

ORDER OF THE STATE OF WISCONSIN NATURAL RESOURCES BOARD
REPEALING AND RECREATING AND CREATING RULES

The Wisconsin Natural Resources Board proposes an order to repeal and recreate ch. NR 8 Title, and to create NR 8, subch. I Title and NR 8, subch. II relating to implementation of the wildlife violator compact

LE-07-07

Analysis Prepared by the Department of Natural Resources

1. Statutory Authority and Explanation:

Section 29.03, Stats., provides the department with the authority to enter into a Wildlife Violator Compact with other states. Section 29.972, Stats., provides the department with the authority to promulgate rules establishing the procedures to be followed for sharing of information on wildlife-related arrests and the revocation of hunting, fishing and trapping license privileges between Wisconsin and other states participating as member of the compact.

2. Statutes Interpreted and Explanation:

Section 29.03, Stats, adopts the current provisions of the Wildlife Violator Compact, which outlines the procedures each state must follow when they become a participant in the compact with regards to sharing of arrest records and the revocation of hunting, fishing or trapping licenses. Rules are needed to establish the procedures necessary to implement the compact. Section 29.972, Stats., created under 2005 Wis. Act 282 requires the department to deny an application to issue or renew, or revoke if already issued, all hunting, fishing, or trapping approvals issued to a person under ch. 29, Stats., if the person is charged with a wildlife-related violation in this state and does not take care of the matter by appearing in court or posting the required penalty. This section requires the department to promulgate rules that establish the procedures to be followed for the revocation of hunting, fishing and trapping license privileges and approvals under these circumstances. In addition to establishing procedures for the revocation of license privileges and approvals, the department must establish procedures for:

- exchange of information between the department, the district attorneys, and the clerks of court.
- providing notice to the person who is subject to the revocation and their opportunity for an administrative appeal to the department.

3. Related Statute or Rule: Sections 23.54(3)(k), 23.55(2)(c), 23.63(2), 29.99, 814.76(20), 814.77(16) and 973.05(2m), Stats.

4. Plain Language Rule Analysis:

SECTION 1 repeals the title of Chapter NR 8, Wis. Adm. Code which was "Standards and procedures for the automated license issuance system" and recreates it to read "License and permit procedures".

SECTIONS 2 and 3 create 2 subchapters within ch. NR 8, Wis. Adm. Code. Subchapter I contains the original language and sections found in ch. NR 8, Wis. Adm. Code related to the standards and procedures for the automated license issuance system. Subchapter II contains the new rules establishing procedures for the revocation of hunting, fishing and trapping approvals as required by the Wildlife Violator Compact and s. 29.972, Stats. Subchapter II creates definitions and establishes the procedures to be followed by the clerk of the circuit courts and the Department's Wildlife Violator Compact Administrator when a violator fails to pay or appear in court, and when a persons hunting, fishing or trapping privileges or approvals are revoked. More specifically, these rules establish procedures to be followed by the clerks and the Department's Wildlife Violator Compact Administrator when a person who is charged with a violation of a wildlife-related law in this state or a state that is a member of the Wildlife Violator Compact and fails to pay or appear in court. These rules establish revocation related notification requirements and acknowledgement of compliance notification requirements. This order also establishes the term of a revocation for failure to pay or appear in court and when a person is entitled to the opportunity for an administrative appeal of a revocation made by the department under s. 29.972, Stats.

To comply with the due process requirements of s. 29.03(4)(a), Stats., these rules require that when a person violates a wildlife-related law and is issued a citation pursuant to s. 23.53, Stats., or served a complaint and summons pursuant s. 23.55, Stats., the issuing officer or the District Attorney issuing the complaint and summons shall provide the violator with a written notice that informs the violator that Wisconsin is a member of the Wildlife Violator Compact and what the ramifications will be if their hunting, fishing or trapping privileges or approvals are revoked in this state, or if they fail to appear in court, pay the required penalty or otherwise fail to resolve the charges.

Lastly, this order clarifies that any revocations or convictions occurring or imposed in this state prior to the effective date of this rule or the date the state becomes a participant of the Wildlife Violator Compact pursuant to s. 29.03(8)(c), Stats., which ever is later, are not be subject to the these new rules or the provisions of the Wildlife Violator Compact.

5. Summary of and preliminary comparison with existing or proposed federal regulation that is intended to address the activities to be regulated by the proposed rule.

There are no existing federal regulations that affect the proposed rules.

6. Comparison of similar rules in adjacent states (Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Michigan)

All of the adjacent states have joined the Wildlife Violator Compact as a participating state, along with 22 other states to date. The states of Arkansas and Kentucky, like Wisconsin, have also passed authorizing legislation and are working toward joining the compact. Most of the member states have adopted the Wildlife Violator Compact Manual under their state statute as Wisconsin has done. Some states, such as Iowa, have also implemented administrative rules to establish procedures for implementing the provisions of the compact. Twelve other states are in the process of seeking legislation to authorize them to become a member state.

The administrative rules created by the State of Iowa, like this rule order, created definitions, established a 30 day period from time of notification until the revocation would take effect, created a requirement that violator's be advised in writing of revocations and the circumstances which resulted in the revocation, the effective date of the revocation, how to avoid the revocation and what issues are subject to appeal. Iowa's rules also establish reinstatement provisions and uses first class mail sent to the violator's last known address as the method of notification. Iowa's rules also require a notice be sent to the violator, confirming when the matter has been resolved and impose hunting, trapping or fishing privilege revocation in that state when a person is revoked in any other member state, including the requirement that the revocation information be entered into their departments records.

States that are currently members of the Wildlife Violator Compact include: Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Washington, Wyoming

7. Summary of the factual data and analytical methodologies that the agency used in support of the proposed rule and how any related findings support the regulatory approach chosen for the proposed rule:

The department has reviewed the laws and rules in place in the surrounding participating states and has contacted the district attorneys and clerks of courts associations.

8. Analysis and supporting documentation that the agency used in support of the agency's determination of the rules effect on small businesses under s. 227.114, stats or that was used when the agency prepared an economic impact report:

This rule does not regulate small business and is not anticipated to have any significant effect on them.

9. Effects on Small Businesses including how rule will be enforced:

This rule is not anticipated to have any significant effect on small businesses.
