The Registry, the Wisconsin Afterschool Network, and a few child care providers submitted comments not directed related to economic impact that will be considered following the public hearing. In response to a comment on the economic impact by the Registry, the department is planning to extend the timeframe for individuals to update their Registry certificates from 6 months to one year.

11. Identify the local governmental units that participated in the development of this EIA.

No comments were received.

12. Summary of Rule's Economic and Fiscal Impact on Specific Businesses, Business Sectors, Public Utility Rate Payers, Local Governmental Units and the State's Economy as a Whole (Include Implementation and Compliance Costs Expected to be Incurred)

The department's proposed rules do not have any negative economic impact on certification agencies or child care providers, although some rule changes or the elimination of some rules may have a positive economic impact. The proposed licensing rules expand staff qualifications to include additional types of allowable education and/or experience and the number of hours providers may work has been increased. Additionally, the proposed rules incorporate current statutory requirements.
