

Proposal No. 1, Submitted by Public Member Robert Gregg

The Special Committee on Affirmative Action recommends to the Joint Legislative Council that current law relating to affirmative action in government contracting and university admissions be maintained. The committee recognizes that affirmative action, as it is currently practiced by Wisconsin state government in contracting and university admissions, is an appropriate method for helping to address economic and educational disparities, and for serving the compelling interest of identifying and eliminating barriers to equal opportunity for all people.