February 3, 1997 - Introduced by Representatives GREEN and R. POTTER, cosponsored by Senators PLACHE and FARROW. Referred to Committee on State Affairs.

3 3., 13.68 (1) (e), 13.68 (5), 13.69 (6m) and 20.521 (1) (i); and to create 13.62 (14),
4 13.64 (1) (f), 13.67, 13.68 (1) (bn), 13.68 (2) (b), 13.75 (5) and 19.48 (10) of the
5 statutes; relating to: reporting by principals with respect to certain lobbying
6 activities, voluntary registration by certain persons with the ethics board,
7 compilation and use of certain information provided to the ethics board, making
8 an appropriation and providing a penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, each principal (person who employs a lobbyist) must report to the state ethics board after the end of each 6-month reporting period the number, subject matter and specific issues addressed in each legislative proposal or administrative rule on which the principal has attempted to influence legislative or administrative action. Each lobbyist who is employed by a principal must also report this information to the principal. The principal forwards information received from its lobbyists to the state ethics board. Violators are subject to a forfeiture (civil penalty) not exceeding $5,000 for each violation. A principal who or which files a statement that the principal does not believe is true may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than 5 years, or both.

ASSEMBLY BILL 57

This bill deletes this reporting requirement and substitutes a requirement for each principal who or which is not exempt from registration to report to the ethics board when the principal registers, or thereafter within 5 working days after making a lobbying communication with respect to any legislative proposal or proposed administrative rule not previously reported, each bill or proposed rule number with respect to which the principal has made or intends to make a lobbying communication. If the bill or proposed rule accounts for 5% or more of its lobbying time in a reporting period, the principal must, on its semiannual report, provide an estimate of the proportion of its lobbying time associated with that proposal. With respect to the executive budget bill or bills, the bill requires a principal to identify, from a list of topics provided by the ethics board, each topic that accounts for 5% or more of the principal's lobbying time during the reporting period and provide a reasonable estimate of the proportion of its lobbying time associated with that topic. The report must be made in such manner as the ethics board prescribes. Violators are subject to the same penalties that currently apply to filing of false statements by principals.

The bill also deletes requirements that a principal identify in its report:

1. Any amounts paid to the principal's clerical employes for lobbying activities.
2. The time and resources spent on each attempt to influence legislative action or rule making in each subject area. Under the bill, a principal need only include a daily itemization of the time spent on lobbying activities.
3. The number of hours that the principal's clerical employes and unpaid volunteers spend on lobbying activities.
4. Travel and living expenses for unpaid volunteers if the primary purpose for the travel is unrelated to lobbying.

The bill directs the ethics board to compile and make available information filed with the board in ways designed to facilitate access to the information and permits the board to charge a fee for making available such information, except that the board is not permitted to charge a fee for inspecting records at its office. Currently, the board may charge only for the actual, necessary and direct costs of reproduction of a record, or the cost of locating a record if the cost of location is $50 or more.

The bill also authorizes any person, including any organization who or which is not required to register with the ethics board as a principal, to voluntarily register an interest in a bill or proposed administrative rule by payment of a $10 fee.

In addition, the bill directs the department of administration to provide technical and administrative support to the ethics board, and to cooperate with the board, to effect implementation of the requirements created by the bill.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
