Three-year initial licenses designated business and office--vocational, trades and industry--vocational (including drafting or power mechanics or industrial wood-working or building construction or metal working or electronics--electricity or graphic arts), distributive education--vocational, and home economics--vocational (including care and guidance of children or clothing management, production, and services or food management, production, and services or home furnishings, equipment, and services or institutional and home management and supporting services) may be issued.

- (a) Applicants must complete a 34-semester hour major in business education, industrial education, distributive education, or home economics. A course in principles, issues, or philosophy of vocational education must be completed.
- (b) Certification designated business and office--vocational and trades and industry--vocational requires related occupational experience totaling 2,000 hours completed during the 10-year period preceding the application for vocational licensure.
- (c) Certification designated distributive education--vocational requires related occupational experience totaling 4,000 hours completed during the 10-year period preceding the application for vocational licensure.
- (d) Certification designated home economics--vocational requires related occupational experience totaling 2,000 hours with at least 1,000 of these hours in one of the five areas of concentration completed during the 10-year period preceding application for home economics--vocational licensure.
- (e) The required occupational experience can be met in any of the following ways:
 - (1) Paid occupational experience in related occupations.

- (2) State-approved collegiate occupational internship (directed field experience) resulting in college credit.* One hour of paid occupational internship counts as three hours of occupational experience.

NOTE: Up to two-fifths of the occupational experience may be secured by earning university graduate credits in technical subjects or in workshops, specifically related to the area of concentration, one semester hour counting as 95 clock hours of occupational experience and one clock hour of approved workshop experience counting as up to three clock hours of occupational experience. Workshops must have prior approval of the State Superintendent.

- (f) The initial license is for three years. At its expiration, applicants may apply for another three-year license* or for a five-year renewable certificate. To be eligible for the five-year credential, the applicant must have completed:

- (1) three years of successful teaching in a position requiring Wisconsin vocational certification for the subjects endorsed on the three-year license, and
- (2) received 3 semester credits in technical course work, specifically related to the vocational program. (95 clock hours of occupational experience, specifically related to the area of concentration, can count as the equivalent of one semester credit or one clock hour of approved workshop experience can count as three clock hours of occupational experience.)

*To renew a three-year initial license, the 3 semester credits in technical course work or its equivalent must be completed.

- (g) The five-year certificate can be renewed by verifying completion of five semester credits in technical course work, specifically related to the vocational program. (Occupational experience or workshop attendance can be substituted for college credit totally or in part under the guidelines for equivalency listed in B. above.)
- (h) There is no unlimited certification in certification categories designated vocational.
