Statutory Requirements for School Districts

The responsibility for public education is one that is reserved to the states. Wisconsin's Constitution specifically recognizes this responsibility by requiring the Legislature to provide for the establishment of district schools and further requires that such schools be free and without charge for tuition to all children ages 4 through 20 (Article X, Section 3). Furthermore, the Legislature has declared that education is a state function (s. 121.01 of the statutes).

Over the years, the state has relied on school districts to implement a statewide system of elementary and secondary education. Local school boards and districts have been given some discretion in fiscal and administrative matters. Nevertheless, school boards and districts are agents of the state for the purpose of administering the educational system.

The purpose of this paper is to list the requirements prescribed by state law for school districts and school boards, based on the Wisconsin Statutes of 2019-20. This document identifies only statutory provisions. Administrative rules that have been promulgated by the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) and other state agencies which affect the operation and programs of school districts are not included in the paper since these rules are generally developed to assist in the interpretation and enforcement of statutory provisions.

The paper is organized into the following twelve general categories which begin at the indicated page numbers:

I	School District Organization and Governance.....	3
II	School Personnel.....	7
III	Curriculum and Instruction	10
IV	Special Education	16
V	Other Special Needs	20
VI	Safety and Health	23
VII	Pupil Policies and Services	26
VIII	Budget and Finance	30
IX	School Facilities and Property	33
X	Borrowing	35
XI	Transportation	36
XII	State Grant Programs.....	38

Within each category, the requirements are listed in ascending order based on the section number of the statute. Four columns of information are provided for each requirement. The first column gives a title for the requirement. The second column identifies the specific statutory section(s) related to the item. The third column provides a brief description of the requirement. In many cases, the provisions have been described in very general terms. The narrative section of the table is not intended to serve as a comprehensive summary of every statutory provision. Therefore, the description should not substitute for the actual reading and review of the statutory provision.

The fourth column indicates whether the provision applies to all school districts, to all districts except the Milwaukee Public Schools (MPS), or to just MPS. In some cases, the provision may have a special applicability which is indicated in the description section and identified by a single asterisk (*). There are several provisions which are not specifically referenced under the statutes affecting MPS (Chapter 119; First Class City School System); however, the provisions have, in practice, been applied to MPS. Therefore, these provisions are identified with a double asterisk ().

In addition, the fourth column identifies those provisions that comprise what are commonly referred to as the state's 20 standards for school districts. Since 1988, school district compliance with these standards has been audited or reviewed upon complaint by DPI. DPI must conduct an inquiry upon receipt of a complaint, and may on its own initiative conduct an audit. A determination of noncompliance with the standards may result in the withholding of up to 25% of the district's state aid. However, districts have the opportunity, after a requested public hearing, to develop a plan for compliance with DPI's assistance.

Charter schools are exempt from the provisions of Chapters 115 through 121 of the statutes, with certain statutorily specified exceptions, including the state's pupil assessment program, the school district's annual school performance report, and the licensure of all instructional staff.

In 1995 Act 27, the Legislature authorized school districts to request a waiver from any school board or school district requirement in Chapters 115 through 121, or any DPI administrative rule, except for statutes or rules relating to: (a) health or safety of pupils; (b) pupil discrimination; (c) pupil assessment programs; (d) pupil records; (e) collection of data for DPI; (f) uniform fund accounting and audits; (g) teacher and other school personnel certification or licensure; (h) commencement of the school term, except for extraordinary reasons; and (i) the requirements established for achievement guarantee contracts, for schools participating in the Student Achievement Guarantee in Education (SAGE) or Achievement Gap Reduction (AGR) programs. School districts must hold public hearings before requesting such waivers and specify to DPI the reason for the waiver request. Waivers are effective for four years, after which DPI may renew the waivers if the school district has evaluated the educational and financial effects of the waiver over the past four years. In its required report on waivers and in supplemental data, DPI indicates that from 1995-96 through 2019-20, DPI received 858 waiver requests from school districts. Of these requests, three were withdrawn, 134 were denied, and 721 were approved. Additionally, as of July, 2020, 399 school districts had requested waivers from the instructional hours requirement for the 2019-20 school year as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, and all 399 were approved.

A recurring issue has been the cost associated with state requirements on local school districts. There are a number of difficulties in estimating such costs. First, one could argue that the total cost of the K-12 system ($11.90 billion in 2018-19) is associated with the constitutional provision requiring the establishment of district schools that are to be free to all children. Second, even if one seeks to know the cost of a more narrowly defined requirement, information on school costs may not be aggregated in such a way as to permit such an estimation.

School districts submit annual financial reports to DPI. These reports provide data on various expenditure items such as salaries, employee benefits, capital and noncapital purchases, debt service, and purchased services. These items are also separated into general functional areas such as special education, administration, pupil transportation, and facilities acquisition. The reports, however, do not provide cost information on the subcategories of the general functional areas, making it difficult to identify the cost of specific statutory requirements in these areas. A further obstacle to overcome, even if data on the costs of particular programs are available, is the identification of which portion of a program's costs are due to a state requirement and which portion would be incurred in the absence of that requirement.

The abbreviations used in the tables follow:

AODA	Alcohol and other drug abuse
CESA	Cooperative educational service agency
DOA	Department of Administration
DCF	Department of Children and Families
DHS	Department of Health Services
DOT	Department of Transportation
DPI	Department of Public Instruction
IEP	Individualized education program

PART III: CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION
Title	Statute	Description	Note
Human Growth and Development	118.019 146.89(3r)(e)	For school districts providing instruction in human growth and development, requires district to determine whether and for what subjects pupils will be separated by gender. Requires use of instructional methods and materials that do not discriminate against a pupil based upon the pupil's race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, or ethnic or cultural background or against sexually active pupils or children with disabilities. If a school board provides instruction in any of certain specified topics, establishes required subjects that must be covered. No pupil may be required to take instruction in human growth and development, if the pupil's parent or guardian files a written request that the pupil be exempted. Requires that each school board providing instruction in human growth and development must annually provide the parents and guardians of each pupil enrolled in the district with specified information. If a district offers human growth and development instruction, requires the board to appoint an ad hoc committee to advise on the design and implementation of the curriculum. The board may not allow a volunteer health care provider, including nurses, physicians, nurse practitioners, or others, providing health services in the school, to provide instruction in human growth and development.	All*
Special Observance Days	118.02	Requires that specified special observance days be appropriately observed.	All
