CULLEN, LASSA, MOULTON and OLSEN. Referred to Committee on Jobs, Economy and Mining.

1     AN ACT to create 238.3045 of the statutes; relating to: authorizing the transfer
2             of certain tax credits earned in connection with economic development in this
3             state.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (corporation) may certify a person to claim tax credits against the person's income or franchise tax liability or against the person's liability for fees imposed on insurers, if the corporation determines that the person is conducting or will conduct certain eligible business activities that will result in economic development in Wisconsin (economic development tax credits). A person may qualify for additional economic development tax credits if the eligible activity conducted by the person will benefit a particular group or economically distressed area that the state has targeted for economic development.

This bill creates a program under which the corporation may approve the transfer of economic development tax credits to another Wisconsin taxpayer other than the person to whom the corporation initially awards the tax credits. Under the bill, the corporation may approve the transfer of economic development tax credits if the person to whom the tax credits are initially awarded meets at least one of the following conditions in addition to being authorized by the corporation to claim the tax credits:

1. The person is headquartered in, and employs at least 51 percent of its employees in, Wisconsin.

ASSEMBLY BILL 580

2. The person intends to relocate its headquarters to, and employ at least 51 percent of its employees in, Wisconsin.

3. The person intends to expand its operations in Wisconsin, and that expansion will increase the number of full-time employees employed by the person in Wisconsin by a number that equals at least 10 percent of the person's full-time employees.

4. The person intends to expand its operations in Wisconsin, and the person will make a significant capital investment in property in Wisconsin as a result of that expansion.

If the corporation approves a person to transfer economic development tax credits, that person must transfer those tax credits to another person previously identified to the corporation if the tax credits are transferred in exchange for some valuable consideration, other than money, in connection with the eligible business activity for which the tax credits were awarded. The person to whom the tax credits are transferred may carry forward any unused amount of those tax credits for up to 15 years until fully claimed.

Under the bill, if the corporation revokes a person's certification for economic development tax credits and that person has already transferred the tax credits, that person is liable for the full amount of the tax credits, and the person to whom the credits were transferred may not claim any unused credits.

Under the bill, the corporation may authorize the transfer of up to $15,000,000 in economic development tax credits over three years. However, if after reaching that three-year limit, the corporation determines that an extension of the program will support significant economic development in Wisconsin, the corporation may continue the program for up to an additional three years and authorize the transfer of up to an additional $15,000,000 in economic development tax credits. However, any such extension of the program is subject to passive review by the Joint Committee on Finance.
