CHAPTER 55.

AN ACT to restore persons adjudged insane to their civil rights.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Upon the receipt by any county judge in this state of a petition in writing verified by the oath of any respectable resident of the Civil rights of insane persons, how restored, petition, what to state—duties of county judge.

county wherein such county judge resides, setting forth that the person in whose behalf the petition is filed has theretofore been adjudged insane, and further alleging that said person is now believed by petitioner to be sane, and requesting a judicial examination as to that fact, and further stating whether or not such person has a general guardian, and if he has, giving the name and residence of such guardian, it shall be the duty of such judge receiving such petition, at once by order to appoint two disinterested physicians of good repute and residents of the county, to examine and report to the said judge, in their opinion whether the person so examined is sane or insane.

Notice of application, how given.

SECTION 2. If the said person to be examined has a general guardian, the judge shall at the time of appointing the physicians to examine, cause a notice of the application and of the time and place of such examination to be served upon such general guardian, and such general guardian or any relative or friend of such person to be examined may appear at such examination.

Report of physician's judgment to be entered by judge, when jury trial may be had. Form of procedure, etc.

SECTION 3. Upon the receipt of the report to such examining physicians, if they report the person examined sane and the judge is satisfied that he is sane, and no demand for a jury trial is made to such judge, he shall forthwith pronounce and enter his judgment that the person examined is sane. But if the judge, the person examined, the guardian or any relative or friend of the person examined shall be dissatisfied with the report of the physicians, and shall demand a trial by jury, the judge shall forthwith enter an order for a jury trial. The forms of procedure of the jury trial shall be the same as in trials by jury in justice's courts, and shall be in the presence of the person examined by the physicians, counsel, if any appear, relatives, the guardian, if any, the immediate friends of the person examined and the witnesses. All others may be excluded by the court. After hearing the evidence and arguments of counsel, if any appear, the jury shall return their verdict of sane or insane, as they shall agree. If they disagree, they may be discharged and another jury empanelled.

When judge to commit persons to asylum.

SECTION 4. Upon the verdict of the jury, the court shall enter a judgment of sanity or insanity, as they shall find the fact. If the verdict found is that the person examined is insane, the court shall make a further order of commitment to some hospital or asylum, or not, as in the judgment of the court the facts warrant.

SECTION 5. All persons rendering any services in these proceedings shall receive the same compensation as is now allowed by law for like services to be paid in like manner. Fees to be paid.

SECTION 6. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved March 6, 1889.
