

[December 13, 2006]

Having spent a fair amount time in many of the United States National Forests, State forests, and county forests, I have seen the invasion of the ATV "recreational use" throughout the country. I believe those who participate in the activity have more than enough acreage throughout the U.S. and WISCONSIN for their riding pleasure.

As time goes on I might add it becomes more of a challenge to find outdoor areas with "no motorized use" and along with it, areas to hear "nothing"...

I TOTALLY OPPOSE "motorized use" of any state trails currently designated for NON motorized use...

Sincerely,
