Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law requires a school board to allow a pupil enrolled in a home-based private educational program who meets the admission standards to attend up to two courses at a public school in the school district each semester if there is sufficient space in the classroom. The pupil is counted as 0.25 pupil for state aid purposes for each course he or she takes if the pupil is attending a public school outside his or her school district of residence.

This bill eliminates these provisions. The bill provides that a school district operating grades 9 to 12 must allow a pupil enrolled in a home-based private educational program who meets the standards for admission to high school, to take up to two courses each semester if the pupil resides in the school district and there is sufficient space in the classroom. The pupils are counted on a full-time equivalency basis for state aid purposes.
