Figure 2H-2. Examples of General Directional Guide Signs for Conventional Roads

This figure shows nine examples of general directional guide signs for conventional roads. The illustrations show horizontal rectangular or trapezoidal brown signs with white words, symbols, arrows, and borders.

with the words “YELLOWSTONE” on the top line, “NATIONAL PARK” on the middle line, and “2 MILES” on the bottom line.

The ninth illustration shows a horizontal rectangular sign with the words “VA National” on the top line, “Cemetery” on the middle line, and “EXIT 245” on the bottom line.
