11 statutes of the equal rights programs administered by the department of 12 workforce development and reorganizing certain statutes concerning 13 vocational rehabilitation (suggested as remedial legislation by the department 14 of workforce development).

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the department of workforce development (DWD) administers certain equal rights programs, including programs to prohibit discrimination in housing, discrimination in the enjoyment of public places of accommodation or amusement, discrimination in public education, discrimination in postsecondary education and discrimination or retaliation against a person who reports elder abuse or who provides information relating to an alleged violation by a long-term care facility to a state official, including the long-term care ombudsman. Currently, the statutory provisions governing those equal rights programs are located in chapter 106 of the statutes, which is entitled “Apprentice and Employment Programs” and, within that chapter, are located in subchapter II, which is entitled “Employment Programs”. This bill changes the title of chapter 106 of the statutes to “Apprentice, Employment and Equal Rights Programs”, creates a new subchapter III within that chapter entitled “Equal Rights Programs” and renumbers the equal rights provisions of chapter 106 to place those provisions under the new subchapter created by the bill.

Under current law, DWD administers the vocational rehabilitation program and specialized programs for persons with disabilities. This bill reorganizes the statutes related to vocational rehabilitation and specialized programs for persons with disabilities so that they appear in the order in which they are typically applied.

ASSEMBLY BILL 640
