Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes the following changes to the membership of the Small Business Regulatory Review Board (board), the considerations to be made for small businesses by agencies engaging in administrative rule making, the responsibilities of small business regulatory coordinators in each agency, and the structure and functions of the small business ombudsman clearinghouse in the Department of Commerce (Commerce):

Small Business Regulatory Review Board

Currently, the membership of the board in Commerce consists of six representatives of small businesses, the chairpersons of the senate and assembly committees concerned with small businesses, and one representative each from the departments of Administration; Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection; Children and Families; Commerce; Health Services; Natural Resources; Regulation and Licensing; Revenue; and Workforce Development. Current law defines “small business” as a business entity, including its affiliates, which is independently owned and operated and not dominant in its field, and which employs 25 or fewer full-time employees or which has gross annual sales of less than $5,000,000.

The board serves small businesses by reviewing administrative rules proposed by and emergency rules promulgated by agencies to determine the fiscal effect of the rules on small businesses. The board also reviews whether an agency has prepared an analysis for each proposed rule and emergency rule, sufficiently considered the effect of a proposed rule on small businesses, and complied with certain other procedural and substantive requirements as it prepared the proposed rule or emergency rule.

This bill eliminates from the board the representatives of all departments and increases the number of representatives of small businesses on the board to seven.

Rule making: considerations for small businesses

Under current law, each state agency must submit proposed administrative rules to the Legislative Council for review, prepare an analysis of the proposed rule, and, with certain exceptions, provide notice of and a public hearing regarding the proposed rule. If an agency determines that a proposed administrative rule may have a significant economic impact on small businesses, the agency must forward a copy of the proposed rule to the board.

Under current law, for each proposed rule that will have an effect on small businesses, an agency must prepare a final regulatory flexibility analysis that includes certain information, including a summary of issues raised by small businesses and any changes made to the proposed rule as a result of information and provided by small businesses. A final regulatory flexibility analysis is not required if the agency determines that the rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses.

Under certain circumstances, an agency may promulgate an emergency rule without complying with the notice and public hearing requirements. An agency must file a promulgated emergency rule with the Legislative Reference Bureau (LRB). If the emergency rule may have a significant economic impact on small businesses, the agency must submit a copy of the rule to the board on the same day it files the rule with the LRB.

With certain exceptions, a rule promulgated by an agency takes effect on the first day of the month commencing after the day on which the rule is promulgated. Generally, an emergency rule takes effect upon publication. A rule that has a significant economic impact on small businesses applies to small businesses no earlier than the first day of the third month beginning after the date of publication.

This bill requires an agency to forward a copy of a proposed administrative rule or an emergency rule to the board if the rule may have an economic impact on small businesses, and not just a significant economic impact. The bill directs the board to determine whether a proposed rule or emergency rule will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses. If the board determines that a proposed rule or emergency rule will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses, the board may submit suggested changes in the proposed rule to minimize the economic impact of the proposed rule or emergency rule, or may recommend that the proposed rule, but not the emergency rule, be withdrawn. A final regulatory flexibility analysis is not required under the bill if the board, and not the agency, determines that the rule will not have a significant economic impact on small businesses.

Small business regulatory coordinators and the Office of the Small Business Advocate

Under current law, each agency must designate a small business regulatory coordinator to act as a point of contact within the agency for regulatory issues involving small businesses. Current law defines “agency” to mean a board, commission, committee, department, or officer in the state government, except the governor, a district attorney, or a military or judicial officer. Also under current law, Commerce must establish and operate a small business ombudsman clearinghouse to facilitate communication between state agencies and small businesses.

This bill changes the name of the ombudsman clearinghouse to the Office of the Small Business Advocate. The bill requires each agency to designate one employee to serve as the agency’s small business regulatory coordinator and clarifies that the small business regulatory coordinator of each agency must work with the Office of the Small Business Advocate to facilitate communication between small businesses and state agencies.

The bill requires Commerce to model the Office of the Small Business Advocate on the best practices of state and federal small business advocate organizations, to take a proactive role in maintaining and helping small businesses to grow, and to have the goal of creating jobs and a healthy small business sector. The bill also requires Commerce to designate at least one full-time employee to serve as staff to the Office of the Small Business Advocate. The staff of the Office of the Small Business Advocate must, in turn, serve as staff to the board and work together with the small business regulatory coordinator of each agency.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
