CHAPTER 233.

AN ACT relating to the capital of fire and inland navigation insurance companies [of] other states and of foreign governments, desiring to transact business in this state.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows :

Requirements of insurance companies.

SECTION 1. No fire or inland navigation insurance company organized or incorporated under the laws of any other state of the United States or of any foreign government, shall hereafter be admitted to transact business in this state, unless possessed of a paid up capital of two hundred thousand dollars; provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any company that was duly licensed to transact business in the state during the year 1876, and that has or shall have complied with the requirements of law relative to obtaining a license for the present year; and provided, that mutual companies of other states may be admitted to transact business in this state, in case the states where such mutual companies are located, admit the mutual companies of this state, by complying in all respects with the conditions and obligations imposed by the laws of such states on the mutual companies of this state.

Provisions not to apply to companies already admitted, nor to mutual companies in certain cases.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved March 7, 1877.
