Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a group health insurance policy (called a “disability insurance policy” in the statutes) that provides coverage of any inpatient hospital services must cover those services for the treatment of nervous and mental disorders (mental health) and alcoholism and other drug abuse problems (substance abuse problems) in the minimum amount of the lesser of: 1) the expenses of 30 days of inpatient services; or 2) $7,000 minus the applicable cost sharing under the policy or, if there is no cost sharing under the policy, $6,300 in equivalent benefits measured in services rendered. If a group health insurance policy provides coverage of any outpatient hospital services, it must cover those services for the treatment of mental health and substance abuse problems in the minimum amount of $2,000 minus the applicable cost sharing under the policy or, if there is no cost sharing under the policy, $1,800 in equivalent benefits measured in services rendered. If a group health insurance policy provides coverage of any inpatient or outpatient hospital services, it must cover the cost of transitional treatment arrangements for the treatment of mental health and substance abuse problems in the minimum amount of $3,000 minus the applicable cost sharing under the policy or, if there is no cost sharing under the policy, $2,700 in equivalent benefits measured in services rendered. Transitional treatment arrangements include services, specified by rule by the commissioner of insurance, that are provided in a less restrictive manner than inpatient services but in a more intensive manner than outpatient services. If a group health insurance policy provides coverage for both inpatient and outpatient hospital services, the total coverage for all types of treatment for mental health and substance abuse problems is not required to exceed $7,000, or the equivalent benefits measured in services rendered, in a policy year.

This bill removes the specified minimum amounts of coverage that a group health insurance policy must provide for the treatment of mental health and substance abuse problems but retains the requirements with respect to providing the coverage. Except for group plans providing limited benefits, the bill specifically applies the requirements to all types of group health benefit plans, including defined network plans, insurance plans offered by the state, and governmental self-insured health plans of the state and municipalities. In addition, the bill requires group and individual health benefit plans and governmental self-insured health plans that provide coverage for the treatment of mental health and substance abuse problems and that would cover at least one annual physical examination to cover at least one annual screening for a covered individual to determine the need for treatment of mental health and substance abuse problems and for a female covered under the plan at least one screening during a pregnancy for prepartum depression and at least one screening within six months after a live birth, stillbirth, or miscarriage for postpartum depression to determine the need for treatment.

The bill requires that deductibles, copayments, out-of-pocket limits, limitations regarding referrals to nonphysicians, and other treatment limitations under a group health benefit plan or a governmental self-insured health plan, or under an individual health benefit plan that provides coverage of treatment for mental health or substance abuse problems, may not be more restrictive with respect to that coverage than the most common or frequent type of treatment limitations that apply to substantially all other coverage under the plan. The bill also requires that expenses incurred for the treatment of mental health and substance abuse problems be included in any overall deductible amount, annual or lifetime limit, or out-of-pocket limit under the plan. In addition, the bill requires a group health benefit plan or a governmental self-insured health plan, or an individual health benefit plan that provides coverage of treatment for mental health or substance abuse problems, to make available to an insured or plan participant upon request: 1) the plan's criteria for determining medical necessity for coverage of that treatment; and 2) the reason for any denial of coverage for services for that treatment. Current law requires an insurer that restricts or terminates an insured's coverage that results in the insured's liability for the cost of the treatment to provide on the explanation of benefits form an explanation of the clinical rationale for the restriction or termination of coverage.
