Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill is explained in the NOTES provided by the Joint Legislative Council in the bill.

Because this bill creates a new crime or revises a penalty for an existing crime, the Joint Review Committee on Criminal Penalties may be requested to prepare a report concerning the proposed penalty and the costs or savings that are likely to result if the bill is enacted.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

LAW REVISION COMMITTEE PREFATORY NOTE: This bill was prepared for the Joint Legislative Council's Special Committee on Legal Interventions for Persons With Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias.

Overview

The bill creates a new subchapter in ch. 55 titled "Care and Treatment for Individuals With Dementia." The subchapter applies to the provision of behavioral and psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services and treatment and the involuntary administration of psychotropic medication to individuals with dementia to address or alleviate symptoms or conditions associated with dementia, mental illness, and other psychiatric conditions.

The bill specifies that individuals with dementia generally are not subject to ch. 51 emergency detention and involuntary commitment procedures. The bill creates alternative procedures within ch. 55 under which individuals with dementia may be protectively placed in or transferred to dementia crisis units, in a planned manner or in an emergency situation, for the purpose of behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment.

"Dementia" is defined under the bill for purposes of chs. 51 and 55 as deterioration or loss of intellectual faculties, reasoning power, memory, and will due to organic brain disease characterized by confusion, disorientation, apathy, or stupor of varying degrees that is not capable of being reversed and from which recovery is impossible. Dementia includes, but is not limited to, Alzheimer's disease.

"Dementia crisis unit" is defined as a unit or part of a unit of a public or private facility that has been identified by a county department as qualified and equipped to provide, and competent in providing, diagnosis, evaluation, and treatment of dementia and medical, psychiatric, and behavioral care to individuals with dementia and that provides a therapeutic environment that is appropriate for, and designed to prevent harm to, individuals with dementia. Medical facilities need not be located on the premises, but the capacity to provide diagnosis and treatment for medical conditions must be available.

Applicability of Ch. 51 Emergency Detention, Involuntary Commitment, and Conversion to Individuals With Dementia

The bill specifies that "mental illness," for purposes of ch. 51 involuntary commitment, does not include dementia.

The bill specifies that a law enforcement officer may take a person into custody for emergency detention under ch. 51 only if, based on observation and currently available information, the individual does not appear to have dementia.

The bill specifies that a person who has dementia or who, based on observation and currently available information, appears to have dementia, may not be involuntarily committed under ch. 51 unless he or she is competent.

Under current law, if the court determines, after a hearing on probable cause for involuntary commitment under ch. 51, that there is probable cause to believe that the subject individual is a fit subject for guardianship and protective placement or services, the court may appoint a temporary guardian and order temporary protective placement or services under ch. 55 for a period not to exceed 30 days, and must proceed as if a petition had been made for guardianship and protective placement or services. This procedure is commonly referred to as a "conversion" from ch. 51 to ch. 55. Under current law, if the individual is in a ch. 51 treatment facility at the time of conversion, the individual may remain in the facility during the period of temporary protective placement if no other appropriate facility is available.

The bill specifies that if an individual is in a ch. 51 treatment facility at the time of conversion, and the individual has or appears to have dementia, the individual may remain in that facility only if the facility is identified by a county as a dementia crisis unit, as described below, and the unit provides an environment that is appropriate for the individual.

Requirement That Corporation Counsel Assist in Prosecuting Conversion Cases

Current law provides that the corporation counsel of the county in which a petition under ch. 55 is brought may, or if requested by the court, must, assist in conducting proceedings under this chapter.

The bill specifies that the corporation counsel of the county in which a petition under ch. 55 is brought must assist in conducting ch. 55 proceedings if both of the following are true: (a) the proceedings were initiated under ch. 51 and subsequently converted to ch. 55 proceedings; and (b) the subject individual has dementia.

County Designation of Dementia Crisis Unit for Emergency and Temporary Protective Placements

The bill requires each county department to identify at least one location as a dementia crisis unit for the purpose of emergency and temporary protective placement for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment. The county may not identify a location as a dementia crisis unit unless it finds that the location is qualified and equipped to provide, and competent in providing, the diagnosis, evaluation and treatment of dementia and medical, psychiatric, and behavioral care to individuals with dementia and it provides a therapeutic environment that is appropriate for, and designed to prevent harm to, individuals with dementia. Medical facilities need not be located on the premises, but the capacity to provide diagnosis and treatment for medical conditions must be available.

The bill requires the county department to solicit information and advice from the public, including family caregivers of individuals with dementia, organizations concerned with Alzheimer's disease and dementia, the treatment of mental illness or the provision of long-term care, and any other appropriate individuals or organizations, to aid it in carrying out its responsibility to designate one or more locations as dementia crisis units.

The county department must implement a procedure to periodically review and update the designation of one or more locations as dementia crisis units as necessary and appropriate.

County and Department of Health Services Reports

The bill requires each county department to prepare and submit a report to the Department of Health Services (DHS) that identifies each location that it has designated as a dementia crisis unit for the purpose of emergency and temporary protective placements. The report must specify the capacity of each designated unit, describe the process used to solicit information and advice from the public and summarize the information and advice received. The report must be updated whenever the county newly designates a unit or revokes a unit's designation.

The bill also requires each county department to annually prepare and submit a report to DHS that states the total number of petitions for emergency protective placement or temporary transfer of an individual with dementia to a dementia crisis unit filed in the county and the total number of those petitions that resulted in a placement in a dementia crisis unit.

The bill requires DHS, by June 30 of each even-numbered year, to submit to the legislature a report that includes all of the following:

(a) Identification of the dementia crisis units designated by counties and the capacity of those units, as provided in reports submitted to DHS by county departments.

(b) A summary of the procedures used by counties to solicit information and advice from the public when making dementia crisis unit designations, as provided in reports submitted to DHS by county departments.

(c) A summary of the information provided to DHS by counties regarding the number of petitions filed for emergency protective placement or temporary transfer of an individual with dementia to a dementia crisis unit.

IAPM as an Emergency Protective Service for Individuals With Dementia

Current Law

Under current law, involuntary administration of psychotropic medication (IAPM) may be ordered as a protective service under s. 55.14. "Involuntary administration of psychotropic medication" means any of the following:

1. Placing psychotropic medication in an individual's food or drink with knowledge that the individual protests receipt of the psychotropic medication.

2. Forcibly restraining an individual to enable administration of psychotropic medication.

3. Requiring an individual to take psychotropic medication as a condition of receiving privileges or benefits.

Under current law, all of the requirements applicable to a petition for protective services must be met, including the filing of a petition for guardianship if the individual does not already have a guardian. In addition, a petition continuing extensive allegations specific to the issue of IAPM must be filed, a guardian ad litem must make a report to the court, the individual's physician must provide a detailed written statement, and the individual has a right to an independent medical or psychological examination. The court must hold a hearing on the petition for IAPM within 30 days. If the individual does not already have a guardian, a petition for guardianship must be heard, and a guardian appointed, before the hearing on the petition for IAPM. IAPM may not begin until the court has issued the order.

Under current law, emergency protective services may be provided to an individual for up to 72 hours, without a court order, if there is reason to believe that if those services are not provided, the individual, or others, will incur a substantial risk of serious physical harm. The services may not be provided for longer than 72 hours unless a petition for protective services is filed, a hearing is held, and the court finds probable cause to believe the criteria for the provision of protective services exist. If the individual is not under guardianship, a petition for guardianship must accompany the petition for protective services.

There is some disagreement as to whether, under current law, IAPM may be provided as an emergency protective service under s. 55.135.

The Bill

The bill creates a procedure under which IAPM may be provided as an emergency protective service to an individual with dementia, or a person who, based on observation and currently available information, appears to have dementia. The bill specifies that IAPM may be provided as an emergency protective service to these individuals only by following the procedures created in the bill.

The bill does not specify whether, or by what procedures, IAPM may be provided as an emergency protective service to individuals who do not have, or do not appear to have, dementia.

Under the bill, IAPM may be provided as an emergency protective service for an individual with dementia only if all of the following are true:

(a) A physician has prescribed the psychotropic medication for the individual.

(b) The individual is not competent to refuse psychotropic medication. "Not competent to refuse psychotropic medication" means that, as a result of dementia, serious and persistent mental illness, or other like incapacities, and after the advantages and disadvantages of and alternatives to accepting the particular psychotropic medication have been explained to an individual, one of the following is true:

(1) The individual is incapable of expressing an understanding of the advantages and disadvantages of accepting treatment and the alternatives to accepting treatment.

(2) The individual is substantially incapable of applying an understanding of the advantages and disadvantages of accepting treatment and the alternatives to accepting treatment to his or her condition in order to make an informed choice as to whether to accept or refuse psychotropic medication.

(c) The individual's condition for which psychotropic medication has been prescribed is likely to be improved by administration of psychotropic medication and the individual is likely to respond positively to psychotropic medication.

(d) Unless psychotropic medication is administered involuntarily, the individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to others.

(e) If the individual is not currently placed in a dementia crisis unit, unless psychotropic medication is administered involuntarily, there is a substantial likelihood that the individual may be subject to involuntary admission to a dementia crisis unit for psychiatric treatment.

(f) If the individual resides in a nursing home, community-based residential facility, adult family home, or residential care apartment complex ("a facility"), all of the following are true:

1. A physical examination of the individual has been conducted, and a physician has determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that the behavior is not caused by a physical condition or illness that could be treated successfully by means other than psychotropic medication.

2. The facility has made reasonable efforts to address or accommodate the behavior or condition for which IAPM is requested and these efforts are documented in the individual's plan of care.

3. The facility has prepared detailed documentation of the behaviors or condition of the individual leading to the request for IAPM.

(g) The individual meets the standards for protective services under s. 55.08 (2).

If the individual is under guardianship, a good faith effort to obtain the consent of the guardian must be made before IAPM is provided as an emergency protective service.

A county department or agency with which the county department contracts that provides IAPM as an emergency protective service to an individual must immediately file a petition for IAPM to the individual as a protective service under s. 55.14. The petition must meet all of the requirements of s. 55.14. (The bill makes changes to the required contents of a petition for IAPM as a protective service for an individual with dementia. Those changes are described below.)

The petition must be served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal counsel and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department.

A preliminary hearing must be held within 72 hours of administration of the first dose of psychotropic medication, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays, to establish probable cause that the criteria under s. 55.14 are present.

The county department or agency that provides IAPM as an emergency protective service must provide the individual with written notice and orally inform the individual of the time and place of the preliminary hearing.

If the court finds probable cause to believe that the criteria under s. 55.14 are present and that the medication will not unreasonably impair the ability of the individual to prepare for or participate in subsequent legal proceedings, it may order IAPM to continue to be provided as an emergency protective service for up to 30 days pending the hearing under s. 55.14.

If the individual is not under guardianship, a petition for guardianship must be filed at the same time that the petition for IAPM as a protective service is filed. If IAPM is ordered for an individual who does not have a guardian, the court must appoint a temporary guardian for the individual.

IAPM as a Non-Emergency Protective Service for Individuals With Dementia

Evidence of Harm, Impairment, Injury or Debilitation

Current Law. Under current law, IAPM may not be ordered as a protective service unless, in addition to other requirements, it is shown that unless psychotropic medication is administered involuntarily, the individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to others. The substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, or debilitation must be evidenced by one of the following:

1. The individual's history of at least 2 episodes, one of which has occurred within the previous 24 months, that indicate a pattern of overt activity, attempts, threats to act, or omissions that resulted from the individual's failure to participate in treatment, including psychotropic medication, and that resulted in a finding of probable cause for commitment under s. 51.20 (7), a settlement agreement approved by a court under s. 51.20 (8) (bg), or commitment ordered under s. 51.20 (13).

2. Evidence that the individual meets one of the dangerousness criteria set forth in s. 51.20 (1) (a) 2. a. to e.

The Bill. The evidence of the substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, or debilitation that is required under current law is linked to standards and findings under ch. 51. The bill specifies that individuals with dementia are not subject to ch. 51 detention and involuntary commitment procedures. Accordingly, the bill changes the evidence required to prove a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, or debilitation for cases in which the individual who is the subject of the petition has dementia. Specifically, the bill removes specific references to provisions in ch. 51 and replaces them with new provisions which are modeled on the standards of

ch. 51 but modified to be more appropriate for cases involving individuals with dementia. Under the bill, for individuals with dementia, the substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, or debilitation must be shown by evidence of recent acts, attempts, or behavior of the individual, a pattern of recent acts or omissions of the individual, or by evidence that the individual or others are placed at substantial risk of serious physical harm to them, as evidenced by a recent overt act, attempt, or threat to do serious physical harm by the individual.

Physician Statement

Current Law. Under current law, a petition for IAPM as a protective service must include a written statement signed by a physician who has personal knowledge of the individual that provides general clinical information regarding the appropriate use of psychotropic medication for the individual's condition and specific data that indicates that the individual's current condition necessitates the use of psychotropic medication.

The Bill. Under the bill, if the individual has dementia, the physician statement must also state that a physician has determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that the behavior for which treatment with psychotropic medication is sought is not caused by a physical condition or illness that could be treated successfully by means other than psychotropic medication.

Requirement Applicable to Certain Long-Term Care Facilities

Current Law. Current law authorizing IAPM as a protective service does not contain any requirements regarding efforts made by a long-term care facility to address behaviors by means other than psychotropic medication.

The Bill. Under the bill, if the individual who is the subject of a petition for IAPM has dementia and resides in a nursing home, a community-based residential facility, an adult family home, or a residential care apartment complex, the petition must allege that reasonable efforts have been made to address or accommodate the behavior or condition for which treatment with psychotropic medication is sought. Evidence of the facility's response to the individual's behavior or condition, as documented in records maintained by the facility, must be attached to the petition.

Emergency Protective Placement of an Individual With Dementia in an Dementia Crisis Unit

Current Law

Under current law, an individual may be placed in a protective placement facility (but not a dementia crisis unit) without a court order if it appears probable that an individual is so totally incapable of providing for his or her own care or custody as to create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to himself or herself or others as a result of developmental disability, degenerative brain disorder, serious and persistent mental illness, or other like incapacities if not immediately placed. This is referred to as an "emergency protective placement".

The person making the emergency protective placement must file a petition for permanent protective placement, and a probable cause hearing must be held within 72 hours. If probable cause for permanent protective placement is found, the court may order temporary protective placement in the dementia crisis unit for up to 30 days pending the final hearing on permanent placement.

Under current law, emergency protective placement may not be made to a unit for the acutely mentally ill, and no individual who is subject to an order for protective placement or services may be involuntarily transferred to, detained in, or committed to a treatment facility for care except under s. 51.15 or 51.20.

The bill allows a sheriff, police officer, fire fighter, guardian, or authorized representative of a county department or an agency with which it contracts to take an individual into custody and transport them to a medical facility or a dementia crisis unit if it appears probable that the individual is so totally incapable of providing for his or her own care or custody as to create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to himself or herself or others as a result of dementia, mental illness, or a psychiatric condition if not immediately placed and, in addition, all of the following are true:

(a) The individual has dementia, or based on observation and currently available information, appears to have dementia.

(b) The individual has engaged in behavior that creates a substantial risk of serious physical harm to himself or herself or others as manifested by recent acts or omissions.

(c) It appears probable that unless the individual is admitted to a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, the individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to others. The substantial probability shall be shown by evidence of recent acts, attempts, or behavior of the individual, a pattern of recent acts or omissions by the individual, or by evidence that the individual or others are placed at substantial risk of serious physical harm to them, as evidenced by a recent overt act, attempt, or threat to do serious physical harm by the individual.

An individual who has been detained as described above may be admitted to a dementia crisis unit as an emergency protective placement if both of the following are true:

(d) A physician has conducted a physical examination of the individual and determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that the behavior is not caused by a physical condition or illness that could be treated safely and appropriately in a setting other than a dementia crisis unit and the physician recommends that the individual be placed in a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment.

(e) The placement is in an environment that is appropriate for the individual.

The person who takes an individual into custody must prepare a statement at the time of detention providing specific factual information concerning the person's observations, or reports made to the person, and the basis for emergency placement. If the individual is admitted to a dementia crisis unit, the statement must be filed with the director of the dementia crisis unit. The director or designee must provide the individual with a copy of the statement by the person making emergency protective placement.

If the individual was detained at a facility other than the dementia crisis unit to which they are admitted, an individual who is authorized to detain the individual may transport them to the dementia crisis unit.

At the time of admission, the director of the dementia crisis unit, or the director's designee, must inform the individual, orally and in writing, of his or her right to contact an attorney and a member of his or her immediate family and the right to have an attorney provided at public expense.

False Statements; Liability. The bill provides that whoever signs a statement, described above, while knowing the information in the statement is false, is guilty of a Class H felony. The bill also provides that a person who acts in accordance with any of the provisions pertaining to emergency protective placement is not liable for any actions performed in good faith.

Petition. The person making the emergency protective placement must file a petition for protective placement that alleges that the individual meets the grounds for protective placement and that all of the items listed in items (a) through (e), above, are true.

Probable Cause Hearing. A probable cause hearing must be held within 96 hours of detention, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays. An individual is considered to be detained when he or she is taken into custody for the purpose of emergency protective placement. At the request of the subject individual, or his or her counsel or guardian ad litem, the probable cause hearing may be postponed, but in no case may the postponement exceed 7 days from the date of emergency protective placement. If the individual is not under guardianship, a petition for guardianship must accompany the petition for protective placement. The bill provides that if the court finds that the individual has dementia but is not likely to be found incompetent or that protective placement is otherwise not appropriate, the court may elect to treat the petition as a petition for involuntary commitment under ch. 51.

Order for Temporary Protective Placement in a Dementia Crisis Unit. The court may, at the probable cause hearing, order temporary protective placement of the individual in a dementia crisis unit for up to 45 days, pending the hearing on the petition for permanent protective placement. The court may make this order if it finds probable cause to believe that the grounds for emergency protective placement exist and all of the allegations listed in items (a) through (e), above, are true. The court may order protective services as may be required. If the court does not find probable cause for placement in a protective placement facility other than a dementia crisis unit, it shall so order.

Transportation Upon Discharge. The order, and any subsequent extension of the order, must state that the county in which the original order for protective placement of the individual was issued is responsible for transportation of the individual to any facility to which placement of the individual is ordered upon discharge of the individual from the dementia crisis unit.

Final Hearing on Protective Placement. The hearing on permanent protective placement must be held within 45 days after the emergency protective placement in a dementia crisis unit. At the hearing on the permanent protective placement petition, the court may order placement in a protective placement facility, but not a dementia crisis unit. If continued placement in the dementia crisis unit is desired, a petition for extension of the order for temporary placement must be filed, as described below. Current law provides the right to a jury trial if demanded by the individual sought to be protected or his or her attorney or guardian ad litem. The court must require a comprehensive evaluation of the individual, and the individual has the right to secure an independent evaluation as provided in s. 55.11 (2).

Extension of Temporary Protective Placement in a Dementia Crisis Unit

Under the bill, the order for temporary placement in the dementia crisis unit may be extended for 60 days beyond the initial 45-day temporary placement period if certain requirements are met. A petition for extension of the temporary placement must be filed prior to the hearing on the petition for permanent protective placement. If the court orders permanent protective placement of the individual, the hearing on the petition for extension is held immediately after that order is issued. If the court does not order permanent protective placement of the individual, the petition for extension must be dismissed. If requested, a jury trial must be held. Allegations similar to those required to be proven at the probable cause hearing must be proven. The court must also appoint

2 examiners, as is required for involuntary commitments under ch. 51, to examine the individual and provide a report to the court before the hearing or trial. The court may order an extension for a period of not more than 60 days.

Subsequent Extensions of Temporary Protective Placement in an Dementia Crisis Unit

Temporary placement in the dementia crisis unit may be extended in subsequent increments of no more than 60 days each. For each such extension, a petition alleging that the individual meets the standards for temporary placement in the dementia crisis unit must be filed no later than 10 days prior to the expiration of the most-recently issued order for temporary placement. If an emergency makes it impossible to file a petition sooner, a petition may be filed up to 72 hours prior to expiration of the period of temporary protective placement. The petition must be served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal counsel and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department. Examination by 2 experts must be conducted and a hearing must be held. A trial by a jury must be provided if demanded by the individual or his or her attorney or guardian ad litem. After the hearing, if grounds for continued placement of the individual are proven, the court may issue an order extending the temporary placement for up to 60 days.

Temporary Transfer of a Protectively Placed Individual With Dementia to a Dementia Crisis Unit

Current Law

Under current law, an individual under a protective placement order may not be transferred to any facility for which commitment procedures are required under ch. 51.

The Bill

The bill authorizes the court to order the transfer of an individual with dementia who is under a protective placement order to a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, for a period not to exceed 45 days, as described below.

Petition. The bill provides that any of the following may file a petition for transfer of an individual to a dementia crisis unit: the individual's guardian, a county department (or agency with which it contracts), DHS, or any interested person.

A petition for transfer of an individual who is under a protective placement order to a dementia crisis unit must allege all of the following:

(a) The individual has been diagnosed with dementia or appears to have dementia.

(b) The individual has engaged in behavior that creates a substantial risk of serious physical harm to himself or herself or others as manifested by recent acts or omissions.

(c) A physician who has personal knowledge of the individual has conducted a physical examination of the individual within the past 7 days and, based on that examination, the following are true:

1. The physician has determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that the behavior is not caused by a physical condition or illness that could be treated safely and appropriately in a setting other than a dementia crisis unit.

2. The physician has determined that there is a reasonable probability that the individual's behavior or condition may be improved by transfer to a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment.

(d) Unless the individual is temporarily transferred to a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, the individual will incur a substantial probability of being subject to a change in permanent placement to a more restrictive setting due to the inability of the current placement facility to provide for the safety of the individual or others due to the behavior of the individual. The substantial probability of a change in placement to a more restrictive setting must be shown by the following:

1. Evidence of recent acts, attempts, or behavior of the individual, a pattern of recent acts or omissions by the individual, or by evidence that the individual or others are placed at substantial risk of serious physical harm to them, as evidenced by a recent overt act, attempt, or threat to do serious physical harm by the individual.

2. Evidence of the facility's response to the individual's acts, attempts, omissions, or threats described above, as documented in records maintained by the facility.

(e) The protective placement facility has made reasonable efforts to address or accommodate the behavior or condition for which behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment in a dementia crisis unit is sought and these steps are documented in the individual's plan of care.

(f) The proposed placement is in an environment that is appropriate for the individual.

(g) The protective placement facility has prepared detailed documentation of the behaviors or condition of the individual that necessitate inpatient behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, including detailed information regarding the physical examination conducted and efforts taken by the facility to address or accommodate the individual's behavior, and provides this documentation to the dementia crisis unit.

(h) One of the following is true:

1. The protective placement facility has a plan in place for the orderly return of the individual upon discharge from the dementia crisis unit, which specifies the conditions under which the individual will be readmitted to the facility, and a copy of the plan is included with the petition.

2. The protective placement facility has determined that readmission of the individual to the facility upon discharge from the dementia crisis unit is not in the best interests of the individual, and includes, with the petition, specific factual information supporting this conclusion.

Consent of Guardian and County Department Required. Under the bill, the written consent of the individual's guardian and the county department are required in order to carry out a transfer to a dementia crisis unit, except in the case of an emergency transfer, as described below.

Hearing; Order to Transfer. The court must hold a hearing within 72 hours after the filing of a petition for transfer. At the request of the individual, or his or her counsel or guardian ad litem, the hearing may be postponed for up to 7 days from the date of emergency transfer.

At the hearing, the court must consider whether the standards for transfer described above have been met and whether the proposed transfer to a dementia crisis unit is in the best interests of the person under protective placement.

Following the hearing, the court must do one of the following:

(a) If the court finds that the individual continues to meet the standards for protective placement and the proposed transfer to a dementia crisis unit does not meet the standards for transfer, the court must issue an order prohibiting the transfer. The court must include the information relied upon as a basis for the order and make findings based on those standards in support of the denial of the transfer.

(b) If the court finds that the individual continues to meet the standards for protective placement and the proposed transfer to a dementia crisis unit meets the standards for transfer, the court must order the transfer of the individual to a dementia crisis unit for a period not to exceed 45 days.

(c) If the court finds that the individual no longer meets the standards for protective placement the court must terminate the protective placement.

Emergency Transfer of Placement of an Individual With Dementia to Dementia Crisis Unit; Probable Cause Hearing; Order

If an emergency makes it impossible to file a petition prior to transfer to a dementia crisis unit or to obtain the prior written consent of the guardian, the individual may be transferred without the prior written consent of the guardian and without a prior court order. A petition containing all of the allegations required for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit, and identification of the specific facts and circumstances which made it impossible to carry out the transfer under the nonemergency procedures, must be filed immediately upon transfer.

The court must hold a hearing within 72 hours of the transfer. At the request of the subject individual, or his or her counsel or guardian ad litem, the probable cause hearing may be postponed for up to 7 days from the date of the emergency transfer.

After the hearing, the court must issue an order based upon its findings, as set forth above in the description of nonemergency temporary transfer procedures. In addition to the factors that must be considered for nonemergency transfers, the court must also consider whether there is probable cause to believe the allegations that an emergency made it impossible to file a petition and carry out the transfer as a nonemergency transfer.

Transportation Upon Discharge. The order for transfer to a dementia crisis unit, and any subsequent extension of the order, must state that the county in which the original order for protective placement of the individual was issued is responsible for transportation of the individual to any facility to which placement of the individual is ordered upon discharge of the individual from the dementia crisis unit.

Extension of Temporary Transfer to a Dementia Crisis Unit

The order for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit may be extended for 60 days beyond the initial 45-day period of transfer if a petition for extension of the temporary placement is filed before expiration of the order for temporary placement, and the court orders the extension after a hearing. If requested, a jury trial must be held. Allegations similar to those required to be proven at the probable cause hearing must be proven. The court must also appoint 2 examiners, as is required for involuntary commitments under ch. 51, to examine the individual and provide a report to the court before the hearing or trial.

Subsequent Extensions of Temporary Transfer to a Dementia Crisis Unit

Temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit may be subsequently extended in increments of no more than 60 days. For each such extension, a petition alleging that the individual meets the standards for temporary transfer to the dementia crisis unit must be filed no later than 10 days prior to the expiration of the most-recently issued order for temporary transfer. If an emergency makes it impossible to file a petition sooner, a petition may be filed up to 72 hours prior to expiration of the period of temporary transfer.

The petition must be served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal counsel, and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department.

Examination by 2 experts must be conducted and a hearing must be held. The examiner's reports must be made available 72 hours in advance of the hearing. A trial by a jury must be provided if demanded by the individual sought to be protected or his or her attorney or guardian ad litem. After the hearing, if grounds for continued transfer to the dementia crisis unit are proven, the court must issue an order extending the temporary placement for up to 60 days.

Medication and Treatment of an Individual With Dementia in a Dementia Crisis Unit

When an individual with dementia is placed or remains in a dementia crisis unit under any of the new procedures created in the bill, the director and staff of the dementia crisis unit may evaluate, diagnose and treat the individual if the individual consents. The individual has a right to refuse medication and treatment, except as provided in an order for involuntary administration of psychotropic medication as a protective service or an emergency protective service, or in a situation in which medication or treatment is necessary to prevent serious physical harm to the individual or others. The individual must be advised of these rights by the director of the dementia crisis unit or his or her designee.

Provisions Applicable to Dementia Crisis Units Used for Emergency or Temporary Protective Placements; Liability

Discharge

The bill provides that when, upon the advice of the treatment staff, the director of a dementia crisis unit to which an individual has been transferred or placed for emergency protective placement determines that the grounds for transfer or emergency placement no longer exist, he or she must notify the county department in order to arrange for transfer of the individual to a protective placement facility.

Liability

Any individual who acts in accordance with the provisions of the bill, including making a determination that an individual has or does not have dementia or evidences or does not evidence a substantial probability of harm, is not liable for any actions taken in good faith. The good faith of the actor shall be presumed in any civil action. The bill states that whomever asserts that the individual who acts in accordance with this section has not acted in good faith has the burden of proving that assertion by evidence that is clear, satisfactory, and convincing.

8 (3) To be designated as a dementia crisis unit under sub. (1), the facility shall 9 make available the capability to obtain diagnoses and treatment for medical 10 conditions but is not required to have medical facilities located on the premises.

(4) The county department shall solicit information and advice from the public, including family caregivers of individuals with dementia, organizations concerned with Alzheimer's disease and dementia, the treatment of mental illness, or the provision of long-term care, and any other appropriate individuals or organizations, to aid it in carrying out its responsibility to designate one or more dementia crisis units under this section.

17 (5) The county department shall implement a procedure to periodically review 18 any designation made under sub. (1) as necessary and appropriate to ensure the 19 facility continues to meet the criteria for designation.

NOTE: Requires a county department to identify at least one dementia crisis unit for emergency and temporary protective placement for psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, or treatment. A unit that has not been so identified by the county may not be used for emergency or temporary protective placements under the procedures created in the bill.

20 SECTION 29. 55.59 of the statutes is created to read:

55.59 Emergency or temporary protective placement in a dementia crisis unit. (1) EMERGENCY PLACEMENT AUTHORIZED; GROUNDS. If, from personal observation by, or a reliable report made by a person who identifies himself or herself

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

1	to, a sheriff, police officer, fire fighter, guardian, if any, or authorized representative
2	of a county department or an agency with which the county department contracts
3	under s. 55.02 (2), it appears probable that an individual is so totally incapable of
4	providing for his or her own care or custody as to create a substantial risk of serious
5	physical harm to himself or herself or others as a result of dementia, mental illness,
6	or a psychiatric condition if not immediately placed, the person who personally made
7	the observation or to whom the report is made may take an individual into custody
8	and transport the individual to a medical facility or a dementia crisis unit if all of the 9	following are true:
10	(a) The individual has or, based on observation and currently available
11	information, appears to have dementia.
12	(b) The individual has engaged in behavior that creates a substantial risk of
13	serious physical harm to himself or herself or others, as manifested by recent acts
14	or omissions.
15	(c) It appears probable that unless the individual is admitted to a dementia
16	crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment,
17	the individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment,
18	injury, or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to 19	others. The substantial probability shall be shown by evidence of recent behavior of 20	the individual or of recent acts or attempts or a pattern of recent acts or omissions
21	by the individual or by evidence that the individual or others are placed at
22	substantial risk of serious physical harm to them as evidenced by a recent overt act,
23	attempt, or threat by the individual to do serious physical harm to them.

1 (2) EMERGENCY ADMISSION TO DEMENTIA CRISIS UNIT. An individual who has been 2 detained under sub. (1) may be admitted to a dementia crisis unit if all of the 3 following are true:

4 (a) A physician has conducted a physical examination of the individual; has $\mathbf{5}$ determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that 6 the behavior described in sub. (1) is not caused by a physical condition or illness that 7 could be treated safely and appropriately in a setting other than a dementia crisis 8 unit; and recommends that the individual be placed in a dementia crisis unit for 9 behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment for the 10 purpose of addressing the behavior.

(b) The placement in a dementia crisis unit is in an environment that is 12appropriate for the individual.

13 (3) TRANSPORTATION TO DEMENTIA CRISIS UNIT. A person who is authorized to 14detain and transport an individual under sub. (1) may transport an individual to a 15dementia crisis unit for admission under sub. (2) if the individual was detained at 16 a different facility under sub. (1).

17(4) STATEMENT; RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. A person who takes an individual into custody under sub. (1) shall prepare and sign a statement at the time of detention 18 19 providing specific factual information concerning the person's observations or 20 reports made to the person and the basis for taking the individual into custody under 21sub. (1). If the individual is admitted to a dementia crisis unit, the statement shall 22be filed with the director of the dementia crisis unit and with any petition under s. 2355.075. At the time of admission, the director of the dementia crisis unit or the 24director's designee shall inform the individual, orally and in writing, of his or her right to contact an attorney and a member of his or her immediate family and the 25 right to have an attorney provided at public expense, as provided under s. 55.105.

 The director or designee shall provide the individual with a copy of the statement by the person making the emergency protective placement.

4 (5) FALSE STATEMENTS. Whoever signs a statement under sub. (4) while knowing 5 the information contained in the statement to be false is guilty of a Class H felony.

6 (6) PETITION; CONTENTS. When an individual is protectively placed under this 7 section, the person making the emergency protective placement shall immediately 8 file a petition under s. 55.075 with the court. In addition to the allegations required 9 under s. 55.08 (1), the petition shall allege that the grounds under subs. (1) and (2) 10 are true.

11 (7) HEARING; CONVERSION PROCEDURE. (a) The court shall hold a preliminary 12hearing within 96 hours of detention, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal 13holidays, to establish probable cause to believe the allegations of the grounds for 14protective placement under s. 55.08 (1) and the grounds under subs. (1) and (2). An 15individual is considered to be detained when he or she is taken into custody for the purpose of emergency protective placement. At the request of the subject individual 16 17or his or her counsel or guardian ad litem, the court may postpone the hearing, but in no case may the postponement exceed 7 days after the date the individual was 18 19 admitted to the dementia crisis unit for emergency protective placement. At the 20probable cause hearing under this subsection, the court shall make a finding of 21whether the individual who is the subject of the hearing is likely to be found 22incompetent.

(b) If, under par. (a), the court finds that the individual has dementia but is not likely to be found incompetent or that protective placement is otherwise not appropriate, the court may treat the petition under this section as a petition for commitment under s. 51.20 or 51.45 (13). The court shall review the petition filed under this section under the standards under s. 51.20 (1) (a) or 51.45 (13) (a) to determine whether an order of detention shall be issued without further notice.

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

Placement shall be made in a facility described under s. 51.20 (2) (d) or 51.45 (13) (h).
The court shall schedule the full, final hearing under s. 51.20 (7) (c) or 51.45 (13) (e).

6 (8) ORDER; TEMPORARY PLACEMENT. Upon finding probable cause under sub. (7), 7 the court may order temporary protective placement for up to 45 days in a dementia 8 crisis unit, pending the hearing for permanent protective placement. If the court 9 does not find probable cause for placement in a dementia crisis unit but does find 10 probable cause for placement in a protective placement facility other than a 11 dementia crisis unit, it shall so order. The court may order any protective services 12that may be required. The order, and any subsequent extension of the order under 13 s. 55.61, shall state that the county in which the original order for protective 14placement of the individual was issued shall be responsible for transportation of the 15individual to any facility to which placement of the individual is ordered upon 16 discharge of the individual from the dementia crisis unit.

17(9) MEDICATION AND TREATMENT. When an individual is protectively placed in a dementia crisis unit under this section, or remains in a dementia crisis unit 18 pursuant to an extension of an order issued under this section, the director and staff 19 20 of the dementia crisis unit may evaluate, diagnose and treat the individual if the 21individual consents. The individual has a right to refuse medication and treatment 22except as provided in an order under s. 55.14 or 55.70 or in a situation in which 23medication or treatment is necessary to prevent serious physical harm to the 24individual or others. The director of the dementia crisis unit or his or her designee shall advise the individual of these rights. The court may order the involuntary 25 administration of psychotropic medication as an emergency protective service to the individual only as provided in s. 55.70.

3 (10) TRANSFER. When, upon the advice of the treatment staff, the director of 4 a dementia crisis unit in which an individual has been placed for emergency or 5 temporary protective placement under this section determines that the grounds for 6 emergency or temporary protective placement no longer exist, he or she shall notify 7 the county department in order to arrange for transfer of the individual to a facility 8 described in s. 55.12.

9 (11) LIABILITY. Any individual who acts in accordance with this section, 10 including making a determination whether an individual has dementia or whether 11 an individual evidences a substantial probability of harm, is not liable for any actions 12 taken in good faith. The good faith of the actor shall be presumed in any civil action. 13 Whoever asserts that the individual who acts in accordance with this section has not 14 acted in good faith has the burden of proving that assertion by evidence that is clear, 15 satisfactory, and convincing.

SECTION 30. 55.61 of the statutes is created to read:

17 55.61 Extension of temporary protective placement in a dementia 18 crisis unit. (1) EXTENSION AUTHORIZED. The court may extend for up to 60 days an 19 order for temporary protective placement in a dementia crisis unit under s. 55.59 (8) 20 if the requirements of this section are met.

(2) PETITION. (a) Filing; service. Subject to par. (b), an individual under an order for temporary protective placement in a dementia crisis unit; the individual's guardian; the individual's legal counsel or guardian ad litem, if any; the department;
the county department that placed the individual or provided the protective services under an order of the court; an agency with which the county department contracts under s. 55.02 (2); or any interested person may file a petition for extension of an order for temporary protective placement in a dementia crisis unit. The person filing the petition shall have the petition served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal counsel and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department.

- 6 (b) Time limit. Except in an emergency, if the petition described under par. (a) 7 is being filed, the person filing the petition for extension of temporary protective 8 placement in a dementia crisis unit shall file the petition no fewer than 10 days 9 before the date of expiration of the period of temporary protective placement ordered 10 under s. 55.59 (8). If an emergency makes it impossible to file a petition sooner, a 11 petition may be filed up to 72 hours prior to expiration of the period of temporary 12 protective placement ordered under s. 55.59 (8).
- (c) Allegations. A person filing the petition under par. (a) shall allege in the petition for extension of an order for temporary protective placement in a dementia crisis unit that all of the following are true:
- 1. The individual continues to meet the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1).
- 18

2. The individual has dementia.

3. The individual has engaged in behavior that creates a substantial risk of serious physical harm to himself or herself or others, as manifested by recent acts or omissions.

4. A physician has conducted a physical examination of the individual who is the subject of the petition; has determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that the behavior is not caused by a physical condition or illness that could be treated safely and appropriately in a setting other than a dementia crisis unit; and recommends that the individual continue placement in the 1 $\mathbf{2}$ dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or 3 treatment.

5. Unless the individual continues placement in the dementia crisis unit for 4 5 behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, the 6 individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, 7 or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to others. 8 The individual submitting the petition shall allege a substantial probability of 9 physical harm to the individual or others by providing evidence of recent behavior 10 of the individual or of recent acts or attempts or a pattern of recent acts or omissions 11 by the individual or by evidence that the individual or others are placed at 12substantial risk of serious physical harm to them as evidenced by a recent overt act, 13attempt, or threat by the individual to do serious physical harm to them.

6. Reasonable efforts have been made to locate an appropriate placement for 15the individual in a less restrictive setting.

16 (3) EXAMINATION. (a) Appointment of examiners. Subject to par. (b), if a petition 17is filed under this section, the court shall appoint 2 licensed physicians specializing 18 in psychiatry, or one licensed physician and one licensed psychologist, or 2 licensed 19 physicians one of whom shall have specialized training in psychiatry, if available, or 202 licensed physicians to personally examine the individual. The court shall appoint 21examiners who have the specialized knowledge that the court determines to be 22appropriate to the needs of the individual. The examiners may not be related to the 23individual by blood, marriage, or adoption and may not have any interest in his or $\mathbf{24}$ her property.

1 (b) Choice of examiner. The individual to be examined may select one of the 2 examiners appointed under par. (a) if the individual makes his or her selection 3 known to the court within 24 hours after he or she receives the petition for extension 4 of the temporary protective placement in the dementia crisis unit. The court may 5 deny the individual's selection if the examiner does not meet the requirements of par. 6 (a) or the individual's selection is not available.

7 (c) Right to additional examination. If the individual, the individual's attorney, 8 or any other interested party with court permission requests, the individual who is 9 the subject of the petition has a right to secure, at his or her own expense, an 10 additional medical or psychological examination and to offer the evaluator's personal 11 testimony as evidence at the hearing. If the individual who is the subject of the 12petition is indigent, requests an additional medical or psychological examination, 13 and has approval of the court hearing the petition, the individual's county of legal 14residence shall pay a reasonable expense for the additional examination.

Notice to examinee; remaining silent. Before the examination, the 15(d) 16 individual who is the subject of the examination shall be informed that his or her 17statements can be used as a basis for an extension of the current temporary protective placement in the dementia crisis unit, that he or she has the right to 18 19 remain silent, and that the examiner is required to make a report to the court even if the subject individual remains silent. The issuance of such a warning to the 20 21individual prior to each examination establishes a presumption that the individual 22understands that he or she need not speak to the examiner.

(e) Examiner report; conclusions. The examiners shall personally observe and examine the individual at any suitable place and satisfy themselves, if reasonably possible, as to the individual's mental condition. Each examiner shall make an independent written report and file that report with the court. The report and 1 $\mathbf{2}$ testimony, if any, by the examiners shall be based on beliefs to a reasonable degree 3 of medical certainty, or professional certainty if an examiner is a psychologist, in 4 regard to the existence of the facts alleged in the petition and the appropriateness 5 of various treatment modalities or facilities. If the examiners are unable to reach 6 conclusions to a reasonable degree of medical or professional certainty, the 7 examiners shall so state in their report and testimony, if any. The individual's treatment records shall be available to the examiners. 8 The individual, the 9 individual's attorney, and the individual's guardian ad litem shall have access to all 10 psychiatric and other reports at least 72 hours in advance of the hearing under sub. 11 (4).

- 34 -

12Discovery. On motion of either party, all parties shall produce at a (f) 13reasonable time and place designated by the court all physical evidence which each 14party intends to introduce in evidence. Any party shall be permitted to inspect, copy, 15photograph, or transcribe such physical evidence in the presence of a person designated by the court. The order shall specify the time, place and manner of 16 17making the inspection, copies, photographs, or transcriptions, and may prescribe 18 such terms and conditions as are just. The court may, if the motion is made by the 19 individual, delay the hearing for any period necessary for completion of discovery.

(4) HEARING. A court shall hold a hearing on the petition for extension before the expiration of the order for temporary protective placement of the individual in a dementia crisis unit under s. 55.59 (8). A trial by a jury shall be held if demanded by the individual sought to be protected or his or her attorney or guardian ad litem.
The hearing shall be held as part of the same proceedings in which the petition for permanent protective placement of the individual is heard. The petition shall be heard immediately after the order for permanent protective placement of the individual is made. If the court does not order permanent protective placement of the individual, the petition under this section shall be dismissed.

4 (5) ORDER. After a hearing under sub. (4) on a petition for extension of an order
5 for temporary protective placement in a dementia crisis unit, the court shall make 6 one of the following orders and shall identify in the order the information relied on 7 as a basis for that order:

8 (a) If the court finds that the individual meets the standards for protective 9 placement under s. 55.08 (1) and the allegations under sub. (2) (c) are true, it shall 10 order continued temporary placement in the dementia crisis unit for a period not to 11 exceed 60 days from the date of expiration of the original order under s. 55.59 (8).

(b) If the court finds that the individual meets the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1) and the allegations under sub. (2) (c) are true, but that the individual would be better served in a different dementia crisis unit, it shall order transfer of the individual to that dementia crisis unit and temporary placement in that dementia crisis unit for a period not to exceed 60 days from the date of expiration of the original order under s. 55.59 (8).

(c) If the court finds that the individual meets the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1) but the allegations under sub. (2) (c) are not true, the court shall order transfer of the individual to a protective placement facility under s. 55.12.

(d) If the court finds the individual no longer meets the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1), it shall terminate the protective placement, as provided in s. 55.17.

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

1 (6) SUBSEQUENT EXTENSIONS. A court may extend an order under sub. (5) (a) or $\mathbf{2}$ (b) in increments of no more than 60 days. For each such extension, a person 3 described under sub. (2) (a) shall file a petition alleging that the individual meets the 4 standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1) and that the allegations under 5 sub. (2) (c) are true no later than 10 days prior to the expiration of the most-recently 6 issued order for temporary placement. If an emergency makes it impossible to file 7 a petition sooner, a petition may be filed up to 72 hours prior to expiration of the most recently-issued order for temporary placement ordered under sub. (5). The petition 8 9 shall be served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal 10 counsel and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department. Examination shall 11 be conducted as provided in sub. (3). A hearing shall be held prior to the expiration 12of the most-recently issued order for temporary placement. A trial by a jury shall 13be held if demanded by the individual or his or her attorney or guardian ad litem. 14After hearing, the court shall issue an order issued as provided in sub. (5).

SECTION 31. 55.65 of the statutes is created to read:

16 55.65 Temporary transfer to dementia crisis unit. (1) TRANSFER 17 AUTHORIZED. An individual who is under a protective placement order and has or, 18 based on currently available information and observation, appears to have 19 dementia, may be transferred to a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric 20 evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment for a period not to exceed 45 days if the 21 requirements of this section are met.

(2) PETITION. An individual under protective placement; the individual's guardian; the individual's legal counsel or guardian ad litem, if any; the department;
the county department that placed the individual or provided the protective services

6	(3) ALLEGATIONS. The person filing the petition under sub. (2) shall allege all
7	of the following in the petition:
8	(a) The individual has been diagnosed with or, based upon currently available
9	information, appears to have dementia.
10	(b) The individual has engaged in behavior that creates a substantial risk of 11	serious physical harm to himself or herself or others as manifested by recent acts or 12	omissions.
13	(c) A physician who has personal knowledge of the individual has conducted
14	a physical examination of the individual within the past 7 days and, based on that
15	examination, all of the following are true:
16	1. The physician has determined and documented in writing that there is a
17	reasonable probability that the behavior is not caused by a physical condition or
18	illness that could be treated safely and appropriately in a setting other than a
19	dementia crisis unit.
20	2. The physician has determined that there is a reasonable probability that the 21	individual's behavior or condition may be improved by transfer to a dementia crisis
22	unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment.
93	(d) Unloss the individual is temperarily transformed to a demontia origin unit

(d) Unless the individual is temporarily transferred to a dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, the individual will incur a substantial probability of being subject to a change in permanent placement to a more restrictive setting due to the inability of the current placement facility to provide for the safety of the individual or others due to the behavior of the individual. The person filing the petition shall allege the substantial probability of a change in placement to a more restrictive setting by showing all of the following:

Evidence of recent behavior of the individual or of recent acts or attempts or a pattern of recent acts or omissions by the individual or by evidence that the individual or others are placed at substantial risk of serious physical harm to them physical harm to them.

Evidence of the facility's response to behavior, acts, attempts, omissions or threats identified in subd. 1., as documented in records maintained by the facility.
 (e) The protective placement facility has made reasonable efforts to address or 19 1. The protective placement facility has a plan in place for the orderly return 20 of the individual to the protective placement facility upon discharge from the 21 dementia crisis unit which specifies the conditions under which the individual will 22 be readmitted to the facility and a copy of the plan is included with the petition.

23 2. The protective placement facility has determined that readmission of the24 individual to the protective placement facility upon discharge from the dementia crisis unit is not in the best interests of the individual and includes with the petition specific factual information supporting this conclusion.

(h) The protective placement facility has prepared detailed documentation of the behaviors or condition of the individual that necessitate inpatient behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, including detailed information about the physical examination conducted under par. (c) and efforts taken by the facility under par. (e), and this documentation will be provided to the dementia crisis unit.

9 (4) CONSENT OF GUARDIAN REQUIRED. No individual may be transferred under 10 this section without the written consent of the individual's guardian except in the 11 case of an emergency transfer under sub. (6).

(5) CONSENT OF COUNTY DEPARTMENT. No individual may be transferred under this section without the written consent of the county department except in the case of an emergency transfer under sub. (6).

15(6) EMERGENCY TRANSFER; PETITION. If an emergency makes it impossible to file a petition as specified in sub. (2) or to obtain the prior written consent of the guardian 16 17specified in sub. (4), the individual may be transferred without the prior written consent of the guardian, without written consent of the county department, and 18 19 without a prior court order. A petition containing all of the allegations in sub. (3) and 20 identification of the specific facts and circumstances which made it impossible to 21carry out the transfer under the nonemergency procedures shall be filed immediately 22 upon transfer.

(7) HEARING. (a) The court shall order a hearing within 72 hours after an individual is transferred under sub. (6) or a petition is filed under sub. (2). At the request of the individual or his or her counsel or guardian ad litem, the hearing may be postponed, but in no case may the postponement exceed 7 days from the date of the emergency transfer.

3 (b) The court shall notify the petitioner, the individual under protective 4 placement, the individual's guardian, the individual's attorney, if any, and the county
5 department of the time and place of the hearing.

6 (c) A guardian ad litem shall be appointed to represent the individual under 7 protective placement at the hearing. If the individual is indigent, the county in 8 which the hearing is held shall be liable for guardian ad litem fees.

9 (d) The court shall refer the individual under protective placement for 10 appointment of legal counsel as provided under s. 55.105 if the individual, the 11 individual's guardian ad litem, or anyone on the individual's behalf requests that 12 counsel be appointed for the individual.

(e) The petitioner, the individual under protective placement, the individual's guardian, the individual's guardian ad litem, and the individual's attorney, if any, have the right to attend the hearing and to present and cross-examine witnesses.

(b) Whether the proposed transfer to a dementia crisis unit is in the bestinterests of the individual.

(c) In the case of an emergency transfer, whether there is probable cause to believe that specific facts and circumstances specified under sub. (6) made it impossible to carry out the transfer under nonemergency procedures.

24 (9) ORDER RELATING TO TRANSFER. Following the hearing under sub. (7), the 25 court shall do one of the following:

(a) If the court finds that the individual continues to meet the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1) and the allegations under sub. (3) and, if applicable, sub. (6) are not true, the court shall issue an order prohibiting the transfer. The court shall identify in the order the information relied upon as a basis for the order and shall make findings based on the allegations under sub. (3) and, if applicable, sub. (6) in support of the denial of the transfer.

- 7 (b) If the court finds that the individual continues to meet the standards for 8 protective placement under s. 55.08 (1) and the allegations under sub. (3) and, if 9 applicable, sub. (6) are true, the court shall order transfer to a dementia crisis unit 10 for a period not to exceed 45 days. The order and any subsequent extension of the order under s. 55.67 shall state that the county in which the original order for 11 protective placement of the individual was issued shall be responsible for 1213 transportation of the individual to any facility to which placement of the individual 14is ordered upon discharge of the individual from the dementia crisis unit.
- (c) If the court finds that the individual no longer meets the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1), the court shall terminate the protective placement as provided in s. 55.17.

(10) MEDICATION AND TREATMENT. When an individual is placed in a dementia 18 19 crisis unit under this section, or remains in a dementia crisis unit pursuant to an 20 extension of an order issued under this section, the director and staff of the dementia 21crisis unit may evaluate, diagnose, and treat the individual if the individual 22consents. The individual has a right to refuse medication except as provided in an 23order under s. 55.14 or 55.70, or in a situation in which medication or treatment is 24necessary to prevent serious physical harm to the individual or others. The director 25of the dementia crisis unit or his or her designee shall advise the individual of these rights. The court may order the involuntary administration of psychotropic medication as an emergency protective service to the individual only as provided under s. 55.70.

4 (11) RIGHTS. When, upon the advice of the treatment staff, the director of a 5 dementia crisis unit to which an individual has been transferred under this section 6 determines that the grounds for transfer no longer exist, he or she shall notify the 7 county department in order to arrange for transfer to a protective placement facility 8 under s. 55.12.

9 (12) LIABILITY. Any individual who acts in accordance with this section, 10 including making a determination that an individual has or does not have dementia 11 or evidences or does not evidence a substantial probability of harm, is not liable for 12 any actions taken in good faith. The good faith of the actor shall be presumed in any 13 civil action. Whoever asserts that the individual who acts in accordance with this 14 section has not acted in good faith has the burden of proving that assertion by 15 evidence that is clear, satisfactory, and convincing.

SECTION 32. 55.67 of the statutes is created to read:

17 55.67 Extension of temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit. (1)
 18 EXTENSION AUTHORIZED. A court may extend for up to 60 days an order for temporary 19 transfer to a dementia crisis unit under s. 55.65 (9) if the requirements of this section 20 are met.

(2) PETITION. (a) Filing; service. Subject to par. (b), an individual under an order for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit; the individual's guardian; the individual's legal counsel or guardian ad litem, if any; the department; the county department that placed the individual or provided the protective services under an order of the court; an agency with which the county department contracts under s.

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

55.02 (2); or any interested person may file a petition for extension of the order for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit. The person filing the petition shall have the petition served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal counsel and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department.

5 (b) Time limit. Except in an emergency, if the petition described under par. (a) 6 is being filed, the person filing the petition for extension of temporary transfer to a 7 dementia crisis unit shall file the petition no fewer than 10 days before the date of 8 expiration of the period of temporary transfer ordered under s. 55.65 (9). If an 9 emergency makes it impossible to file a petition sooner, a petition may be filed up to 10 72 hours before the expiration of the period of temporary transfer ordered under s. 11 55.65 (9).

(c) Allegations. A person filing the petition under par. (a) shall allege in the petition for extension of an order for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit that all of the following are true:

15 1. The individual continues to meet the standards for protective placement under s. 55.08 (1).

2. The individual has dementia.

3. The individual has engaged in behavior that creates a substantial risk of serious physical harm to himself or herself or others, as manifested by recent acts or omissions.

4. A physician has conducted a physical examination of the individual; has determined and documented in writing that there is a reasonable probability that the behavior is not caused by a physical condition or illness that could be treated safely and appropriately in a setting other than a dementia crisis unit; and

- 43 -

1 $\mathbf{2}$ recommends that the individual continue placement in the dementia crisis unit for behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment.

5. Unless the individual continues placement in the dementia crisis unit for 4 behavioral or psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis, services, or treatment, the 5 individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, 6 or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to others. 7 The individual submitting the petition shall allege that substantial probability by providing evidence of recent behavior of the individual or of recent acts or attempts 8 9 or a pattern of recent acts or omissions by the individual or by evidence that the 10 individual or others are placed at substantial risk of serious physical harm to them 11 as evidenced by a recent overt act, attempt, or threat by the individual to do serious 12physical harm to them.

136. Reasonable efforts have been made to locate an appropriate placement for 14the individual in a less restrictive setting.

15(3) EXAMINATION. (a) Appointment of examiners. Subject to par. (b), if a petition is filed under this section, the court shall appoint 2 licensed physicians specializing 16 17in psychiatry, or one licensed physician and one psychologist, or 2 licensed physicians 18 one of whom shall have specialized training in psychiatry, if available, or 2 licensed physicians to personally examine the individual. The court shall appoint examiners 19 20who have the specialized knowledge that the court determines to be appropriate to 21the needs of the individual. The examiners may not be related to the individual by 22blood, marriage, or adoption and may not have any interest in his or her property.

23(b) Choice of examiner. The individual to be examined may select one of the $\mathbf{24}$ examiners appointed under par. (a) if the individual makes his or her selection known to the court within 24 hours after he or she receives the petition for extension 25 of the temporary protective placement in the dementia crisis unit. The court may deny the individual's selection if the examiner does not meet the requirements of par.

 (a) or the individual's selection is not available.

4 (c) Right to additional examination. If the individual, the individual's attorney, $\mathbf{5}$ or any other interested party with the court's permission requests, the individual has 6 a right at his or her own expense to secure an additional medical or psychological 7 examination and to offer the evaluator's personal testimony as evidence at the 8 hearing. If the individual who is the subject of the petition is indigent, requests an 9 additional medical or psychological examination, and has approval of the court 10 hearing the petition, the individual's county of residence shall pay a reasonable 11 expense for the additional examination.

12Notice to examinee; remaining silent. Before the examination, the (d) 13 individual who is the subject of the examination shall be informed that his or her 14statements can be used as a basis for an extension of the current temporary 15placement in the dementia crisis unit, that he or she has the right to remain silent 16 and that the examiner is required to make a report to the court even if the individual 17remains silent. The issuance of such a warning to the individual prior to each examination establishes a presumption that the individual understands that he or 18 she need not speak to the examiner. 19

(e) Examiner report; conclusions. The examiners shall personally observe and examine the individual at any suitable place and satisfy themselves, if reasonably possible, as to the individual's mental condition. Each examiner shall make an independent written report and file that report with the court. The individual's treatment records shall be available to the examiners. The report and testimony, if any, by the examiners shall be based on beliefs to a reasonable degree of medical

- 45 -

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

certainty, or professional certainty if an examiner is a psychologist, in regard to the existence of the facts alleged in the petition and the appropriateness of various treatment modalities or facilities. If the examiners are unable to reach conclusions to a reasonable degree of medical or professional certainty, the examiners shall so state in their report and testimony, if any. The individual, the individual's attorney, and the guardian ad litem shall have access to all psychiatric and other reports at least 72 hours in advance of the hearing under sub. (4).

8 (f) Discovery. On motion of either party, all parties shall produce at a 9 reasonable time and place designated by the court all physical evidence which each 10 party intends to introduce in evidence at the hearing under sub. (4). Any party shall 11 be permitted to inspect, copy, photograph, or transcribe such physical evidence in the 12presence of a person designated by the court. The order shall specify the time, place 13and manner of making the inspection, copies, photographs, or transcriptions, and 14may prescribe such terms and conditions as are just. The court may, if the motion 15is made by the individual, delay the hearing for any period necessary for completion 16 of discovery.

(4) HEARING. A hearing on the petition for extension shall be held prior to the expiration of the order for temporary transfer of the individual to a dementia crisis unit under s. 55.65 (9). A trial by a jury shall be held if demanded by the individual sought to be protected or his or her attorney or guardian ad litem.

(5) ORDER. After a hearing under sub. (4) on a petition for extension of an order for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit, the court shall make one of the following orders and shall identify in the order the information relied on as a basis for that order:

- 46 -

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

(a) If the court finds that the allegations under sub. (2) (c) are true, it shall order 1 2 continued temporary transfer to the dementia crisis unit for a period not to exceed 3 60 days from the date of expiration of the original order under s. 55.65 (9).

(b) If the court finds that the allegations under sub. (2) (c) are true, but that the $\mathbf{5}$ individual would be better served in a different dementia crisis unit, it shall order 6 transfer of the individual to that dementia crisis unit and temporary placement in 7 that dementia crisis unit for no longer than 60 days.

8 (c) If the court finds that the allegations under sub. (2) (c) 2. to 6. are not true, 9 but the individual continues to meet the standards for protective placement under 10 s. 55.08 (1), the court shall order transfer of the individual to a facility for permanent 11 protective placement.

12(d) If the court finds the individual no longer meets the standards for protective 13 placement under s. 55.08 (1), it shall terminate the protective placement as provided 14in s. 55.17.

15(6) SUBSEQUENT EXTENSIONS. The court may extend an order under (5) (a) or (b) in increments of no more than 60 days. For each such extension, a person described 16 17under sub. (2) (a) shall file a petition alleging that the individual meets the standards 18 under sub. (2) (c) no later than 10 days prior to the expiration of the most-recently 19 issued order for temporary transfer to a dementia crisis unit. If an emergency makes 20 it impossible to file a petition sooner, a petition may be filed up to 72 hours prior to 21expiration of the period of temporary transfer ordered under sub. (5). The petition 22 shall be served on the individual, the individual's guardian, the individual's legal 23counsel and guardian ad litem, if any, and the county department. Examination shall 24be conducted as provided in sub. (3). A hearing shall be held prior to the expiration of the most-recently issued order for temporary placement. A trial by a jury shall 25

14	advantages and disadvantages of accepting treatment and the alternatives to 15	accepting treatment.
16	2. The individual is substantially incapable of applying an understanding of 17	the advantages and disadvantages of accepting treatment and the alternatives to 20	(c) "Protest" has the meaning given in s. 55.14 (1) (c).

21	(d) "Psychotropic medication" has the meaning given in s. 55.14 (1) (d).
22	(2) Involuntary administration of psychotropic medication may be provided as
23	an emergency protective service to an individual who has or, based on observation
24	and currently available information, appears to have dementia, if all of the following
25	are true:

ASSEMBLY BILL 575

1 2 (a) A physician has prescribed the psychotropic medication for the individual.

(b) The individual is not competent to refuse psychotropic medication.

3 (c) The individual's condition or symptoms for which psychotropic medication 4 has been prescribed are likely to be improved or alleviated by administration of 5 psychotropic medication and the individual is likely to respond positively to 6 psychotropic medication.

7 (d) Unless psychotropic medication is administered involuntarily, the 8 individual will incur a substantial probability of physical harm, impairment, injury, 9 or debilitation or will present a substantial probability of physical harm to others.

(e) For an individual who is not currently placed in a dementia crisis unit, there is a substantial likelihood that unless psychotropic medication is administered involuntarily, the individual will be subject to involuntary placement in a dementia crisis unit under s. 55.59.

(f) If the individual resides in a nursing home, as defined in s. 50.01 (3), a community-based residential facility, as defined in s. 50.01 (1g), an adult family

22 2. The facility has made reasonable efforts to address or accommodate the 23 behavior or condition for which involuntary administration of psychotropic 24 medication is requested and these efforts are documented in the individual's plan of 25 care.

(4) If the individual is not under guardianship, a petition for guardianship shall accompany the petition for involuntary administration of psychotropic medication under sub. (3).

(5) Upon finding probable cause under sub. (3) and finding that the medication will not unreasonably impair the ability of the individual to prepare for and participate in subsequent legal proceedings, the court may order involuntary administration of psychotropic medication to continue to be provided as an emergency protective service to the individual for up to 30 days after the date of the order, pending the hearing under s. 55.14. If the individual is not under

ASSEMBLY BILL 575
