5 tax credit.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority administers a low-income housing tax credit program. Under that program, a person may claim as a credit against the person's income or franchise tax liability, or against the person's liability for fees imposed on an insurer, the amount allocated by WHEDA in an "allocation certificate" for a qualified lowincome housing project.

The bill also requires that WHEDA, if possible, ensure that at least 35 percent of the tax credits it allocates each year under the program are for qualified lowincome housing projects in rural areas in Wisconsin and removes the requirement that a qualified low-income housing project be financed with tax-exempt bonds.

Finally, the bill makes a technical change to the credit for insurers so that an insurer who is a shareholder of a tax-option corporation, a partner of a partnership, or a member of a limited liability company may claim the credit.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
