CONSTRUCTION OF STATUTES

990.001 Construction of laws; rules for. In construing Wisconsin laws the following rules shall be observed unless construction in accordance with a rule would produce a result inconsistent with the manifest intent of the legislature:

1. SINGULAR AND PLURAL. The singular includes the plural, and the plural includes the singular.

2. GENDER. Words importing one gender extend and may be applied to any gender. Any person who by statute, rule or ordinance is designated a chairman, alderman or other similar title may use another equivalent title such as, in the case of a chairman, “chair”, “chairperson”, “chairwoman” or other such appropriate title.

3. TENSES. The present tense of a verb includes the future when applicable. The future perfect tense includes past and future tenses.

4. TIME, HOW COMPUTED. (a) The time within which an act is to be done or proceeding had or taken shall be computed by excluding the first day and including the last; and when any such time is expressed in hours the whole of Sunday and of any legal holiday, from midnight to midnight, shall be excluded.

(b) When a decimal-numbered statute of this state contains a reference to another decimal-numbered statute of this state, the reference is to the current text of the statute referenced, and excludes any change that has been inserted into and any interpretation or construction that has been adopted with respect to the referenced statute since the reference was first incorporated into the statute, whether or not the referenced statute is a general, specific, substantive or procedural statute. When a decimal-numbered statute refers to another decimal-numbered statute in a specific prior edition of the Wisconsin statutes, the reference does not include subsequent changes to the statute referenced.

5. STATUTE TITLES AND HISTORY NOTES. The titles to subchapters, sections, subsections, paragraphs and subdivisions of the statutes and history notes are not part of the statutes.

6. CONSTRUCTION OF REVISED STATUTES. A revised statute is to be understood in the same sense as the original unless the change in language indicates a different meaning so clearly as to preclude judicial construction. If the revision bill contains a note which says that the meaning of the statute to which the note relates is not changed by the revision, the note is indicative of the legislative intent.

7. JOINT AUTHORITY, HOW EXERCISED. All words purporting to give a joint authority to 3 or more public officers or other persons shall be construed as giving such authority to a majority of such officers or other persons.

8. QUORUM. A quorum of a public body is a majority of the number of members fixed by law.

9. ACTS BY AGENTS. If a statute requires an act to be done which may legally be done by an agent, such requirement includes all such acts when done by an authorized agent.

10. LIABILITY OF SURETIES. If an officer is liable on his or her official bond for any act, the sureties on the officer’s bond are also liable.

11. SEVERABILITY. The provisions of the statutes are severable. The provisions of any session law are severable. If any provision of the statutes or of a session law is invalid, or if the application of either to any person or circumstance is invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application.

12. TIME. When time is referred to, the standard of time as provided by s. 175.09 or 175.095, whichever is applicable, is meant.

13. REGISTERED AND CERTIFIED MAIL. Except in s. 345.09, whenever the statutes authorize or require the use of registered mail, and do not require a return receipt of the addressee only, certified mail may be used if a sender’s receipt is obtained from the postal authorities and return receipt is requested. If a return receipt signed by addressee only is required, registered mail must be used.

14. STATUTORY REFERENCES TO NUMERICAL SERIES. If a statute refers to a numerical series such as 1 to 10, the reference includes both the first and last number mentioned.

15. STATUTORY REFERENCE TO A CLASS OF CITY. If a statute refers to a class of city specified under s. 62.05 (1), such reference

(17) LIVE BIRTH OR CIRCUMSTANCE OF BEING BORN ALIVE.

- (a) An individual who undergoes a live birth is born alive.
  - If a statute or rule refers to a live birth or to the circumstance in which an individual is born alive, the statute or rule shall be construed so that whoever undergoes a live birth as the result of an abortion, as defined in s. 253.10 (2) (a), has the same legal status and legal rights as a human being at any point after the human being undergoes a live birth as the result of natural or induced labor or a cesarean section.
  - Paragraphs (a) and (b) may not be construed to affirm, deny, expand, or contract a legal status or legal right that is applicable to a human being at any point before the human being undergoes a live birth.

- Chapter 89, laws of 1979, which created sub. (5) (b), contains a prefatory note by the legislative council that includes a discussion on cross-references.

Unless a statute is so vague and uncertain that it is impossible to execute it or to ascertain the legislative intent with reasonable certainty, it is valid.

- Forest Home Dodge, Inc. v. Karns, 49 Wis. 2d 736, 183 N.W.2d 161 (1971).

- The general rule is that a specific penalty prescribed by a special statute for a particular offense takes precedence over a general provision in a penal code. State ex rel. Gutbrod v. Wolke, 49 Wis. 2d 736, 183 N.W.2d 161 (1971).

- If a statute imposes a punishment for the commission of an act, that is sufficient to make the act a crime. State ex rel. Gutbrod v. Wolke, 49 Wis. 2d 736, 183 N.W.2d 161 (1971).

- Statutory construction requires that a law be construed so that no word or clause is surplusage. Johnson v. Slate, 76 Wis. 2d 672, 251 N.W.2d 834 (1977).

- When a limitation period would otherwise expire on a legal holiday, sub. (4) (b) permits commencement of the action on the next secular day. Cassimer v. Sattler, 88 Wis. 2d 654, 277 N.W.2d 776 (1979).

- When a statute is written in objective terms not susceptible to more than one meaning, the subjective intent of lawmakers is not controlling. State v. Derenne, 102 Wis. 2d 38, 306 N.W.2d 12 (1981).

- A sender’s receipt need not be postmarked. Trojan v. Board of Regents, 104 Wis. 2d 308, 311 N.W.2d 586 (1981).

- Registered mail serves the purpose of certified mail to an even greater degree. Patterson v. Board of Regents, 103 Wis. 2d 538, 309 N.W.2d 3 (Ct. App. 1983).

- A contemporaneous report or other document from a non-legislative agency or private party forms a vital link in the chain of legislative history of a statute, it may be used to determine legislative intent. Ball v. District No. 4, Area Board, 117 Wis. 2d 529, 345 N.W.2d 389 (1984).

- A court may consider titles of statutes to resolve doubt as to statutory meaning. In Interest of C.D.M., 125 Wis. 2d 170, 370 N.W.2d 287 (Ct. App. 1985).

- A reference to a general federal law as amended necessarily references current federal law when the act named in the state statute had been repealed and the law rewritten in another act. When a reference is stated as part of a contingency, it does not constitute unlawful delegation of legislative authority to the U.S. Congress. Dane County Hospital & Home v. LIRC, 125 Wis. 2d 308, 371 N.W.2d 815 (Ct. App. 1985).

2017–18 Wisconsin Statutes updated through 2019 Wis. Act 186 and through all Supreme Court and Controlled Substances Board Orders filed before and in effect on September 1, 2020. Published and certified under s. 35.18. Changes effective after September 1, 2020, are designated by NOTES. (Published 9–1–20)
CONSTRUCTION OF STATUTES

990.01 Construction of laws; words and phrases. In the construction of Wisconsin laws the words and phrases which follow shall be construed as indicated unless such construction would produce a result inconsistent with the manifest intent of the legislature:

(1) General rule. All words and phrases shall be construed according to common and approved usage; but technical words and phrases and others that have a peculiar meaning in the law shall be construed according to such meaning.

(2) Acquire. “Acquire,” when used in connection with a grant of power to any person, includes the acquisition by purchase, grant, gift, or bequest. It includes the power to convey in all cases specified in s. 32.015, the words “shall” or “and” are often used incorrectly, and that when a strict reading would render the sense dubious one may be read in place of the statute. State v. Freer, 2010 WI App 99, 323 Wis. 2d 29, 779 N.W.2d 12, 18–22.

The Legislative Reference Bureau’s analysis of a bill is printed with and displayed on the bill when it is introduced in the legislature; as such, it is presumed to be the legislative intent. State v. Freer, 2010 WI App 99, 323 Wis. 2d 29, 779 N.W.2d 12, 18–22.

Whenever the application of a common law doctrine or rule would undermine the manifest purposes of a statutory provision, the court may construe the provision so as to nullify the purpose or manifest purpose and the common law defense “leaves no doubt of the legislature’s intent. In a case of such apparent incompatibility, the legislature necessarily intended that the common law defense would not be applied to bar claims under the statute. MBS—Certified Public Accountants, LLC v. Wisconsin Bell Inc., 2012 WI 15, 338 Wis. 2d 647, 809 N.W.2d 857, 18–1830.

There is no absolute rule against reading in two different terms within a statute to have the same meaning. Cramer v. Eau Claire City, 2013 WI App 67, 348 Wis. 2d 154, 833 N.W.2d 172, 12–1796.

The Saturday extension rule in sub. (4) (c) applies to the listed acts, including service on a government entity, regardless whether the act is accomplished in person, by mail, or by some other means. The statutory language does condition the Saturday extension rule on whether service can be accomplished on a Saturday. Madison Metropolitan School District v. Evers, 2014 WI App 109, 357 Wis. 2d 550, 855 N.W.2d 452, 15–0943.

Under Kalal, statutory interpretation begins with the language of the statute. If the meaning of the statute is plain, the court ordinarily stops the inquiry. However, if the state supreme court has interpreted a statute or provision of law, the controlling authority must be followed or distinguished. Hart v. Artisan & Truckers Casualty Corp., 2017 WI App 45, 377 Wis. 2d 177, 900 N.W.2d 610, 16–1196.

When a specific exception is not made, it is to be treated as a general term. A required tax payment may be made on the next secular day when July 31 is on Saturday and office hours are unofficial. 60 Atty. Gen. 411.

Legislative History: The Philosophies of Justices Scalia and Breyer and the Use of Dictionary. 239 Wis. 2d 26, 619 N.W.2d 123, 00–0184.

Statutes and rules that assist in implementing a chapter’s goals must be read as a whole, except where a statute or rule specifically indicates that it is to be read in pari materia, which requires a court to read, apply, and construe together statutes relating to the same subject matter. Perea v. Menomonie Mutual Insurance Co., 2000 WI App 215, 239 Wis. 2d 26, 619 N.W.2d 123, 00–0184.

The principal of expressio unius est exclusio alterius provides that the express mention of a particular state of facts shall exclude a similar state of facts not mentioned. Perry v. Menomonie Mutual Insurance Co., 2000 WI App 215, 239 Wis. 2d 619 N.W.2d 123, 00–0184.

When statutes are codified, generally they should ordinarily be understood in the same general sense. State ex rel. Speener v. Gudmanson, 1999–3390, 98–1223.

Generally, legislative enactments are entitled to a presumption of constitutionality. The purpose of the presumption of constitutionality does not appear to have any relation to the legislature’s statement of intent or to the actual language of the provision. State v. Cole, 2003 WI 112, 264 Wis. 2d 520, 665 N.W.2d 328, 01–0330.

Context, scope, and purpose are perfectly relevant to a plain-meaning interpretation of an unambiguous statute as long as the scope, context, and purpose are ascertainable from the text and structure of the statute itself, rather than extrinsic sources, such as legislative history. Many words have multiple dictionary definitions; the applicable definition depends upon the context in which the word is used. Kalal v. Dane County, 2004 WI 58, 271 Wis. 2d 633, 681 N.W.2d 110, 02–2490.

Resort to a dictionary may be made to ascertain the common and ordinary meaning of a statute, plain on its face, is unambiguous. Seider v. O’Connell, 2000 WI App 97, 245 Wis. 2d 654, 629 N.W.2d 738 (1999), 97–3036.

It is presumed that the legislature knows the case law in existence at the time it enacts a statute, plain on its face, is unambiguous. Seider v. O’Connell, 2000 WI App 97, 245 Wis. 2d 654, 629 N.W.2d 738 (1999), 97–3036.

The purpose of legislative interpretation is to discern the intent of the legislature, first considering the language of the statute. If the statute clearly and unambiguously sets forth the legislative intent, the court does not look beyond the statute to find the legislative intent. Perra v. Menomonee Mutual Insurance Co., 2003 WI App 215, 239 Wis. 2d 619 N.W.2d 123, 00–0184.

No one reading a statute should be deemed to have knowledge of the common and ordinary meaning of an undefined term. Resort to a dictionary does not render a term ambiguous. State v. Curiel, 2000 WI 237, 259 Wis. 2d 654, 659 N.W.2d 197, 97–3711.

It is impermissible to apply rules of statutory construction to ascertain legislative intent. DaimlerChrysler v. LIRC, 2007–17–18 Wis. Stats. Published and certified under s. 35.18. September 1, 2020.

Similarly, when the language of the statute is unambiguous, the rule is not absolute. If the legislature has created redundancies, it is not up to the court to reorganize the statutory language so as to eliminate the redundancies. DaimlerChrysler v. LIRC, 2007–17–18 Wis. Stats. Published and certified under s. 35.18. September 1, 2020.
