preserve unless it bears official individual identification or a "dead tag" issued by DATCP (see above).

Hunting Preserves; Recordkeeping

This rule requires a hunting preserve operator to do all the following:

- Keep records required of other deer farm operators.
- Keep the following records related to each farm-raised deer that is killed on the hunting preserve:
 - The name and address of the person who killed the farm-raised deer.
 - The date when the farm-raised deer was killed, and the location of the premises where it was killed.

- The name and address of the person who collected the chronic wasting disease test sample from the farm-raised deer carcass.
 - The laboratory test reports from the chronic wasting disease test.
 - The disposition of the carcass.
 - The official individual identification or "dead tag" number attached to the carcass. If the carcass has both an official individual identification and a "dead tag," the record must include both numbers.
- Retain the required records for at least 5 years, and make them available to DATCP for inspection and copying upon request.

Hunting Preserves; Prohibited Conduct

Under this rule, no person operating a farm-raised deer hunting preserve may do any of the following:

- Violate or allow others to violate laws prohibiting "shining" of animals.
- Violate or assist any violation of DATCP animal health rules.

Animal Disease Quarantines

Under current rules, DATCP may quarantine animals to prevent or control diseases that may affect domestic or exotic animals. Under this rule, DATCP may quarantine animals to prevent or control diseases that may affect any animals (not just domestic or exotic animals), or to prevent or control diseases that may be transmitted from animals to humans.

Animal Imports; Health Certificate

Current rules prohibit a person from importing any of the following animals without a health certificate (certificate of veterinary inspection):

- Bovine animals (there are limited exemptions).
- Swine (there are limited exemptions).
- Equine animals (there are limited exemptions).
- Poultry.
- Sheep (except sheep imported to slaughter).
- Goats.
- Dogs or domestic cats.
- Circus, rodeo, racing or menagerie animals.
- Exotic ruminants and South American camelids (alpacas and llamas).
- Cervids (including deer and elk).

- Ratites (except ratites imported from a federal quarantine facility).

This rule extends the current health certificate requirement to animal species that are not covered by current rules. This rule prohibits a person from importing any animal without a health certificate. This rule continues current limited exemptions for domestic livestock, including exemptions for livestock imported directly to slaughter (farm-raised deer imported directly to slaughter must be tested for chronic wasting disease if they are at least 16 months old). This rule also exempts animals moved solely for veterinary treatment, animals moved to accredited zoos and aquariums, and invertebrates that are imported in compliance with DATCP pest control rules.

Alpacas and Llamas; Imports

Under current rules, a person must obtain a DATCP permit before importing an alpaca or llama. The person must have the animal tested for tuberculosis and brucellosis. A health certificate (certificate of veterinary inspection) must accompany the imported animal. This rule eliminates the permit, tuberculosis testing and brucellosis testing requirements, but retains the health certificate requirement.

Wild Animal Imports

This rule prohibits a person from importing a wild animal to this state unless all of the following apply:

- DATCP issues an import permit for that import. DATCP may not issue an import permit for an animal that DNR has designated as a "harmful wild animal" unless DNR also approves the import.
- A valid health certificate (certificate of veterinary inspection) accompanies the imported animal.

These wild animal import requirements do not apply to invertebrates imported in compliance with DATCP pest control laws. Nor do they apply to domestic animals (see list above). However, domestic animals are subject to other import regulations under current rules and this rule.

This rule prohibits imports of prairie dogs and certain African rodents that have been implicated in the spread of "monkey pox." However, DATCP may issue an import permit if one of the following applies:

- The animal is imported directly to an accredited zoo.
- The animal is imported directly to a bona fide research facility.
- The animal is imported directly to a veterinary facility for treatment, or is returning directly from treatment at a veterinary facility.

Animal Dealers

Before the Captive Wildlife Law was enacted, DATCP licensed "livestock dealers" ("livestock" includes bovine animals, sheep, goats, swine, farm-raised deer, equines and other farm animals). The Captive Wildlife Law changed the "livestock dealer" license to an "animal dealer" license.

DATCP now licenses "animal dealers" who deal in livestock or wild animals. Captive white-tail deer are now considered "livestock" (farm-raised deer). This rule modifies current rules to reflect this expanded coverage. This rule also clarifies and reorganizes current licensing requirements. Under this rule:

- A person must be annually licensed by DATCP, as an animal dealer, if the person does any of the following (see exemptions below):
 - Engages in the business of buying livestock or wild animals for resale, slaughter or exchange.
 - Engages in the business of selling or exchanging livestock or wild animals.
 - Engages in the business of leasing out livestock or wild animals to others.
- The following persons are exempt from licensing as animal dealers:
 - An employee of a licensed animal dealer who acts solely on behalf of that licensed animal dealer.
 - A farm operator who buys or exchanges livestock solely for dairy, breeding or feeding operations on that farm, or who sells only livestock produced on that farm.
 - An animal market operator licensed by DATCP.
 - The operator of a licensed meat establishment who buys livestock solely for slaughter at that meat establishment.
 - The holder of a DNR captive wildlife license who buys, sells or exchanges wild animals pursuant to the license, solely for purposes of the licensed operation.
- A person must do all the following to obtain an animal dealer license (no change from current rules):
 - Submit a complete license application.
 - Pay an annual license fee of $115 (no change from current rules).
 - Obtain an animal trucker license, if the person also operates as an animal trucker (see below).
 - Register all vehicles that the person uses to transport animals.
 - Pass a test administered by DATCP. No test is required for the renewal of an existing license.
- DATCP must grant or deny a license application within 30 business days after the applicant submits a complete application and takes any required test (no change from current rules).
- DATCP may deny, suspend or revoke a license, including violation of animal health or humane laws (no change from current rules).

- An animal dealer must do all of the following (this rule reorganizes, but does not change, current rules):
 - Maintain the animal dealer premises in a clean and sanitary condition.
 - Provide adequate food, water, shelter, bedding and pen space for all animals held more than 12 hours.
 - Properly identify animals.
 - Keep proper records.
 - Handle animals in a humane manner.
 - Comply with applicable requirements related to animal transport vehicles (see below).
 - Refrain from commingling animals of different species within the same vehicle or enclosure.
- This rule prohibits an animal dealer from accepting delivery of animals from an unlicensed animal trucker, or shipping animals via an unlicensed animal trucker.

Animal Market Operators

Before the Captive Wildlife Law was enacted, DATCP licensed "livestock market operators" ("livestock" includes bovine animals, sheep, goats, swine, farm-raised deer, equines and other farm animals). The Captive Wildlife Law changed the "livestock market operator" license to an "animal market operator" license.

DATCP now licenses "animal market operators" who operate market facilities that are open to the public for the purpose of trading in livestock or wild animals. Captive white-tail deer are now considered "livestock" (farm-raised deer). This rule modifies current rules to reflect this expanded coverage. This rule also clarifies and reorganizes current licensing requirements. Under this rule:

- No person may operate an animal market without an annual license from DATCP. A separate license is required for each animal market (no change from current rules).
- An animal market operator may apply for a Class A, Class B or Class E animal market license (no change from current rules):
 - At a class A animal market, an operator may conduct livestock and wild animal sales on any number of days during the license year.
 - At a class B animal market, an operator may conduct livestock sales on no more than 4 days during the license year. An operator may not conduct wildlife sales at a class B animal market.
 - At a class E animal market, an operator may conduct sales of equine animals on any number of days during the license year. An operator may not conduct sales of any other livestock or any wild animals at a class E animal market.

- A person must do all the following to obtain an animal market license (no change from current rules):
 - Submit a complete license application.
 - Pay an annual license fee. The fee is $225 for a class A market, $115 for a class B market, and $150 for a class E market (no change from current rules).
 - Obtain an animal trucker license, if the person also operates as an animal trucker (see below).
 - Register all vehicles that the person uses to transport animals.
 - Pass a test administered by DATCP. No test is required for the renewal of an existing license.

- DATCP must act on a license application within 30 business days after the applicant submits a complete application and takes any required test (no change from current rules). DATCP must inspect a class A market before licensing that market for the first time. If an inspection is required, DATCP has an additional 60 days to act on the license application.
 - DATCP may deny, suspend or revoke a license for cause, including violation of animal health or humane laws (no change from current rules).

- An animal market operator must do all the following (this rule reorganizes, but does not change, current rules):
 - Comply with animal market construction standards.
 - Keep the animal market in a clean and sanitary condition.
 - Provide adequate food, water, shelter, bedding and pen space for all animals held more than 12 hours.
 - Properly identify animals.
 - Keep proper records.
 - Handle animals in a humane manner.
 - Remove animals from the animal market premises within 4 days after they enter the market (some special provisions apply).
 - Comply with applicable requirements related to animal transport vehicles (see below).
 - Refrain from commingling animals of different species in the same enclosure.

- This rule prohibits an animal dealer from accepting delivery of animals from an unlicensed animal trucker, or shipping animals via an unlicensed animal trucker.

Animal Truckers

Before the Captive Wildlife Law was enacted, DATCP licensed "livestock truckers" ("livestock" included bovine animals, sheep, goats, swine, farm-raised deer, equines and other farm animals). The Captive Wildlife Law changed the "livestock trucker" license to an "animal trucker" license.

DATCP now licenses "animal truckers" who transport livestock or wild animals for hire.

Captive white-tail deer are now considered "livestock" (farm-raised deer). This rule modifies current rules to reflect this expanded coverage. This rule also clarifies and reorganizes current license requirements. Under this rule:

- A person must be annually licensed by DATCP, as an animal trucker, if the person transports livestock or wild animals for hire. The following persons are exempt from licensing as animal truckers:
 - An employee of a licensed animal trucker who transports animals solely on behalf of the license holder, in vehicles registered by the license holder.
 - Persons who are solely engaged in transporting their own animals.
 - Persons who are solely engaged in the following activities:
 - * Hauling animals on an occasional basis for persons participating in a livestock exhibition, fair, trail ride, youth livestock event or similar activity.
 - * Hauling animals on an incidental basis in connection with another business, such as a veterinary practice or a stable operation, does not ordinarily involve the sale of animals.
 - * Hauling animals for other persons fewer than 6 times per year.
- A person must do all the following to obtain a license (no change from current rules):
 - Submit a complete license application.
 - Pay license fees. There is a basic annual fee of $30, plus a $10 fee for each vehicle used to transport livestock or wild animals (no fee change from current rules).
 - Register all vehicles used to transport livestock or wild animals.
 - Pass a test administered by DATCP. No test is required for the renewal of an existing license.
- DATCP must act on a license application within 30 business days after the applicant submits a complete application and takes any required test (no change from current rules).
- DATCP may deny, suspend or revoke a license for cause, including violation of animal health or humane laws (no change from current rules).
- An animal trucker must do all of the following (this rule reorganizes, but does not change, current rules):
 - Maintain properly equipped vehicles.
 - Properly identify animals.
 - Keep proper records.
 - Transport and handle animals in a safe and humane manner.
- An animal trucker may not:

- Commingle different animal species on the same transport vehicle.
- Transport diseased or downer animals with healthy animals on the same transport vehicle (there is a limited exception for slaughter shipments).

Animal Transport Vehicles

Under current rules and this rule, an animal dealer, animal market operator or animal trucker must register every vehicle that the person uses to transport livestock or wild animals. The operator must register annually and pay an annual fee of $10 per vehicle. DATCP must grant or deny a registration application within 30 business days after the person submits a complete application.

Under current rules and this rule, the following requirements apply to every vehicle that an animal dealer, animal market operator or animal trucker uses to transport livestock or wild animals:

- The vehicle must be properly identified with the operator's name and business address, the operator's DATCP license number(s), and the DATCP vehicle registration number.
- The vehicle must be properly constructed and equipped to handle each type of animal transported.
- The vehicle must be kept in a clean and sanitary condition.

Fiscal Impact

This rule will not have a significant fiscal impact on DATCP or local units of government.

Business Impact

This rule primarily affects deer farmers, hunting preserve operators, game-bird farm operators, and businesses that import, sell or move animals. Many of these businesses are “small businesses.” This rule adds regulatory requirements for some businesses, but these requirements are necessary for animal disease control and not expected to impose an undue burden. The new Captive Wildlife Law mandates some of the requirements.

In some cases, this rule gives affected businesses wider latitude to choose a preferred method of compliance. This rule modifies current tuberculosis testing requirements, so that it will be easier for deer farm operators to comply. This rule will benefit affected businesses by clarifying regulatory requirements, and coordinating DATCP and DNR regulation.

Regulation in Surrounding States

Regulation of captive wild animals and animal imports varies from state to state. Most surrounding states indicate that they are implementing stricter regulation and tracking of non-livestock animals.

The surrounding states have a wide spectrum of regulations in the areas covered by this rule, and in some areas they are in the process of modifying their regulations. DATCP has prepared a table summarizing related regulations in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, and Michigan.

Federal Regulations

USDA-APHIS has established regulatory programs and standards related to certain diseases and animal movements, including standards related to tuberculosis testing of cervids moved between states. This rule is consistent with applicable federal regulations. This rule incorporates, by reference, standards established in the National Poultry Improvement Plan. Flock enrollment is voluntary, but state and federal regulations may limit the sale and movement of birds from flocks that are not enrolled.

USDA-APHIS coordinates state regulation of animal movement between states, including state requirements related to the preparation and filing of certificates of veterinary inspection. This rule is consistent with the national coordinated system. Under this rule, DATCP is the Wisconsin clearinghouse for disease reporting and certificates of veterinary inspection. DATCP coordinates with DNR on disease reports, import permits and certificates of veterinary inspection related to captive wild animals.
