Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a participant in the Wisconsin retirement system (WRS), whose marriage is terminated by a court on or after April 28, 1990, may have his or her benefits under the WRS divided pursuant to a qualified domestic relations order. A qualified domestic relations order is a judgment, decree or order issued by a court pursuant to a domestic relations law of any state or territory of the United States that meets certain criteria. This bill provides that a participant in the WRS whose marriage was terminated by a court during the period that begins on January 1, 1982, and ends on April 27, 1990, and for whom the department of employe trust funds receives a qualified domestic relations order after the effective date of the bill, may also have his or her WRS benefits divided, but only with respect to the payment of future benefits.

This bill will be referred to the joint survey committee on retirement systems for a detailed analysis, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
