3 county–tribal law enforcement programs.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL PREFATORY NOTE: This draft was prepared for the special committee on state–tribal relations. It makes a number of changes to the cooperative county–tribal law enforcement program. Under this program, administered by the department of justice (DOJ), a county and a tribe located in that county may develop a joint program plan for the enhancement of law enforcement on the tribe’s reservation and submit the plan to DOJ for funding.

The draft requires that DOJ disburse the aid directly to the tribe unless the joint program plan specifies otherwise.

The draft requires that the county and tribe meet at least twice over the course of a year to evaluate the program and adjust the program as necessary to achieve its purpose.

The draft requires that the sheriff of a county that participates in a program maintain or increase the level of law enforcement services provided to the tribe’s reservation.

Under current law, prior to receiving aid for a second or subsequent year, the county and tribe must submit a report to DOJ regarding the performance of law enforcement activities on the reservation during the prior year. The draft requires that the annual report specify how the recipients complied with the requirements regarding meetings between the county and tribe and maintenance of effort by the sheriff and that DOJ consider this information in determining whether to approve a program plan.
