2 (1) (j), 214.825 and 215.33 (4); and to repeal and recreate 214.76 and 215.25
3 of the statutes; relating to: audits and reports of state savings banks and state
4 savings and loan associations.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a savings bank or savings and loan association (S&L association) may be organized under the laws of this state and, when so organized, is subject to supervision and control of the Division of Banking (division) in the Department of Financial Institutions.

Current law requires each savings bank to have its books, records, and accounts annually audited by an independent certified public accountant (CPA) not connected with the savings bank. The CPA must conduct the audit to produce a certified financial statement and the division may require additional information to be included in an audit report. The CPA must deliver an audit report to an independent audit committee of the savings bank's board of directors, which committee must in turn present the conclusions of the audit report at the next meeting of the board of directors and, among other things, provide the audit report to all members of the board of directors. Within 60 days after receiving the audit report, the savings bank must file with the division a copy of the audit report and other information, including financial statements, but this filing date may be extended for an additional 60 days. The audit report filed with the division must be certified by the CPA conducting the audit. If a savings bank fails to cause an audit to be made, the division must order an audit to be made by an independent CPA at the savings bank's expense. A savings bank must also file annually with the division a report of its activities containing specified information, including a copy of a statement of its condition and operations as of the end of the savings bank's most recent fiscal year.

Current law also requires each S&L association to be annually audited in a manner satisfactory to, and in accordance with the policies established by, the division. The S&L association's board of directors must designate the auditors, which must be independent CPAs in this state. An S&L association must promptly file with the division a copy of the audit report. However, in lieu of these requirements, the S&L association's board of directors may request the division to conduct an audit of the books and accounts to check the assets of the association and to determine losses, although the division may refuse the request. The division may also, at any time, make or cause to be made an audit of any S&L association, with the cost to be paid by the association.

This bill repeals all of the foregoing audit and report requirements and replaces them with new requirements applicable to both savings banks and S&L associations. Under the bill, the board of directors of a savings bank or S&L association must do one of the following: 1) hire a CPA or other qualified person to conduct a comprehensive annual audit of the records, accounts, and affairs of the savings bank or S&L association; or 2) appoint an auditing committee of one or more capable persons to annually audit the records, accounts, and cash of the savings bank or S&L association and to verify customer accounts, with verification procedures conducted according to the savings bank's or association's auditing program or the rules of the division. Audit reports must be submitted to the board of directors of the savings bank or S&L association and retained as records of the savings bank or association.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
