Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law prohibits a person from placing objects, drugs or other substances in candy or other liquid or solid edibles with the intent to cause bodily harm to another person. A person who violates this prohibition may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than 2 years or both.

This bill prohibits a person from placing blood, saliva, urine, feces or other bodily substances in candy or other liquid or solid edibles. The bill does not require that a person who violates this prohibition have the intent to cause bodily harm to another person. A person who violates the prohibition created in the bill may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than 2 years or both. The bill also provides that a person may be convicted and punished for violating either the prohibition in current law or the prohibition created in the bill, but not both.
