4 and game approval applications, campsite reservation applications and
5 subscription requests.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, state agencies, including the department of natural resources (DNR), must release certain information to a third party upon that party's request. This bill creates an exception to this requirement.

Under this bill, DNR is prohibited from disclosing certain personal information on any list that it furnishes to another person, if the list contains personal information about ten or more individuals, the personal information concerns an individual who has requested that DNR keep that information off the list and the personal information was obtained by DNR from an application for a fish or game license or permit or other fish or game approval (approval), from a reservation application for a campsite in a state campground or from a request to obtain a subscription from DNR. The bill provides that a person may give notice to DNR that he or she does not want his or her personal information included on such a list by making a declaration when he or she applies for an approval or campsite reservation from DNR or requests a subscription from DNR. A person may also give notice to DNR that he or she does not want personal information included on a list by requesting a form from DNR for the purpose of making this declaration.

ASSEMBLY BILL 596

The bill provides that DNR must include a place on its approval and campsite reservation application forms and on its subscription forms for an individual to declare that his or her personal information may not be disclosed on the list. The forms must also include a statement indicating the effect of such a declaration and a place for the individual to reverse his or her declaration. DNR must also ask an individual who applies for an approval or campsite reservation or requests a subscription by telephone or other electronic means if the individual wants to make this declaration or reverse a declaration and must advise them of the effect of making the declaration.
